FIRE BATS UP RANGE GRASS.

MONTANA STOCKMEN LOSS WINTER FEED BY THE FLAMES.

BUTTE, Mont., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The fire that started on the prairie here has been raging for several days some 60 miles north of this place and is still burning fiercely. Thousands of acres of grazing lands have been swept over and thousands of dollars' worth of property has been destroyed.

It is said that the fire started over the Canadian line Monday afternoon, and during the terrific winds of Tuesday and Wednesday it moved with startling rapidity over into the American possessions, from which all kinds of antelope, deer and other wild animals have fled for their lives in all directions. The fire is plainly visible tonight, and the shepherds in its path will all be heavy losers, for their winter range is destroyed together with all of their hay for winter feeding, and other buildings.

Thousands of sheep have had their winter range in the freest portion and the owners of these will have to resort to drastic methods to secure other ranges.

Mr. Petrie, one of the heaviest losers by the fire, has been in the vicinity of Great Falls for the past few days buying sheep, and it is understood that he is now on the way here with them. Large numbers of men have been fighting the flames ever since they started, but have not been equal to the task. There is talk of lynching the man who started the fire if he can be found.

No Poison in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

The absence of all narcotics makes this remedy the safest and best that can be used, and especially a feeling of security that any mother can give to her little one. GIVE FISH A CHANCE

Snares Should Not Occupy More Than Third of Stream,

SAYS MASTER FISH WARDEN

Plan Suggested for Detection and Punishment of Miscreants Who Use Dynamite in the Rivers and Creeks of Oregon.

SALEM, Or., Nov. 24.—(Special.)

The enactment of laws which will require the definite location of every fish trap, seine, net and fish wheel is recommended by Master Fish Warden Van Dusen, with a view to removing one menace to the fishing industry.

"No fishing appliance or device of any kind whatever," he says in his triennial report, "should, either by a lead or by any parts of said appliance, occupy more than one-third of the width of the stream upon which it is located." The purpose of this is to prevent wheels and traps from being so located as to block the stream, and passing up a stream. Mr. Van Dusen would have the proposed law provide that the license issued to the owner of the fishing appliance shall definitely designate the location of the fishing grounds and that operations must be limited to those grounds, except upon special permission from the Fish Warden. He says that locations should be indicated in this manner:

Traps or pound nets, by driving at least three substantial piles thereon, which should not extend less than ten feet above the surface of the water at high tide, and the piles to be driven at each end of the location claimed, and upon said terminal piles there should be posted the license number. If the owner fails to construct his appliance in the fishing season covered by his license, said location should be deemed abandoned. It should be required that there be a lateral passageway of at least 30 feet between all traps or pound nets.

Locations for trap seines should be made by driving a substantial stake or erecting a permanent monument at each end of the location claimed and posting thereon the number of the license under which such stake or monument is erected; provided, that no stake, located in the water, shall occupy a greater space than twice the length of the seine covered by the license.

Locations for net seines should be made by driving a substantial stake or erecting a permanent monument or suitably anchoring a buoy, the location of which should be indicated by the number of the license under which such net is operated. It should be required that there be a lateral passageway of at least 30 feet between all net seines.

Locations for wheels should be definitely designated by a substantial stake or erecting a permanent monument on the location claimed, upon which should be posted the number of the license under which such wheel is to be operated. After any such net, trap, seine or net or fishwheel has been located, the owner or occupant should file a description thereof with the Fish Warden.

No fishing appliance or device of any kind whatever located or used upon any of the streams or rivers of this state should, either by a lead or any parts of the appliance, occupy more than one-third the width of such streams or rivers.

The detection, capture and prosecution of dynamiters is another subject concerning which the Fish Warden recommends legislation, and he asks that others than the ordinary peace officers be authorized to ferret out and arrest the guilty parties.

It still appears to me that the better way to accomplish this is for the Board of Fish Commissioners to be authorized to issue warrants at any time such a reward as they deem adequate for the arrest and conviction of such perpetrator, no matter where found, and that they be fully provided with the necessary rewards so long as they consider it essential to the welfare of the waters of this state.

Along this same line, permit me to repeat again that I think the legislature should also be given authority to offer a reward for the arrest and conviction of any person apprehended of putting any net, trap, seine or fishwheel in the water, or of any other substance deleterious to salmon or fish or eggs or young fry, into any of the waters of this state for the purpose of catching, killing or destroying such salmon or fish, eggs or young fry.

These are matters that require detective work to ferret out and bring to justice the guilty party, and I think a detective properly for such work a reward should be put up for the arrest and conviction of any party found guilty of such a crime, and the reward should be earned, put up another and continue to do so.

Should the legislature again fail to take cognizance of this matter, I think the duty lies to the different rod and gun clubs throughout the state as being worthy of consideration at their hands. For I don't believe there is a true rod and gun sportsman in the state who would put up a dollar to make up a dollar reward, and would continue to put up a dollar every time such willful destruction would be entirely stopped, and a dynamiter be a thing of the past.

IT ALWAYS HELPS

An ailment like consumption that has been months and years getting a foothold cannot be relieved in a week or day. Scott's Emulsion will always afford relief and often cure, but not over night. The consistent use of Scott's Emulsion will positively help the consumptive at any stage of the disease. We guarantee nothing beyond this, but we know that right living and Scott's Emulsion have done more to cure consumption than anything else.

CALL TO LIVESTOCK MEN.

National Convention Will Be One of Most Important Ever Held.

DENVER, Nov. 24.—The call for the annual meeting of the National Livestock Association, in Denver, January 10 to 14, 1905, has been issued. The call states that the principal business of the convention will be the consideration of a resolution which will be proposed by the executive committee for the appointment of a committee to revise the constitution and by-laws of the association. On this point the call says:

"It is the opinion of a large number of the members of this association, a condition which which makes it necessary to consider a revision of the constitution and by-laws of this organization, so as to provide for a more liberal representation of the various branches of the livestock industry upon a business basis that will permit of active co-operation, without unnecessary interference with the affairs of the various branches of the industry."

"By order of the board of control, therefore, the representatives of all interests involved in the breeding, growing, feeding, transportation, marketing and management of livestock are hereby invited to attend this convention and participate in a general conference looking towards such a revision of the constitution and by-laws of this association as will produce a more active and harmonious co-operation between the various branches of the livestock industry."

The resolution to be offered by the executive committee will read as follows: "Resolved, That for the purpose of considering a revision of the constitution and by-laws of this association, a committee consisting of three representatives from each of the following industries: Cattle, growers, stockgrowers, stockfeeders, swinegrowers, sheep raisers, and horse raisers, commission men and purebred record associations. Said representatives may be suggested by those in the convention representing said industries, and they may be named by the president. Said committee shall meet at once and report back to this convention as soon as possible with such recommendations as it may decide upon."

POPE REINSTATES PRIEST.

Rev. John T. Harrison Wins His Appeal to the Holy See.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 24.—The Pioneer Press tomorrow will say: "Word was received yesterday in St. Paul that Rev. John T. Harrison, former pastor of St. Joseph's Parish, has won his appeal to the Holy See at Rome, and that an order has been issued to Archbishop Ireland to reinstate Rev. Harrison to the priesthood. The decision was announced by Archbishop Falconio, apostolic delegate to Washington, to whom the appeal was referred by the congregation of the Holy See. One of them was Rev. Harrison's appeal to Rome grew out of an order from Archbishop Ireland, June 16, 1904, suspending him from the priesthood because of disobedience in refusing to resign the pastorate of St. Joseph's Parish, Michigan.

Rev. Harrison had attempted to construct a new church for his parish, when the Holy See announced his cathedral project. This contemplated the erection of a $300,000 cathedral parish house, which would necessitate the abandonment of the old parish building, which is now approved by the people of the diocese, in saying that no matter whether the Constitution follows the letter or the spirit, it will see it, so far as the Philippine Islands are concerned, that the American school teacher follows the flag. And in the execution of that policy the authorities of our National government should employ hundreds and perhaps thousands of American school teachers, who are now bearing the torchlight of civilization to the benighted country, and are substituting light for darkness that has benighted people who have suffered from Spanish misrule and arrogance for a century past.

While the conditions existing throughout the state and in consideration of the general prosperity that prevails among our people, the compensation of our teachers ought to be increased proportionately with the increase of compensation paid in other employments.

MEAD ON THE FAIR NO HOPE FOR WEBFOOT'S MEN

Washington Governor - Elect Talks to High School Pupils.

HEROISM OF THE EXPLORERS

Work of Schoolteachers Highly Commended and Attention Directed to Need of Added Compensation in the Profession.

BELLINGHAM, Wash., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The great event that will be celebrated in this city for the three men who left the waterlogged schooner Webfoot Tuesday afternoon in search of assistance. At the time great seas were running and shipping men are confident the small boat succumbed to the fury of the elements. The men had been four days without food and water, and would have nearly perished from hunger by this time if the ocean had not claimed them as victims. Mate Bromer, Seaman J. O'Neill and another sailor, whose name is unknown, comprised the party which was taken off on the forlorn expedition. There is a bare possibility that they managed to weather the seas and that a passing steamer may have picked them up and taken them to the Sound or San Francisco, but no one here doubts that they have either starved to death or been drowned.

An examination made of the wreck of the schooner Webfoot, which was towed here last evening dismantled, showed that her deck had been blown open by the force of the water and her hull is thought to be useless. The local agents of the company intended to take her to Knappton tomorrow morning and discharge her cargo, but this afternoon a telegram was received from Mr. Simpson stating that he had left Coos Bay for Astoria. Accordingly a watchman has been placed on board the Webfoot, and she will be left where she is until he arrives to take charge of her.

The O. R. & N. Company will have a salvage claim, the tug Walla having first reached the derelict and passed the line, outstripping the Government's vessel, which had hastened to her aid. Nearly one-third of the cargo of lumber was lost.

The Webfoot was built at Coos Bay in 1890 and was originally rigged as a barkentine. The rig was altered to that of a brigantine and finally was changed to that of a three-masted schooner. Old age was her undoing.

Electric Line Comes Up Again.

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The scheme to connect Pendleton with Walla Walla by an electric line is again being agitated. Three years ago H. Mellman, of Oakland, built an electric road between these two cities, but his scheme proved a failure, as he was unable to interest Eastern capitalists in purchasing the rights, which he had secured along the entire route. The project was accordingly abandoned.

A company is to be organized between capitalists of Pendleton and Walla Walla with a capitalization of $200,000. The promoters will retain half of the stock and plan to place the remaining $100,000 on the market. Behind the scheme are chief stockholders in the Washington & Oregon Power Company, which is installing the immense plant on the Little Walla Walla river, in this county, to supply Pendleton, Walla Walla and the intermediate towns with electrical power.
