GREAT JOY IN JAPAN.

Believed That the Fortress Will Soon Be Capitulated.

TOKIO, Jan. 2 (10:30 A. M.) .- General Nogi's telegram announcing that General Stoessel was prepared to discuss terms of capitulation reached Tokio early this morning, but was not made public until 10 o'clock. Its receipt sent a thrill of pleasure through the officials, who have long awaited such a communication. The news is just reaching the general public, and it is expected that the day will bring ample evidences of popular joy. Besides the barest announcement of the

Besides the barest announcement of the receipt of General Nogi's telegram nothing is known about the terms or conditions proposed. The fall of Wantal, popularly known as Signal Hill, following the loss of Riblung, Sungshu, "H" fort and now Panlung, is regarded here as a clear indication that the Port Arthur garrison has lost its power of serious resistance. The facts do not reveal it, but it is probable that the back of the Russian defense was broken when 202-Meter Hill was captured.

The Russians desperately sought to retake that eminence and sent infantry and marines against it in a series of counter attacks, fruitlessly los ing thousands of men. The absolute necessity of a sea power

The absolute necessity of a sea power is one of Russia's latest lessons of the present war, and with practically the complete detruction of the Port Arthur fleet the government is determined not only on filling the gap but on building up a fleet which will keep Russia fully abreast of other first-class powers. The press has unanimously supported the plans for the regeneration and reorganization of the navy, and to this end it has been determined to build up great ship-yards at home.

The figures given, however, are not confirmed. The Russ, December 30, speculated upon a five-year programme with an expenditure of $35,000,000, and on December 3 upon a 15-year programme and

A unique observance of New Year's day was the distribution broadcast in the city by personal delivery to passers by, in private letterboxes in salcons, etc., of 20,000 white cards inscribed simply in glaring red type, "Get right with God." TIMES IN A PALACE.

Great New York Newspaper Moves Into Specially-Constructed Quarters.

NEW YORK, Jan. 1.- The New York Times tonight is being moved into its new building in Times Square, a structure which has been referred to by experts as one of the notable architectural triumphs of the world. In recognition of this contribution to the architectural beauty of New York, the city govern-ment some time ago named the district from Forty-second street north for seven blocks along Broadway and Seventh avenue, Times Square and the Subway station, in the basement of the building, bears the same title.

bears the same litle.

The occupancy of the new building by the New York Times began at midnight last night, and the occasion was celebrated by an elaborate display of freworks from the observatory of the building, more than 400 feet above Broadway.

The moving, including the 20 linotype machines, brought from Park Row to the Times Square, over a distance of three miles, began after midnight. A force of 150 expert machinists accomplished the work without the slightest hitch or delay and tonight the machines were setting up the paper that did similar work 15 hours earlier three miles away. In a special edition, published today to celebrate the occupancy of the building, there is an elaborate description of its construction and equipment. Among the features mentioned in this edition is that, the building is the tailest structure, from base to top being il stories, with an extreme height of 176 feet; that a new record in steel tonnage has been made in its construction, as it contains a larger percentage of steel to cubical contents than any other office building, having at the same time the strongest and stiffest steel frame structure of similar dimensions ever erected. It contains a 30-ton girder, the largest in any office building, and in its construction 80,000 field driven rivets were used. A 50-foot railway runs obliquely through its base-building, and in its construction 80,000 field driven rivets were used. A 50-foot railway runs obliquely through its basement without contact at any point.

The presses are located 55 feet below the level of the street, while the paper is written and set up from the 18th to the 18th foors. The press plant has a capacity of 14,000 18-page papers every hour, and provision has been made to increase this capacity to 42,000 papers per hour.

The foundations of the present completed building were laid in June, 1902, and since then 290 days were lost by strikes and 25 days by bad weather.
