to secure enough in the North to elect a Fruident whom they have already nominated. Twice they have successed in doing so. A remedial agent for this condition is to make the electoral wote of the South of less value to those corporations which now clearly control IL. This can be done by Congress enforcing the 14th amendment of the Constitu-tion. If this were done, the electoral vote of the South would be reduced by 30 or more votes, and would not then inspire the hope that enough votes might be gained among the remaining states to elect a President. The first effect of this would be to free the South from the thrall of corporate domination. The ultimate result would be the breaking up of the solifarity of that section. Men would divide on economical question and identify themselves with whichever party beat erpressed their convictions. The present is a most opportune time for reducing representation in all the states to a constitutional basis. The Republican party solid, but knows that it is inimical to her interests. Never mind the 15th amendment. It is quite probable that within 30 years the South, of her own volition, will restore some of the disfranchised people to suffrage, and

AMERICAN PLANS PREFERRED

Germany Closely Reviews Report of Secretary of Navy Morton.

BERLIN, Dec. 5.-The keen interest with which Germany is watching the growth of the American Navy and the high opinion entertained by navel men in Germany of American naval technique, is shown by the inclusion in the naval budget of an item specifically covering the cost of sending officers to the United States to study methods of building and arming warships and other matters that may be applied to the betterment of the German navy. The recommendations of Secretary of the Navy Morton in his annual report to the President are published prominently. and it appears that American plans are much preferred to those of Great Britain in naval circles here.
