

POLICE MAKE RAID

Chinese Lottery Joint Is Found by Police.

HEATHENS CAUGHT NAPPING

Lively Business Being Done in First-Street Lottery Dive When Officers Get In—Seize Tickets of Ten Companies.

Within three blocks of the Multnomah County Courthouse, one of the most spectacular raids ever made on a Chinese lottery by the Portland police occurred at 9 o'clock last night, when police officers took captive five white men and one negro, seized tickets representing ten companies and in the patrol wagon took the whole outfit to the Police Station.

As published in The Oregonian two weeks ago, numerous lottery games have long been running in Chinatown. Captain of Police Moore and Sergeant Hogeboom, commanding the first relief, have been working hard to run down some of the games, but not until last night were they able to locate any of the establishments where drawings were being conducted. Evidence was conclusive this time, however, and the raid was the most successful made within a year. Not only were Sergeant Hogeboom and Patrolman Thompson able to arrest the proprietor and some of the visitors, but they were successful in the seizure of the bundles of tickets, representing ten lottery companies.

Head Chink Gets Bail. Ding Wing, booked as the proprietor of the lottery establishment, was the only one arrested who was released. Upon the request of Attorney James Gleason, acting for Hang Wah, Municipal Judge Hogue fixed bail at $100. This was furnished immediately, and he was released. The six men arrested as visitors to the place were forced to spend the night in jail.

As previously published, the lottery games have been running on a principle that until last night defied the efforts of the police to collect evidence sufficient to warrant arrests. Although it was known to be a fact that lotteries to the number of 14 were running, and some of the proprietors were known, the system followed by the Chinese in selling tickets and in conducting the drawings was so secret that it seemed impossible to effect a capture.

After many nights of faithful effort, close watching of stores in Chinatown and collecting of pieces of evidence, Sergeant Hogeboom, acting under instructions from Captain Moore, located the establishment run by Ding Wing. Patrolman Thompson was stationed at the back door to cut off escape there. In disguise, Sergeant Hogeboom entered through a tailor shop at 226 First street. It was the last place in all the district to be suspected of being a place where the Chinese companies gathered to make drawings.

Officer Gets Inside. Without looking concerned, Sergeant Hogeboom walked along the hallway leading beyond the tailor shop, and to a closed door in the rear of the building. He rapped lightly. There was no response, but the babble of voices within proved his suspicions correct. He rapped again and again. At last Ding Wing opened the door and saw the sergeant. He recognized him and attempted to slam the door, but Hogeboom squeezed in and declared the whole crowd under arrest.

Intense excitement prevailed, for at that time Patrolman Thompson came in through the rear door, and there was no way of escape for any of those caught in the trap. Hang Wah made a desperate effort to hide the large bundles of tickets, but failed, and all persons and the evidence were carried off to jail.

The tickets seized represented companies as follows: L. K. New Lee, Lee Tai, New Wo, Hang Wah, Sing Lee, Oregon and 1, 2 and 4, marked membership association. The bunch of winners showed one man had won $53. Others had won from $5 up to $33, aggregating several thousands of dollars.

Those arrested gave their names as C. Ritter, Tom Smith, L. Klerer, L. D. Lamroux, H. Topel and Peter Hiet.

CLUB SUGGESTS CHANGES

Commercial Organization of St. Johns Wrestles With New Charter.

The Commercial Club of St. Johns wrestled with the new charter for that city at the meeting Wednesday evening until a late hour. A number of changes were made, the most important being the cutting out of the civil service provisions in the section providing for civil service.

The club made several other changes. The charter will go before a public meeting of the citizens of St. Johns next Monday night in Bickner Hall, under the auspices of the Council. It will then be decided whether the changes suggested by the Commercial Club shall be adopted and whether or not other and more radical changes shall be made.

Following are the new officers of the Commercial Club: President, A. S. Douglas; vice-president, Richard Sheppard; secretary, J. C. Cronin; T. J. Monahan, treasurer. The banquet has been postponed until February. The Commercial Club has 50 active members and will have a strong influence in shaping the policy of the new city.

ROMANCE IN LATER LIFE

W. D. Black and Mrs. Christina Gruner Joined in Wedlock.

A romance of old age has come into the lives of W. D. Black, aged 66, and Mrs. Christina Gruner, aged 65, and they have been married. It is not the usual case of long friendship. It is not that they both feel they have lived beyond their generation and have lost all their friends but each other. They have known each other only about six months. They do not feel old at almost three-score years and ten and have not altogether lost the romance of youth. Mrs. Black was the widow of George J. Gruner and has lived for many years on the East Side. W. D. Black is the father of Rev. Father J. H. Black, of St. Francis Church. The marriage took place Wednesday.

Tract Sold for $30,000.

A tract of 62 acres, lying south of St. Johns, has been purchased by the Title Guarantee & Trust Company for $30,000 to lay out in city lots. The tract has been owned by a syndicate of people who purchased it originally for the same purpose. It has remained almost intact for a number of years, however. Lately there has been considerable activity in the neighborhood in the way of manufacturing. The tract lies directly back of the drydock.
