

OLD BILL HELD UP

Lawyer's Presence Fails to Move Port of Portland.

RUBBER SLEEVES DISCUSSED

Bowers Company Seeks Payment on an Ancient Claim, but Commission Says No—Bids for Wenona's Boiler Opened.

Most of the time of the two hours session of the Port of Portland Commission yesterday was devoted to a discussion of the merits of the rubber sleeves furnished by the Bowers Rubber Company of San Francisco. These articles are used in joining the sections of pipe through which the dredges discharge their material.
