Tricked out in its smartest musical-show finery. "A Chinese Honeymoon" came to the Marquam last night for the second time within a year. This is one of the largest and most gorgeous produc-tions which visits the Coast, and it left such a favorable impression when it was here last Winter that a large audience was out last night at the opening of its return engagement.

Of all the notable cast which appeared here before in the piece, not one member remains. Even the show girls seem to be new, and apparently no one of the old chorus is left. The costumes and scenery are the same, however, the book and lyrics are intact, with an interpolation or two, and the music, the catchy, delightful melodies which kept London and New York coming for months, is all there.

"A Chinese Honeymoon" is a comic opera, and a good one. Its settings and atmosphere are almost as Oriental as "The Mikado," and the score is full of The best thing in last night's perform ance of it was the opening chorus of the second act, "With Weary Hearts," sung by Eveleen Dunmore, as Soo Soo, and the ensemble. Miss Dunmore possesses the prize voice of the organization. In fact, she is the only one of the women who is vocally superior, but she is good enough to make amends for deficiencies on the part of others. Last year's company had no such voice in it.

John E. Kearney was seen as "Pineap-ple," in which part John E. Henshaw appeared to such fine advantage during the former visit. Mr. Kearney made the part very funny, although he is no such comedian as his prodecessor.

Toby Claude was the XXX feature of the show last year, and we missed her greatly last night. Georgia Bryton appeared as "FI FI," the diminutive freak waltress, and won great favor with the audience, in spite of the fact that she was expected to break even on the comedy proposition with the great, little Miss

The "Emperor Hong Chow" is entrusted to George B. Broderick this year, and I rather prefer his singing and acting of the part to that of George Fortescue, who did it here before. Broderick is a most interesting and benign giant, and is the owner of a magnificent bass voice.

The important role of Mrs. Pincapple is a section of the control of the assigned to Regina McAvoy, who is a good-looking young person, with much dancing ability. Mabelia Baker plays the official mother-in-law very well One of the most delightful things in the performance was the interpolated song "Colong Li," as given by a young woman whose name does not appear on the programme, and the chorus. The song is the work of Joseph E. Miller, who played "Chippie Chop," and Edward Howe, musical director of the company. It's a gem, and ought to become very popular. The company is large and, as a whole, competent. Its members work hard, and are successful in making "A Chinese A number of artists and people interested in the development of art in Portiand have held several excilminary meetings, which have resulted in the formation of the Portland Art Union. Who the parties are or what the nature of the offer is President Donaugh does not announce, but he says a genuine offer has come to Sellwood to build a woolen mill on old site.
