Congress Receives Communication From President.

SENATE WORKS TWO HOURS

Merchant Marine Commission Submits Preliminary Report-Knox and Crane Are Inducted Into Office.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.-The Senate was in session for more than two hours today, and in addition to listening to the reading of the President's message received a preliminary report of the Merchant Marine Commission, witnessed the induction of Senators Knox and Crane into office, and in executive session referred the Presidential nominations to the proper committees. The session was characterized by an extension of yesterday's greetings among Senators.

The reading of the commissions of the two Senators attracted more attention than usual in such cases, on account of their prominence, and Senators generally did not fall to note the peculiar wording of Governor Pennypacker's communica-tion while he conferred the office of Senator upon Mr. Knox, empowering him to hold it, with all emoluments and privileges until the next meeting of the Legislature of the state, "If he shall so long behave himself well."

Immediately after the convening of the Senate today Allison and Cockrell, consti-tuting the committee to walt on the Presi-dent, reported that the President had exed his intention to immediately comwith the Senate through a message in writing.

The message was delivered to the Senate by Mr. Barnes, assistant secretary of the President, and its reading immediately began.

When the message was concluded Gallinger submitted a partial report from the Merchant Marine Commission, detailing the work done by it and asking that the time for the completion of its work be extended until January next. The extension of time was granted without dissent. The Senate then went into executive session and at 2:30 adjourned.

HOUSE ADJOURNS EARLY.

President's Message Is Read and Two Minor Routine Matters Considered.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—After hearing the reading of the President's message to Congress the House adjourned until to-morrow. During the first ten minutes of the session two minor routine matters were disposed of, but no other business was transacted.

Soon after the House met today Burton (O.), chairman of the committee to notify the President that the House was in session and ready for business, reported the President had informed them he would today submit a message in writing. Just before Speaker Cannon rapped the House to order an elderly man occupy-ing a front seat in the House gallery uttered a series of long-drawn-out whoops. Much commotion was caused before he was elected. At 12:30 Mr. Barnes, assistant secretary to the President, appeared and announced he was directed by the President to sub-mit to the House a message in writing. The clerk at once began reading the President's annual message to Congress. Upon the conclusion of the reading of the message there was loud applause from the Republican side.

The message, on motion of Payne (N. Y.) was referred to the committee of the whole house on the state of the Union and ordered to be printed, after which

ESTIMATES FOR HAWAII.

Federal Building to Cost $1,000,000 Is Asked for Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, Dec 6.-The estimates of appropriations submitted for the territory of Hawail by Governor Carter and forwarded to Congress by Secretary Shaw are as follows:

Dredging Honolulu harbor $250,000 Refunds to territory 173,025 Federal building for Honiulu 1,000,000 Federal building at Him 100,000

As a part of the estimates, there is submitted as an appendix, a letter from the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce, addressed to the Governor, soliciting his assistance in the matter of making Hono-"clean port" as against tropical diseases, and declaring that to this end Honolulu should be made disease proof. There also is attached a letter from the Merchants' Association of Honolulu call-ing attention to a serious depression in the wholesale and retail business of Ha wall, the causes assigned being "the loss of customs revenue, amounting to $5,000,000 during the four years since annexation; the forced territorial expenditure for redging Honolulu harbor, and upon lightsistent showing made by a comparison of receipts and returns by the Federal Government; decrease in population, especial y among the most valuable workers, the

EXCLUSION TREATY A BIG TASK

Hay and Chinese Minister Cannot Have It Ready for Some Time.

WASHINGTON, Dec. &-The new Chiese exclusion treaty which Secretary Hay and Sir Hung Li Hung Chang, the Chinese Minister, are now negotiating, presents a serious and large task. When the negotiations were begun, some time ago, it was the hope though hardly the expectation, that the treaty could be signed in time to be sent to the Senate at the opening of Congress. If the treaty reaches Congress before the close of the present session the negotiators will feel their work has progressed rapidly. To safeguard the country even more ade-quately than does the present treaty against the immigration of Chinese laborers of any class, and to alleviate as far as can safely be done the alleged hard-ships which even the best people of China are forced to undergo at the gateways of this country, are two results which it is hoped may be obtained by the new treaty. It is stated on authority that there is no foundation that the new treaty is designed to let down the bars against indiscriminate Chinese exclusion

Mrs. Chadwick's Identity Is a Puzzle to All.

KNOWN UNDER MANY NAMES

She Has Operated in Many Cities, and as Regular Men of Wealth Have Suffered-Her Numerous Marriages.

CLEVELAND, O., Dec. 6 .- (Special.)-Greater than the mystery surrounding Mrs. Chadwick's supposed wealth is the puzzle of her identity. The more her past career is examined the more weird becomes the confusing jumble of names under which it is declared she has lived.

It can be stated positively that the pres-ent Mrs. Chadwick was never the wife of Dr. C. L. Hoover. There is a Mrs. Hoover now living in Buffalo. Mrs. Chadwick, prior to 1886, lived with Mrs. Hoover, whose husband had died. Mrs. Hoover kept a boarding-house at 123 Encild avenue, and Mrs. Chadwick was then known as Mme. Rosa and Mrs. Scott. This seems to be the beginning.

The boy now known as Emil Hoover was born in this city in 1886, and was the son of a well-known attorney and Demo-cratic politician, who died here six years

A sister of Mrs. Chadwick is Mrs. Alice M. York now living in San Francisco.
Mrs. York is not in comfortable circumstances, but obliged to live on the beneficence of the Masons, to which order her husband belonged. Yet Mrs. York stood stanchly by her sister when the latter was arraigned, tried and convicted on the charge of forgery at Toledo in 1890. She also took her into her home on Franklin avenue in this city at the time Mme. Devere obtained her parole. The records of the Penlientiary reveal that Mme. Devere reported her residence at the home of this sister. The authority for this statement is be-yond question. It comes from a number of attorneys who assisted in the prosecu-tion of suits against her because of her dealings with money jenders.

Appearance in Cleveland.

It was in 1889 that she first appeared in this city and resided with her sister, Mra. York, at 500 Superior street. In 1882 her trouble with the money lenders began. Her scheme was to borrow money on Mrs. York's furniture. She gave them other names, that of Alice M. Bestedo. Her brother-in-law forced her to Springsteen of 3 Garden street. The mar-riage of the two took place on December riage of the two took place on December 3, 1883, and within twelve days the doctor applied for a divorce.

Dr. Springsteen became suspicious her and hired detectives to investigate her city, and the story of her difficulties with the money lenders. He also learned of her birth in Eastwood, Ont., in 1857, and her trial for forgery at Woodstock in 1879, which charge she escaped conviction on the plea of insanity. Soon after the di-vorce was granted, which was asked for on the grounds of infidelity, Dr. Springsteen received a letter from a Buffalo at-torney informing him that Mrs. Spring-steen was stopping at one of the best hotels there and that she had empowered him (the attorney) to draw $5,000 on Dr. Springsteen on the grounds that she had submitted to a separation. The doctor imnediately denounced her as an impostor.

Career at Erie, Pa. She sprung into public notice next at to her home in Cleveland, had become untedly embarrassed and was success ful in obtaining a number of small loans, When the Erie people wrote for the re-turn of the money they received the fol-lowing note, which was destined to appear several times in subsequent court proceedings. It read:

"Dear Mazie passed away March 27 at 2:30 o'clock in the morning. She carefully placed her full trust in God. Poor Mazie's remains were taken to her native home in Canada for interment and were followed to their last resting place by a large and sorrowing concourse of friends."

But Mazie, it seems, became Mme, La Rose, according to the sign displayed at her residence at 359 Superior street, declaring that the madame was a clairvoy-ant. She then moved to Prospect street. While there the newspapers contained much of her statement regarding Dr.

She next appeared as the wife of J. R. prominent attorney already referred to took place, and the boy known now as Emil Hoover was born.

Career at Toledo Dramatic.

In 1889 she went to Toledo, where her history as Mme. Devere is well known. At Toledo her career was as dramatic as it was spectacular. Fifteen years ago as it was spectacular. Fifteen years ago she was a familiar figure. She could be seen in the finest of carriages driving about the city, and her entertainments were known as elaborate, the cost of flowers alone being high. Her past history was kept secret, yet by degrees it developed that she was born in Woodstock, Canada, and was the daughter of Mrs. Mary Ann Bigley. Mrs. Mary Ann Bigley.

She began to secure large sums of money from various men. It is asserted that a prominent doctor gave up all and was completely under her control. He is today a physical wreck. A bank president, since dead, was deceived, and how much he loaned her will never be learned. Two express officials and a grain merchant are said to have been careful. chant are said to have been caught for

One of the stories told by Mme, Devere in Toledo was that of her marriage to a wealthy gentleman near Manchester, England, who was killed shortly after in a runaway, and from whose estate she received an annual income of $1000.

Then came her arrest on the charge of forgery. The first intimation of the forgery came from Cleveland on January 12, 1830, when a message was received at Toledo that Richard Brown, a wealthy commission merchant of Youngstown, O., went to Cleveland on a notice from a Cleveland bank that his note for $55,000 was due. This note proved to be a clever forgery. The First National and North-ern National Banks of Toledo each had notes of $5000 for collection, both payable to the order of Florida G. Blythe. These notes were similar to the larger one at Cleveland, and the local bankers imme-diately became frightened and began an investigation.

Clerk Figured in Forgery Case. Figuring in the forgery case was Jooph Lamb, a clerk in the United States Express office, He secured the loans from the banks on the forged paper, but later developments disclosed that he did it innecently and without intent to do wrong. He merely did the woman's bid-ding. Through Mr. Lamb it was learned that the notes came from Mme. Devere, a From this point affairs began to turn and Mme. Devere and Lamb were arrest ed. The local papers at that time told how, though bearing the name here of Mme. Devere, the woman was also known as Lydia D. Scott. Mary Hoover, Lizzie Hoover, Lydia Clingan and that her right name was Louise Bigley.

The following day, January 16, Mme. De-The following day, January is, Mme. Devere was again arrested on a similar warrant, only giving all her aliases, including the one of Florida G. Biythe, and charging her with uttering the forged notes. Her bail was increased to $2000, which she could not give.

When the case came up for hearing Mr. Lamb, in the meantime having come to the conclusion that he had been dured.

to the conclusion that he had been duped by the woman, told all he knew of the affair. He was a spiritualist himself, and believed all that the clairvoyant told him. The story of her operations are clearly gleaned from the evidence gives by Lamb during the trial, which resulted in the latter being acquitted and Mme.
Devere being sent to the penitentiary for nine and one-half years. After serving a little more than three years she was

During her trial at Toledo it developed that she had formerly lived at Woodstock, Ont., as Elizabeth Bigley, and that she had been tried in 1879 on the charge of fergery at Woodstock and acquitted on the grounds of insanity. In reporting to penitentiary officials, as is required of paroled prisoners, Mme. De-vere stated at one time that she was living with her mother, Mrs. Ann Bigley, of Woodstock, Ont.

Married to Dr. Chadwick.

Mme. Devere next appeared at Cleveland as Mrs. C. L. Hoover and lived on the west side for several years under that name. She married Dr. Chadwick at Windsor, Ont., on August 25, 1897. There is snother record of their marriage a few months earlier at Pittsburg, at which time the name on the license appeared as Leroy Chadwick. This may have been an

Three years ago Irving Belford, clerk of the United States Circuit Court at Toledo, met Mrs. Chadwick in the store of Stowell & Hubbard. He spoke to the proprietors of the store and told them who she was. They demanded to know what her credit was before allowing a purchase of $6000 worth of diamonds which she had selected. She displayed a letter of credit, which was accepted. turned to Belford and upbraided him for his action, saying that she had tried to live down her past.

LAWYERS ARE ASTOUNDED. Still They Believe Solution of Mys tery is Near at Hand. NEW YORK, Dec. 6 .- The startling adnission by President Beckwith of the Citizens' National Bank of Oberlin, O., that he and Cashler Spear or that bank had indorsed Mrs. Cassie L. Chadwick's notes to the amount of $1,250,000 and that they bore what purported to be the signature of Andrew Carnegie, has astounded the New York lawyers representing the various interests involved in a case which leave his house, and she took up her real-dence at 149 Garden street. There she be-came acquainted with Dr. Wallace S. revelation. That President Beckwith's statement brings to light new and important phases of the case and brings much nearer the inevitable uncovering of the entire affair, is the belief of a majority of the attorneys interested. The stories concerning herself, and jearned for result of today's moves in the case are the first time that she had a sister in the awaited with increased interest in the apprehension that the crisis is near and may be reached today.

A sensational report today was that one of the local counsel for Mrs. Chadwick had decided to withdraw from the Percy W. Carver, counsel for Herbert D. Newton, of Brookline, Mass., who has claims of almost $200,000 against Mrs. Chadwick, speaking of the statement made last night by President Beckwith, said developments had come so fast that he did not know what to say. He thought, however, that Mr. Beckwith must have made the statement under pressure, or, being on the verge of nervous collapse, "had lost his nerve."

He would say absolutely nothing about the Beckwith statement. He said he had told Mrs. Chadwick she need have no fear of arrest. IN STATE OF COLLAPSE.

President Beckwith Scarcely Able to Bear Trying Ordeal.

OBERLIN, O., Dec. 6.-President Beck with was practically in a state of collapse today as a result of the trying ordeal through which he passed yesterday, in connection with his hearing before the United States Commissioner at Cleveland. Beckwith is completely prostrated, and his grief is pitiful.

Today, in speaking of the Carnegle notes, the aged banker vehemently declared that if the signatures were forgeries, then the hand of the law should be laid upon Mrs. Chadwick.

Why should I stand the brunt of all this trouble which has been directly.

this trouble which has been directly brought about by the acts of that wo-man?" he cried. Continuing, he said: "I had every reason to believe that the notes were genuine. Indeed, Mrs. Chad-wick swore they were. She solemnly declared that she had seen Mr. Carnegie write his signature on them. To confirm this she brought an attorney with her who declared he was the legal representative of Mr. Carnegie, and this attorney, whose name I cannot now state, declared that he knew positively that the signatures were genuine

"It is true that we-Mr. Spear and my-self-did indorse the notes, but, of course, we had no idea they were to be put to the use that they were afterward. "Then again, we had the positive assur-ance of Ira Reynolds, secretary of the Wade-Park Banking Company, at Cleve-land, that he had the securities that Mrs. Chadwick claimed she had. "Oh, my God." exclaimed the old man. "If I could only have my life to live again for the past two years that I might save my name from this great dishonor that has befallen me." SPEAR'S WIFE NOT INSANE.
