Governor Peabody Announces Purpose.

FRAUD WAS MANIFEST

Anarchy of Ballot-Box Stuffer Equal to That of Dynamiter and He Will Drive Both From the State.

In a statement to the public issued to-night, Governor Peabody says:

against the loyalty to the constitution and to the best interests of the state of those who desire the unstifling and betterment of the commonwealth. "We have now adopted the very line of action which those seeking to conceal the truth regarding the fraude and outrages of the recent election have emphatically declared to be constitutional. All I desire is the truth, and that the people shall

I refuse to believe that the best interests of Colorado can be subserved by quietly submitting to an alleged adverse majority which even a partial investigation has already unclosed to be but a myth-a travesty upon a republican form of goverument, an insult to the intelligence of the public and a brazen, open and desperate attack on the perpetuity of our institutions and the purity of our elective franchise. For myself, I desire no office tained with fraud.

"The anarchy of the ballot-box stuffer is as far-reaching as the anarchy of the dynamiter, and I shall continue my fight to eradicate both from the confines of Colorado. Respectfully, "JAMES H. PEABODY."

The opinion was by Justice McKenna, who held that the words "domestic purposes" included the roasting of ore and that the mining company was entitled to cut timber on the public land for that purpose.

Inasmuch as the two appointments are not effective until April, Governor Peabody had no legal right to name them, but should allow Governor Adams to select them. An effort will probably be made at some later time to induce Governor Adams to appoint two men in place of Goddard and Balley. The appointments confirmed today will make the political complexion of the court seven Republicans and two Democrais. The inauguration of Governor Adams tomorrow will be the simplest. There will, by the request of the Governor-elect, be no military display, and it is believed that the entire ceremony will last but a few minutes.
