

MORE STATES IN

Middle West Coming to Portland Fair.

WISCONSIN SETS PAGE

Gives $50,000 and Will Send Legislators in Special Train.

ILLINOIS WILL ALSO BE HERE

C. H. McIsaac Returns From Exploitation Field With Cheering Reports of Interest Shown by the Middle West.

Colin H. McIsaac, assistant director of exhibits, who returned yesterday from a trip of three months to the St. Louis Exposition and the East, brings the welcome news that the State of Wisconsin will participate in the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Fifty thousand dollars will be set aside at the coming meeting of the Legislature for the purchase of a Wisconsin pavilion and the preparation of an exhibit that will do the state credit.

When the Wisconsin Legislature meets on January 11 Governor LaFollette will make a message adding to the bill which will pass the House and also the Senate, immediately thereafter Grant Thomas, who was special commissioner for Wisconsin to the St. Louis Exposition, will leave for Portland with the plans of the Wisconsin pavilion in his pocket. As the bill for the appropriation will contain the emergency clause, he will have ready money with which to work, and the contract will be let immediately upon his arrival here.

Official Party Coming. It is also certain that Governor LaFollette, his staff and the majority of the State Legislature will be here for the opening services of the Exposition. A special excursion train, carrying the official party will leave Madison shortly after May 15 and proceed to Portland via the Northern Pacific. The train will make its way leisurely across the continent, but will arrive in ample time for the party to be present on the opening day. The return will be made upon the same lines.

In Madison, Mr. McIsaac held a meeting with the holdover Senators, who are, by one member, the majority of that body. They expressed their hearty approval for state participation. The exhibit and pavilion from Wisconsin is assured, as is shown from the fact that Mr. Thomas, the commissioner-to-be, relinquishes the secretaryship of the Senate in order to accept the office of commissioner to the Lewis and Clark Exposition. The excursion of the state officials to Oregon will, Mr. McIsaac believes, result in a benefit to this state, particularly as Wisconsin capital is greatly invested throughout Oregon in timber lands and mills.

From Madison, Mr. McIsaac proceeded to Milwaukee, Wis., to attend the meeting of the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association. The association holds its annual meeting January 12, at which time the more prominent members will urge endorsement of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. At Milwaukee also Mr. McIsaac was the guest at the annual meeting and banquet of the Citizens' Business League. He delivered an address relative to the Exposition and the trade between the Pacific Coast country and the Orient. It was truly a Pacific Coast night, the members of the league expressing an interest in the Exposition and the effect its development will have on the Nation at large. After the address an adjournment was taken in order to assemble the league passed the following resolution unanimously, the resolutions being introduced by William George Bruce, the Educational Commissioner from Wisconsin to the St. Louis Exposition, and chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic State Central Committee:

Make Strong Indorsement. "Whereas, the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition commemorates an historical event of immeasurable importance to the United States and the world, and will tend to promote the industrial and commercial growth and welfare of the North Central and Western States; therefore, be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Citizens' Business League of Milwaukee that the great and diversified interests of the State of Wisconsin should be represented in an adequate and comprehensive manner and that the Legislature be urged to make proper provision for such representation.

From Milwaukee Mr. McIsaac journeyed to Chicago, where, after much ceremony, he managed to get an interview with Governor-elect Deneen. The Governor-elect listened with interest when Mr. McIsaac explained the Oregon project, and on the Columbian Exposition in Chicago, and that the annual trade between Chicago and the Northwest amounted to something like $40,000,000. The interview ended in Deneen's agreement to incorporate in his message to the Legislature a clause recommending participation of the State of Illinois in the Lewis and Clark Exposition. It is anticipated that Illinois will not allow the neighboring State of Wisconsin to outdo the king state of the great corn belt.

Must Boom the Fair. "An excellent opportunity awaits the people of Portland and of Oregon, as well as of the entire Western country," said Mr. McIsaac. "The time to boost has come. Not that Portland has not boosters, but heretofore such men have not been kindly received by the more conservative element. In the era prior to the Exposition project the attitude of Oregon's citizens was characterized by too much reserve. Just pride in our state was conceded and the concealment did not aid us. Now we will have in the Exposition a conclusive self-demonstration of civic capacity. There will be no bad after-effects of the Exposition on the contrary, the effect will be a benefit. We will not be undone, but made."

"What we want and will have is a city of people swelling with civic pride, upon whom the mention of Portland will elicit an immediate and visible effect. We need to manifest enthusiasm and municipal patriotism. As one result of the coming Exposition, Portland should be the popular destination of a city's progress. Portland can well benefit by the experience of other Exposition cities."

Part of the Harvest. One result of the Oregon exhibit at the

TALK ABOUT COWS

Oregon Dairymen's Association Opens Annual Session.

ADDRESSES FROM EXPERTS

Ideas Presented on Care of Cows and Raising of Feed—Will Plan Participation in the Lewis and Clark Fair.

Practically every phase of the cattle-raising business came up before the Oregon Dairymen's Association meeting yesterday. There were a number of able addresses, and questions were asked of the speakers freely. An attendance of over 100 was drawn from among the prominent dairymen from all parts of the state. The meeting is the 12th annual convention of

ONLY TWO TENDERS

Quartermaster Opens Bids for Lumber for Manila.

BLOCKADE RUNNERS COMING

Tramp Steamers Reported to Have Sailed From Hong Kong for Portland—Fast Vessels for the Japanese Line.

Bids were opened yesterday by Captain Jesse M. Baker, disbursing quartermaster for supplying the department with 2,140,457 feet of lumber for shipment to Manila. The specifications called for the following quantities: Lot No. 1, 1,913,900 feet and 1, 308, 556, 250 and 480 pieces; lot No. 2, 300,000 feet; lot No. 3, 262 pieces; lot

HEAD SOLID SORE

Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. "My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away. "To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

Mrs. Wm. Rymer, Elk River, Minn. "Cure permanent." So writes Mrs. Rymer, Feb. 25, 1903, six years later: "Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back. Once or twice since then a patch has come on her hand near the wrist, but it finally disappeared after proper treatment with Cuticura."

ARTIST MURPHY VISITS DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Mr. J. West, who was dairying in Oregon when father time was young.

Business Session Today.

Today's programme will be a long one and full of interest. The morning session will begin at 9:45. The day's programme follows:

Address, "Needed Dairy Legislation." J. W. Bailey, Portland; address, "Principles of Pasture," M. Mortensen, Hazelwood, Company, Portland; paper, "Nine Years' Growth of the Tillamook Cheese Industry," F. McIntosh, Tillamook; paper, "Cream Separators," Thomas and Bennett, J. C. Robinson, Portland.

Afternoon business session—Report of secretary-treasurer, reports of committees, election of officers, paper, "The Milk Industry," Dr. J. F. Tamsieie, Hillsboro; paper, "Some Improvements in Dairy Machinery," W. H. Monroe, Portland; address, E. A. McDonald, Washington Food and Dairy Commissioner.

Deck for Warehouse. The Montgomery dock at Albina has been leased to the O. R. & N. Company for a term of years by the J. B. Montgomery estate.

ALL ABOUT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The New Year's Oregonian, that will be published on January 2 next, will contain engravings that will cover every feature of the great buildings that are now in course of erection on the Lewis and Clark Fair grounds. The illustrations of the details of these mammoth structures will be the finest results of the engraver's skill. The New Year's Oregonian will tell people from abroad just how to reach Portland, rates of fare, etc., and it will describe in detail all the features of the World's Fair that will be formally opened in Portland on June 1 next. Price of the New Year's Oregonian, to any address in the United States or Canada, postage prepaid, 10 CENTS A COPY. Address The Oregonian, Portland, Or.

when she is intent on what she is eating. Give her what she likes most to eat, and let her eat it. Then, when she has a satisfied feeling, and is in a good frame of mind, milk her and she will give plentifully and richly.

Study the Cow. "You have noticed the cow when she hears the bleat of her calf. She stops feeding and her whole mind is intent on that calf and what it is doing."

The vetch in Dr. Withycombe's pet feed he believes is better than either alfalfa or clover for cattle. Moreover it grows easily in the Willamette Valley, he said, and it enriches the land and is full of the stuff which is good for cows. Feed it generously, he advised, even though it is expensive, and the return will justify the outlay.

Dr. Withycombe's other leading point was the feeding of calves. He believes in the skimmed-milk-fed calf, weaned in 12 hours and within a week placed on a diet of skimmed milk altogether, and soon put upon solid food. Within the first few weeks the future strength and productivity of the animal is determined, he said.

In the remainder of Dr. Withycombe's speech, and during that of W. W. Cotton, who followed with an address on "Irrigation in the Willamette Valley," the question was the possibilities of alfalfa raising in the Valley. The remarks and discussions brought out the fact that alfalfa will grow in the Valley on certain soils. Mr. Cotton expressed the belief that it would not grow in alkaline soils, and that the greater portion of the Willamette Valley has too much acid.

To Neutralize Soil. Dr. Withycombe did not agree with Mr. Cotton's suggestion that lime would be a fit application to the soil to neutralize the acid, but suggested gypsum. He stated that a Corvallis alfalfa had been raised successfully and very productively on soil not treated at all. But he saw no reason for the adoption of alfalfa in this climate to which it is unnatural when "vetch" is at hand.

Mr. Cotton's chief point was to advise a method by which the low, dry Summer in the Willamette Valley could be broken by artificial means. He pointed out that where water did not have to be raised more than 50 feet a centrifugal pump operated by a two-horsepower engine, could irrigate 15 acres of land. With the aid of a storage reservoir plenty of water could be obtained from a spring or small stream. One or two irrigations a year, one in July and another in August, would keep fields of clover, alfalfa and vetch producing and supply plenty of green feed, which dairymen generally lack in the height of Summer. He suggested a long canvas hose as a means of carrying the water upon the fields.

H. E. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, suggesting in an address that the railroads were a wonderful boon to dairymen.

HEAD SOLID SORE

Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. "My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away. "To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

Mrs. Wm. Rymer, Elk River, Minn. "Cure permanent." So writes Mrs. Rymer, Feb. 25, 1903, six years later: "Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back. Once or twice since then a patch has come on her hand near the wrist, but it finally disappeared after proper treatment with Cuticura."

ARTIST MURPHY VISITS DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Mr. J. West, who was dairying in Oregon when father time was young.

Business Session Today.

Today's programme will be a long one and full of interest. The morning session will begin at 9:45. The day's programme follows:

Address, "Needed Dairy Legislation." J. W. Bailey, Portland; address, "Principles of Pasture," M. Mortensen, Hazelwood, Company, Portland; paper, "Nine Years' Growth of the Tillamook Cheese Industry," F. McIntosh, Tillamook; paper, "Cream Separators," Thomas and Bennett, J. C. Robinson, Portland.

Afternoon business session—Report of secretary-treasurer, reports of committees, election of officers, paper, "The Milk Industry," Dr. J. F. Tamsieie, Hillsboro; paper, "Some Improvements in Dairy Machinery," W. H. Monroe, Portland; address, E. A. McDonald, Washington Food and Dairy Commissioner.

Deck for Warehouse. The Montgomery dock at Albina has been leased to the O. R. & N. Company for a term of years by the J. B. Montgomery estate.

ALL ABOUT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The New Year's Oregonian, that will be published on January 2 next, will contain engravings that will cover every feature of the great buildings that are now in course of erection on the Lewis and Clark Fair grounds. The illustrations of the details of these mammoth structures will be the finest results of the engraver's skill. The New Year's Oregonian will tell people from abroad just how to reach Portland, rates of fare, etc., and it will describe in detail all the features of the World's Fair that will be formally opened in Portland on June 1 next. Price of the New Year's Oregonian, to any address in the United States or Canada, postage prepaid, 10 CENTS A COPY. Address The Oregonian, Portland, Or.

when she is intent on what she is eating. Give her what she likes most to eat, and let her eat it. Then, when she has a satisfied feeling, and is in a good frame of mind, milk her and she will give plentifully and richly.

Study the Cow. "You have noticed the cow when she hears the bleat of her calf. She stops feeding and her whole mind is intent on that calf and what it is doing."

The vetch in Dr. Withycombe's pet feed he believes is better than either alfalfa or clover for cattle. Moreover it grows easily in the Willamette Valley, he said, and it enriches the land and is full of the stuff which is good for cows. Feed it generously, he advised, even though it is expensive, and the return will justify the outlay.

Dr. Withycombe's other leading point was the feeding of calves. He believes in the skimmed-milk-fed calf, weaned in 12 hours and within a week placed on a diet of skimmed milk altogether, and soon put upon solid food. Within the first few weeks the future strength and productivity of the animal is determined, he said.

In the remainder of Dr. Withycombe's speech, and during that of W. W. Cotton, who followed with an address on "Irrigation in the Willamette Valley," the question was the possibilities of alfalfa raising in the Valley. The remarks and discussions brought out the fact that alfalfa will grow in the Valley on certain soils. Mr. Cotton expressed the belief that it would not grow in alkaline soils, and that the greater portion of the Willamette Valley has too much acid.

To Neutralize Soil. Dr. Withycombe did not agree with Mr. Cotton's suggestion that lime would be a fit application to the soil to neutralize the acid, but suggested gypsum. He stated that a Corvallis alfalfa had been raised successfully and very productively on soil not treated at all. But he saw no reason for the adoption of alfalfa in this climate to which it is unnatural when "vetch" is at hand.

Mr. Cotton's chief point was to advise a method by which the low, dry Summer in the Willamette Valley could be broken by artificial means. He pointed out that where water did not have to be raised more than 50 feet a centrifugal pump operated by a two-horsepower engine, could irrigate 15 acres of land. With the aid of a storage reservoir plenty of water could be obtained from a spring or small stream. One or two irrigations a year, one in July and another in August, would keep fields of clover, alfalfa and vetch producing and supply plenty of green feed, which dairymen generally lack in the height of Summer. He suggested a long canvas hose as a means of carrying the water upon the fields.

H. E. Lounsbury, traveling freight agent of the Southern Pacific Company, suggesting in an address that the railroads were a wonderful boon to dairymen.

ONLY TWO TENDERS

Quartermaster Opens Bids for Lumber for Manila.

BLOCKADE RUNNERS COMING

Tramp Steamers Reported to Have Sailed From Hong Kong for Portland—Fast Vessels for the Japanese Line.

Bids were opened yesterday by Captain Jesse M. Baker, disbursing quartermaster for supplying the department with 2,140,457 feet of lumber for shipment to Manila. The specifications called for the following quantities: Lot No. 1, 1,913,900 feet and 1, 308, 556, 250 and 480 pieces; lot No. 2, 300,000 feet; lot No. 3, 262 pieces; lot

HEAD SOLID SORE

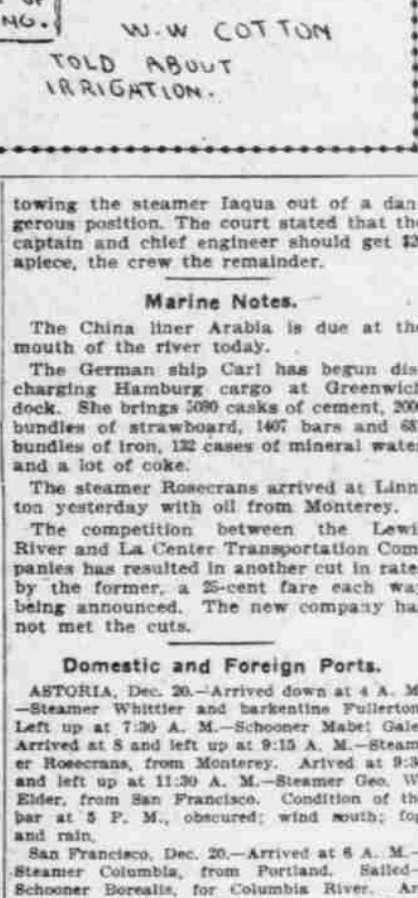

Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. "My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away. "To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

Mrs. Wm. Rymer, Elk River, Minn. "Cure permanent." So writes Mrs. Rymer, Feb. 25, 1903, six years later: "Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back. Once or twice since then a patch has come on her hand near the wrist, but it finally disappeared after proper treatment with Cuticura."

ARTIST MURPHY VISITS DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Mr. J. West, who was dairying in Oregon when father time was young.

Business Session Today.

Today's programme will be a long one and full of interest. The morning session will begin at 9:45. The day's programme follows:

Address, "Needed Dairy Legislation." J. W. Bailey, Portland; address, "Principles of Pasture," M. Mortensen, Hazelwood, Company, Portland; paper, "Nine Years' Growth of the Tillamook Cheese Industry," F. McIntosh, Tillamook; paper, "Cream Separators," Thomas and Bennett, J. C. Robinson, Portland.

Afternoon business session—Report of secretary-treasurer, reports of committees, election of officers, paper, "The Milk Industry," Dr. J. F. Tamsieie, Hillsboro; paper, "Some Improvements in Dairy Machinery," W. H. Monroe, Portland; address, E. A. McDonald, Washington Food and Dairy Commissioner.

Deck for Warehouse. The Montgomery dock at Albina has been leased to the O. R. & N. Company for a term of years by the J. B. Montgomery estate.

ALL ABOUT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The New Year's Oregonian, that will be published on January 2 next, will contain engravings that will cover every feature of the great buildings that are now in course of erection on the Lewis and Clark Fair grounds. The illustrations of the details of these mammoth structures will be the finest results of the engraver's skill. The New Year's Oregonian will tell people from abroad just how to reach Portland, rates of fare, etc., and it will describe in detail all the features of the World's Fair that will be formally opened in Portland on June 1 next. Price of the New Year's Oregonian, to any address in the United States or Canada, postage prepaid, 10 CENTS A COPY. Address The Oregonian, Portland, Or.

when she is intent on what she is eating. Give her what she likes most to eat, and let her eat it. Then, when she has a satisfied feeling, and is in a good frame of mind, milk her and she will give plentifully and richly.

Study the Cow. "You have noticed the cow when she hears the bleat of her calf. She stops feeding and her whole mind is intent on that calf and what it is doing."

The vetch in Dr. Withycombe's pet feed he believes is better than either alfalfa or clover for cattle. Moreover it grows easily in the Willamette Valley, he said, and it enriches the land and is full of the stuff which is good for cows. Feed it generously, he advised, even though it is expensive, and the return will justify the outlay.

ONLY TWO TENDERS

Quartermaster Opens Bids for Lumber for Manila.

BLOCKADE RUNNERS COMING

Tramp Steamers Reported to Have Sailed From Hong Kong for Portland—Fast Vessels for the Japanese Line.

Bids were opened yesterday by Captain Jesse M. Baker, disbursing quartermaster for supplying the department with 2,140,457 feet of lumber for shipment to Manila. The specifications called for the following quantities: Lot No. 1, 1,913,900 feet and 1, 308, 556, 250 and 480 pieces; lot No. 2, 300,000 feet; lot No. 3, 262 pieces; lot

HEAD SOLID SORE

Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother.

CURED BY CUTICURA

Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease, eczema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. "My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away. "To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

Mrs. Wm. Rymer, Elk River, Minn. "Cure permanent." So writes Mrs. Rymer, Feb. 25, 1903, six years later: "Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back. Once or twice since then a patch has come on her hand near the wrist, but it finally disappeared after proper treatment with Cuticura."

ARTIST MURPHY VISITS DAIRYMEN'S MEETING

Mr. J. West, who was dairying in Oregon when father time was young.

Business Session Today.

Today's programme will be a long one and full of interest. The morning session will begin at 9:45. The day's programme follows:

Address, "Needed Dairy Legislation." J. W. Bailey, Portland; address, "Principles of Pasture," M. Mortensen, Hazelwood, Company, Portland; paper, "Nine Years' Growth of the Tillamook Cheese Industry," F. McIntosh, Tillamook; paper, "Cream Separators," Thomas and Bennett, J. C. Robinson, Portland.

Afternoon business session—Report of secretary-treasurer, reports of committees, election of officers, paper, "The Milk Industry," Dr. J. F. Tamsieie, Hillsboro; paper, "Some Improvements in Dairy Machinery," W. H. Monroe, Portland; address, E. A. McDonald, Washington Food and Dairy Commissioner.

Deck for Warehouse. The Montgomery dock at Albina has been leased to the O. R. & N. Company for a term of years by the J. B. Montgomery estate.

ALL ABOUT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The New Year's Oregonian, that will be published on January 2 next, will contain engravings that will cover every feature of the great buildings that are now in course of erection on the Lewis and Clark Fair grounds. The illustrations of the details of these mammoth structures will be the finest results of the engraver's skill. The New Year's Oregonian will tell people from abroad just how to reach Portland, rates of fare, etc., and it will describe in detail all the features of the World's Fair that will be formally opened in Portland on June 1 next. Price of the New Year's Oregonian, to any address in the United States or Canada, postage prepaid, 10 CENTS A COPY. Address The Oregonian, Portland, Or.

when she is intent on what she is eating. Give her what she likes most to eat, and let her eat it. Then, when she has a satisfied feeling, and is in a good frame of mind, milk her and she will give plentifully and richly.

Study the Cow. "You have noticed the cow when she hears the bleat of her calf. She stops feeding and her whole mind is intent on that calf and what it is doing."

The vetch in Dr. Withycombe's pet feed he believes is better than either alfalfa or clover for cattle. Moreover it grows easily in the Willamette Valley, he said, and it enriches the land and is full of the stuff which is good for cows. Feed it generously, he advised, even though it is expensive, and the return will justify the outlay.

Advertisement for Hunter Baltimore Rye, featuring a bottle illustration and text describing its quality and availability.

Advertisement for Boston Painless Dentists, featuring a logo and text about dental services.

Advertisement for Scott's Emulsion, featuring a logo and text about its benefits for health.

Advertisement for Dr. Withycombe's Pet Feed, featuring a logo and text about its nutritional value for cows.

Advertisement for the Oregonian newspaper, featuring a logo and text about its content and subscription information.

Advertisement for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, featuring a logo and text about the event and its location.

Advertisement for the Citizens' Business League, featuring a logo and text about its mission and activities.

Advertisement for the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Oregon Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, featuring a logo and text about its location and dates.

Advertisement for the Citizens' Business League, featuring a logo and text about its mission and activities.

Advertisement for the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Oregon Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, featuring a logo and text about its location and dates.

Advertisement for the Citizens' Business League, featuring a logo and text about its mission and activities.

Advertisement for the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Oregon Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, featuring a logo and text about its location and dates.

Advertisement for the Citizens' Business League, featuring a logo and text about its mission and activities.

Advertisement for the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Oregon Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Lewis and Clark Exposition, featuring a logo and text about its location and dates.

Advertisement for the Citizens' Business League, featuring a logo and text about its mission and activities.

Advertisement for the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.

Advertisement for the Oregon Dairymen's Association, featuring a logo and text about its annual session.