Portland's Largest, Foremost Store

REMEMBER! This is the Down-to-Date DAYLIGHT STORE!

THAT CLOSES EVERY EVENING AT SIX O'CLOCK, SATURDAYS INCLUDED

A TEA-TABLE TALK FROM THE "OLD HOMESTEAD" STORE TO ITS PUBLIC: You know we close Saturdays-as all days-at 6 P. M. It's not necessary at this season to keep open-store evenings. A store that tells you it is, is a lying hypocrite-that's all-not to be trusted; for if a store lies about one thing it will lie about its goods. That's plain-isn't it? Let's get out of this hypocritical strain; it's bad for the liver. The meanest rogue living is a hypocrite-and has dyspepsia.

A CLERGYMAN SAID: "Go to the mills and factories; see the grind of it all; see how human lives are woven into cloth or riveted into boilers and monster engines -- or machinery. The grind of it all -- the heartlessness of employers. Ah! brethren, one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives." Tommy-rot! Nonsense! His liver was sluggish -so sluggish be only looked for doleful texts in the Good Book. Another minister said: "Be busy; be urgent in this world's affairs. Man was put on earth to subdue it, that his character, his mental and spiritual muscle might be developed by the effort. Work is hallowed. There was work in Eden-before the fall. A man may be honestly rich; can honestly profit by the labor of others. The Word that said there must be hewers of wood and drawers of water, inferred that there would be owners of the woods and the wells-employers. There's too much stress laid on Lazarus and his reward., That's merely a passage of comfort-not a 'go thou and do likewise.' Who got to heaven first and was there to pillow the head of Lazarus? Abraham, the richest man of antiquity." Yes, work is a blessing-in the daytime. The latter viewpoint was taken with a healthy liver and good digestion; 'tis a helpful one. But don't crowd the workers after their day is done. The stores that employ hundreds should close with the factories that employ scores. Isn't that right, folk? Think it over. This store closes at 6 P. M.

99c—Less Than Half Retailer's Cost-99c

The crowds that swarmed through the faillinery store yesterday will be augmented by hundreds today, for many of the best bargains are here yet. It was impossible to bring them all out yesterday. The selections today will be equal or better than those that have already made new owners happy. You've read of the hats, and how they came here at the ridiculously low price of 99c. But the tale is worth telling again.

We have closed what is beyond question the largest millinery purchase ever consummated by any Portland house. Perhaps we've overreached and bought too many hats, even at a fourth of what they're worth. 2000 hats in one lot at this date is a staggering proposition to most millinery houses, but the price tempted us, and we "tackled." We closed the entire line of a leading, well-known millinery manufacturer

At 25c on the $1.00 of Cost occasion, we will refund the price to the purchaser of every ninth hat sold, thus, in addition to obtaining a new hat at one-fourth its value, every ninth buyer will receive her hat ABSOLUTELY FREE
