Newspapers With Circulation of 25,-000,000 Are Receiving Press Notices, While Railroads Are Also Extending Aid.

What the probable attendance at the Lewis and Clark Exposition will be be a subject that has aroused no end of interest, for upon the attendance depends the success of the great enterprise. There is none, perhaps, better able to speak on this question than Secretary H. E. Reed, who, with the co-operation of other Expo etion officials, has spent much time in compiling statistics and investigating the factors that will contribute to the attend. In arriving at definite conclusions, omparisons have been made with Expositions as those at Omaha, San Fran-cista, Nashville and Atlanta, which were of much the same magnitude and scope an the Lewis and Clark Exposition.

Secretary Reed has estimated that the total attendance during the entire Exposiion period will be somewhere between 1 350.000 and 1,500,000.

"This estimate," said he, "compares favocably with the attendance at Omaha, San Francisco, Nashville and Atlanta. At Omaha the paid admissions numbered 1.778,580; at Ban Francisco, 1.315,822; at Nashville, 1.165,622, and at Atlanta, 775,560. 'In scope the Lewis and Clark Centennial will be about the same as the Omalia Exposition" continued Sectetary Reed. "It is quite possible that it will be even larger than that at Omaha, although it would seem that the attendance may not be so onsiderable, since Portland has not so a territory to draw Omaha had. Some estimates of Portland's probable paid attendance run as high as 2,000,000, but it does not appear that there is anything to justify so great an esti-A year ago, it will be the estimates ranged from 400,000 to $00,000 and that larger figure was then consid-

Attendance May Reach 1,370,000.

"But to get down to the figures in the case," he added, "let us take into account that the country tributary to Portland may be conservatively estimated as having 400.000 people within an area of 100 milites: within 200 milios are 800,000; within 200 milices, 1,200,000; within 500 miles, 1,800,-600; within 1000 miles, 5,000,000. While these figures look big to people living on the Coast, when compared to the 30,000,000 inhabitants living within 500 miles of St. Louis, they are small. The 1000-mile line sut of Portland swings one-third of the distance to New York on the east, into Mexico on the south, well into Alaska on the north, and on the west far out into the Facilic Ocean. No other Exposition ever held, with the exception of the San Francisco Mid-Winter Fair of 1894, has had so small a population to draw upon for admissions. The paid admissions at world that there is an American city of size and importance West of the Atlantic scaboard. The net result at St. Louis will be for the good. St. Louis has succeeded in getting back good and strong on the map for the first time since Chicago passed her in population nearly a generation ago. Portland will come out of this Exposition stronger and more energetic and en-terprising than ever. The Exposition has now been before the people for over four years, and Portland has steadily pursued her policy of conservatism and has not en carried away with any sort of infla-ca. In that time Portland has increased r population to 149,000, her jobbing trade $189,000,000 a year, her manufactures to $20,000,000 a year, her bank deposits to $35,-000,000 and has expended about $15,000,000 for buildings and public improvements.

"These increases have come naturally and have not been caused by the Exposion, though the Exposition and the publicity given it have been strong factors in calling attention to the city. As a matter of fact, the increases noted above have come to Fortland while the Exposition was in its preparatory stages, and at a time when a great many people were the willing to predict it would never be ed. The surprise therefore." he conclud-i, "is not that Portland has grown so ed. fast in the past four years, but that it has not grown faster, considering its advantages.
