A steam railway expert from one of the largest electric manufacturing companies has recently spent several weeks investigating the possibilities of electric traction on the Northern Paelfic in Washington.

The Great Northern's motive-power department has also given a great deal of attention to the problem. The Northern Pacific crosses the Cascade Range by the Stampede Pass through the Stampede Tunnel, while the Great Northern, which formerly had a switchback in Stevens Pass, now uses the Cascade Tunnel at the same point.

The coal consumption of both roads through the mountains is very heavy. The Northern Pacific is fortunate in having its own coal fields on both sides of the mountains. It has mines on the western side of the Cascades in the western side of the Cascades in the to investigate alleged election frauds in Carbon River district, about 35 miles this county. This step is taken at the southeast of Taccama. Its principal behest of Democratic leaders, who charge mine is at Roslyn, on the eastern side of the mountains, a few miles from the Stampede Tunnel. The Great Northern is not so fortunate in its coal supply in the mountains. It buys a great deal of coal from the Northern Pacific. Along the Northern Pacific, on the Great Northern in the Cascade country, there are a great many water powers which could be utilized in generating

He does not deny that the charges might have been true, but in an open letter he declares he did not furnish the information. The letter is to Hon. Marion Wescott, Shawno, Wis.,

and in part says:
"An article was published in McClure's Magazine for October, 1904, written by Mr. Lincoln Steffens, purporting to give some inside facts relative to Wisconsin political history, which caused quite a sensation and much newspaper and other comment. Some people interpreted certain portions of that article as stating or in-sinuating that many, if not all, of the supporters of Senator Spooner were influenced to vote for him by some form of bribery. I was put in the attitude of furnishing the information on which the supposed charge or instruction was based. It is not my purpose to discuss whether the interpretation stated can fairly be given to what was said by Mr. Steffens, but I will say as strongly as I know how to that in any information I gave to him in any way it was not my intention to say or insinuate that any member of the Legislature was brought to the support of Senator Spooner by any species of bribery, and nothing was said by me to Mr. Steffens, or in his presence, which fairly understood, would ustify an instruction that any member of the Legislature was bribed to vote for

Dec. 1.—The annual report of the General Superintendent of the Life-Saving Service for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1904, shows that during the year assistance was rendered by the life-saving crews to 1001 vessels of all kinds, involving the lives of more than 3400 persons and property to the value of nearly $7,000,000. The crews also rescued 103 persons not on board vessels from various perilous situations, and through signal warnings of the beach patrols signal warnings of the beach patrols saved from possible disaster 161 vessels in danger of stranding. Vessels wrecked were generally of small tonnage. There were 550 casualties to registered vessels, involving 256 persons, of whom 21 were lost. The estimated value of those vessels was $4,698,855 and of their cargoes 11.757.952. making the total estimated value of property imperiled $5.456,780. Of this amount there was saved $5,089,150, and $1,366,830 was lost. Of the 359 vessels which suffered disaster, 50 were totally lost.

Among the smaller craft, not registered, such as sallboats, rowboats, pleasure launches, etc., 611 casualties occurred, imperilling the lives of 803 persons, of whom 14 were lost. The value of these vessels with their cargoes in estimated at $348,750, and with a loss of $8520. This makes the total number of disasters to vessels of all kinds 770, with a valuation of $5,750,650, or which $5,250,060 was saved and $5,750,850 was lost.
