well, and promises a very large ag-Breaks in raw material have tended tile cotton goods. All usual measures to volume point to a heavy turnover proceeding. Chartings, partly because of active stock especialistion, are large, November totals having only once been surpassed, and then in May, 1801. Failures are fewer in number and in liabilities, the lightest in any month but one of 1804. Railway earnings testify to a heavy traffe, with gains over a year ago, and car shortages are a feature in widely expectate. statin, with gains over a year ago, and car shortages are a feature in widely separated sections. Among the industries the feeling is optimistic, notably in iron and steel, coal, number and kindred lines. Money is more active. Generally speaking, the feeling in trade and industry is optimistic, the only drawbacks noted being that manufacturers are confronted with prospective high costs of production, and the pressaling drouth which renders the outlook for the Winter what ice for the raw material, which is in scant uply and firmly held at the highest prices or two years past. Advices from Australia id London are of firm wobl prices, with lib-

The lack of explanation for that weakness was a cause of some distrust, and had a discouraging effect on large commitments. There was no considerable fluctuation in prices outside a few special stocks, and the strength of picked stocks was regarded as a device largely to sustain the rest of the market.

The Southern Trunk lines were the conspicuous features today, especially Louisville & Nashville. The United States Steel stocks and Amalgamated Copper made good recoveries from the early pressure which was quite general, and news of the metal trade conditions was highly favorable. It was believed that the arbitrators award in the question of the percentage of toinage to be allowed to the large independent producers of steel rails had been made, and that prices of steel rails would be maintained.
