

CARTER IN FIELD

Senator From Jackson County
Would Preside at Salem.

OUT LOOKING FOR PLEDGES

Aspirant for Honors Two Years Hence
May Not Find It All Clear Sailing to Chief Chair in State Senate.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—That Senator E. V. Carter, of Jackson County, will be an active candidate, in fact, is now an active candidate, for the Presidency of the State Senate, in a recent development in the political affairs of Oregon. Senator Carter was in Salem a few days ago and has visited other parts of the Valley, and from what can be learned of his conferences with members of the Senate it is apparent that he is out for the highest honors the members of that branch of the Legislature can confer upon any person. That he has secured promises of support is also known, but since the Senators are not much given to making promises, it is not probable that he has many votes pledged in his support.

Senator Carter has had his ambition centered on the Presidency of the Senate ever since the last regular session, when Senator Brownell, of Clackamas County, encouraged him to become a candidate and proffered his support. But since Senator Carter was a political friend of Senator Kuykendall, who is also a candidate for the Presidency, he hesitated to enter the race. He has held back in deference to the wish of the friends of United States Senators Mitchell and Fulton that there be no contest among the members of that wing of the Republican party over the organization of the Senate.

But Senator Carter, according to reports, thinks that he has kept out of the race long enough. He says, or his friends say for him, that he has given Senator Kuykendall a clear field for several months and that the Lane County man has not shown his ability to get the votes necessary to elect him President of the Senate. Now he thinks that with the meeting of the Legislature only a month away it is no more than right that some other supporter of the Mitchell-Fulton administration should be given a chance to show what he can do in the way of getting votes for the Presidency when the Legislature convenes.

At any rate, it is common talk among Senators that Carter is in the race and in to stay. It is known that he has been encouraged by Senator Farrar, of Marion County, who has always been counted a supporter of Kuykendall's candidacy. He also counts on the votes of several other Senators in the Willamette Valley and four in Eastern Oregon, alleging that his present prospect for votes is better than that of Senator Kuykendall and that he should not, therefore, be expected to keep out of the race for position reasons.

The argument generally used in behalf of Senator Kuykendall has been that the friends of Senator Mitchell must not let the anti-Mitchell people cast the deciding votes in settling a controversy over the Presidency. Senator Carter sees the force of this argument, but thinks that he is a more available candidate for the Mitchell people to support than is Senator Kuykendall.

The fact that Senator Carter is a prospective candidate for the Governor two years hence is the cause of some opposition to him on the part of other men who also have a desire to fill that office. They are afraid that his elevation to the Presidency would give him too much prestige in his race for the office of State Treasurer. On the other hand, an effort is being made to arouse opposition to Senator Kuykendall for the reason that he is supposed to be a prospective candidate for the Governorship.

"You can depend upon it that there will be at least two Republican candidates for the Presidency of the Senate next month," said a prominent member of the Legislature today.

WHEELER FAVORS AN EXHIBIT

Would Send Prize-Winning Display to Lewis and Clark Fair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 14.—(Special).—An important question taken up by the board of regents of the University of California today was as to whether or not the university should send its educational exhibit from the St. Louis Exposition to the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition, which will open at Portland, Or., next year. President Wheeler said that the exhibit had been awarded four grand prizes, one gold medal and one silver medal by the St. Louis judges and he recommended that the exhibit be sent north.

After some discussion it was agreed to submit the question to the finance committee, which will ask the Legislature, which meets next month, to make an appropriation for the purpose. President Wheeler has already spoken to several members of the Legislature and says the appropriations will be sufficient according to the present outlook. The exhibit is one of the finest of its kind ever gathered.

BAR OUT THE UNDESIRABLE.

British Columbia Will Have Stricter Immigration Regulations.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., Dec. 14.—(Special).—The Canadian government has now decided to restrict all undesirable immigration, and with this end in view the beginning of the year will see a large number of medical men appointed to guard against the riffraff of other countries coming into Canada and becoming undesirable citizens. By this act, any who are afflicted with loathsome or contagious diseases, criminals or undesirable persons may be excluded, as is

SCATTERS LOAD OF TURKEYS

Escapes Without a Scratch, but His Fun Causes His Employer the Price of a Good Horse and Bail Money.

MARSHFIELD, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—Chris Burley began celebrating Christmas early, and last night came near ending his life by driving a team over a 40-foot bluff into the bay. Chris works for Beckett, of the North Bend Hotel, and his employer sent him down to the Marshfield depot after a load of Christmas turkeys.

The man got the turkeys all right and also took on a load of another kind. About 10 o'clock he started home, and the team commenced to make up lost time, scattering turkeys as they went. Over the plank on Front street galloped the horses at a breakneck speed, dragging a dead-end wagon, Chris on the driver's seat fast asleep and Marshal Carter in pursuit. People in their night dresses ran out of their houses to see what the matter was.

North Front street ends directly in the bay, and it was expected the team would plunge into the water, but the horses made a square turn and kept on up the hill, where Night Watchman McCullough stopped them in the mud.

The horses were taken to the livery barn and Chris to the City Jail, and all went well until Landford Beckett arrived on a gasoline launch from North Bend and set up his head. He wanted the driver out to tell him where the turkeys were, but the birds had flown the coop.

Beckett again put Chris on the driver's seat and started him for North Bend about midnight. It was raining and dark. About a mile out of town Chris drove off the grade, rolled the outfit 40 feet down a steep bank, killed one horse outright, smashed things up generally and came out himself unhurt. He pulled himself out of the wreck, went on to North Bend and, this morning the other horse was rescued.

Mr. Beckett comes out lower a $100 horse, a $10 cash bond and a fine lot of Christmas turkeys.

PIONEER EPISCOPAL RECTOR OF ASTORIA.

The Late Rev. Thomas A. Hyland.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—Rev. Thomas Arthur Hyland, who died at his residence, in this city, last Sunday evening, was the pioneer Episcopal rector of Astoria, and among the first on the Pacific Coast. He was born in Dublin, Ireland, on December 27, 1834, and would have been 70 years of age had he lived two weeks longer.

Deceased came to New York in 1858, and entered the Episcopal Theological Seminary the same year. He was ordained in 1861, and a few months later was sent to Oregon as a missionary. Arriving at Portland, he remained until 1864, when he came to Astoria and started Grace Episcopal Church, erecting an edifice on Commercial street, which was the first Episcopal church in Clatsop County. He also organized the Holy Innocents' Church, in Uppertown, and remained as rector of both until 1878, when he returned to New York City and assumed the rectorship of the Church of Holy Comfort in that city. Owing to ill health, he was compelled to resign this charge in 1891, and he came to Astoria, where he resided until his death.

Rev. Mr. Hyland was a thorough student, an indefatigable worker, and for years was one of the leading ministers in the Northwest. He was universally honored and respected by the citizens of Astoria, and his death was deeply regretted by the whole community. He left a widow, but no children, and his only other living relative is a brother, the Rev. P. B. Hyland, assistant rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, at Seattle.

Biggs, Bright, Catron, Atwood, Barnett and Miller were appointed to draft an amendment to be in regular form, which will be submitted for passage at the coming session of the Legislature, and as soon thereafter as possible bonds will be issued sufficient to install an up-to-date waterworks, sewerage and electric light systems. Business and dwelling building is going on rapidly, and the people as a whole demand municipal improvements in keeping with the steady and substantial growth of Wasco.

Held on a Serious Charge.

ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—John Tenhart, a man about 50 years of age, living in the west end of the city, was arrested last evening on an information charging him with criminal assault upon several little girls. He was arraigned in the Justice Court today and committed to the County Jail in default of $1000 bonds to await a preliminary hearing on next Tuesday.

EARLY RESIDENT OF EASTERN OREGON

though the tribe of Kiklatas, living about the Joelyn place, remained friendly to the whites, the Klamath and Chinook nations of whites along the Columbia. Although at first restrained and discouraged in their plan by the friendly Kiklatas, the apparently unwarranted arrest of three Kiklatas chiefs by Government officers, precipitated an alliance and attack upon the settlers. This arrest was strongly opposed by Mr. Joelyn, who, fearing its effect, removed his wife to Washington, leaving his claim in charge of two men. Shortly thereafter they left the Washington shore when the men were warned by a friendly Indian that an attack was imminent, and leaving the claim they fled for their lives before a band of warriors for one whole night, reaching the river and crossing unharmed to Hood River, where two white men and their families then lived—Nathaniel Cox and William Jenkins. From there they saw the Joelyn house and barn go up in flames kindled by the hand of "Old White Salmon Dave," a Yakima chief, who still lives in the neighborhood of Bingen.

Returning to the scene of destruction, Mr. Joelyn built for himself and wife another home, and they resumed their residence as the sole white settlers of that region. Although never residing in The Dalles for more than a few months continuously, Mr. Joelyn was identified with the interests of that city, and on September 17, 1893, assisted in the establishment of the First Congregational Church, of The Dalles, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Tenney, E. S. Benfield, William B. Stillwell, Mr. and Mrs. Z. Donnell, Mr. and Mrs. Joelyn being the charter members of that society. He was also one of the incorporators of the Wasco Woolen Mills, in this city, besides representing Clatsop County for more than ten years in the Washington Territorial Assembly in the '80s. In 1873, Mr. Joelyn sold his White Salmon home and removed to Colorado Springs, where he has resided until the past two years, and where Mrs. Joelyn died. For the past two years he has resided at Santa Barbara. His second wife, formerly Miss Anna Tuck, at one time a resident of The Dalles, survives him.

Walla Walla Election Contest.
WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 14.—(Special).—The election contest case of James Cusker vs. R. J. Berryman, Assessor-elect, was argued before Superior Judge Brents this morning. The case hangs on whether plaintiff brought action within ten days after the election board returned the official count. The case was filed December 1, in the afternoon. The canvassing board finished the tabulation of precinct figures November 18. The totals were not filed up until November 19, and County Auditor Honeycutt did not send out election notices or file a list with the Clerk until November 21.

Hearing in Timber-Tax Cases.
ASTORIA, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—An order was received from Judge McBride this afternoon setting the motions for injunction in the suits brought by the timber land syndicates against Clatsop County and Sheriff Linville for argument in the Circuit Court on December 22. The order also directs the defendants to file their affidavits on or before December 19 and that the plaintiffs must file any counter-affidavits before December 21.

County Will Waive Point.
WALLA WALLA, Wash., Dec. 14.—(Special).—Walla Walla County will probably not attempt to collect the 30 per cent increase which the County Commissioners as a board of equalization August 14, 1903, added to the assessment on bank stock made by the Assessor in the Spring of 1903. This assessment was made in accordance with a recent act of the Washington Legislature requiring an Assessor to take figures given by the bank's officers.

Attorneys employed by the Commissioners this morning. In a report of ten tre-written pages, upheld the constitutionality of the act and recommended that the excess still claimed by the county should be remitted and canceled by the County Treasurer without cost to the banks. As the County Attorney of this county is of like opinion, it is probable that the board will take the advice given.

New Officers of La Grande Club.
LA GRANDE, Or., Dec. 14.—(Special).—The La Grande Commercial Club elected officers last evening for the ensuing year, as follows:

Old Kriss Kringle

Is here in all his glory, combining the useful, ornamental and play things for Xmas in one grand combination.

HERE ON XMAS TIME AS ALWAYS

AN ERA OF QUALITY—Each year the demand for better grades in all lines of merchandise manifests itself. More and more do the people expect and require articles of genuine merit. In no line is this tendency so marked as in ladies' ready-to-wear garments and dress goods. That in a measure accounts for the phenomenal success of the McAllen & McDonnell stores. People understand and appreciate the fact that Quality Counts. "The something for nothing" fellow has been relegated to the rear. Nowadays the average customer is able to and does separate the chaff from the grain. Our business is founded on quality. This method has stood the test for many years.
