The attendance was not extremely large, but all the men there were practical fruit growers and represented the largest interests of the kind in the state.

several choice varieties of apples have been sent by James Gartrell, from the Okanogan, country, in British Columbia. Hood River and Marion Counties also have aone fine speciments of apples shown. John Minto produced several good winter apples which were grown on wild crab-apple stock, grafted with scions sent out from the East in 183 and pound pears from trees grafted upon wild thorn stock at the same time. No better fruit was displayed than these. was displayed than these,

Address by President Cardwell.

Dr. J. E. Cardwell, president of the Boctety, delivered a long and interesting address on the historical facts regarding fruit culture, a subject which has never received such full treatment before. It was especially interesting as some of the men who had most to do with early fruit culture in this state were present it takes years to produce fruit orchards and in the business for years and have been in the business for years and have seen at its best and worst. They are neces-sarily progressive, however, and by their enterprise, as shown by Dr. Cardwell's paper, they have made a great deal of in times past and have a similar Actione before them. A close parallel to Dr. Cardwell's paper was an address delivered by John Minto, long known as the Seer of the Waldo long known as the Seer of the Waldo Hills, and a fruitgrower in that section since he was a pioneer. He spoke of his own experiences and it was plain that the course of the fruit industry has been ex-tremely prosperous in Oregon and that of the orchardists happier than most. Dr. G. E. Shaw, of the University of California, told of the fruitgrowers' asso-ciations in California and gave proof of their benefits in obtaining better prices for the output, in advertising the industry and eradicating fruit pests. This is a Playgoers in this city will be pleased to learn that a return engagement is to be played here by White Whitlesey, the young romainile actor, who created so profound an impression when he was seen here a few months ago. Whitlesey and his superb supporting company will be the attraction at the Marquam Grand Theater, next Monday. Toesday and Wednesday evenings. On Monday and Theater, next Monday. Toesday and Theater, will be presented in the thrilling American drama. "Soldlers of Fortune." written by the famous dra-matist, Augustus Thomas. On Wednesday night of next week, Whittlesey will, by general request, be seen in the English military play. "The Second in Command." The keen pleasure enjoyed by those who aw White Whittlesey when he was here Playgoers in this city will be pleased to and white Whitesey when he was here last year, will undoubtedly result in crowded houses greeting the clever young romantic actor on his return engagement. A magnificent scenic production of "Bol-diers of Fortune" is assured. The advance sale of seats will open Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

Baume's Farewell Week. Next week the Columbia Stock Com-pany will present Bolasco and DeMille a famous society drama. "The Wile." It will be the farewell week of Edgar aymposium for the exchange of ideas on horticulture to lift the plane of knowi-edge on the subject and a conference where guestians could be asked. Several interesting papers have been read and a number more are to come today. Small but select exhibits of fruit have everal choice varieties of Oregon and Trained Dogs at the Grand.

Animal training is always interesting but when they are brought up to show but when they are brought up to show almost human intelligence it becomes in-structive as well. This can truly be said of Concer's dog show, for the animals are exceptional. McCormick, as a ven-triloquist gives an act that is new in that line, and more than elever. Johnny Rigge does very thrilling feats on the trapeze. He is the most during in that line that the Grand has ever had. The seven other numbers on the bill are fully equal. In-cluded in the bill is a very sweet and well-pictured melody by Charles K. Har-ris, entitled "Why Don't They Play With Me?" and sung by Alf Bonner. A race for a kiss between a high-spirited horse and an automobile is unusually exciting on the moving-picture machine.

Fun at the Baker.

"The funniest act in vaudeville." That's what the burlesque, "Dramatic School," which the New York Comedy Four are presenting this week at the Raker, is voted. More of the big fun feast is contributed by the three Americans in their hilarious sketch, "Hotel Topsy-Turvy." Tint Welch, the popular comedian, is also on the bill this week. Mabel Maitland, the dancer, is ideally graceful, and the yodel-ing of Jeannette Marshall is beautiful and unique. Gytteres brothers are justiy celebrated musical artists, and John Wood's illustrated song, "Taps," is delightful. The biograph has interesting plctures.

Arcade in High Favor.

The Arcade Theater this week is in high favor, with Dalton and Lewis as chief purveyors of fun. Dalton is a lively clogdancer, and his pretty companion dances the Highland fling vivaciously. The audi-ences are then convulsed with Dalton's imitations. Shoenwerk, the magician, is the cleverest manipulator of coins yet to appear in vaudeville, and he makes money appear in the most unexpected places. The other acts are all high class and round out a merry bill.

Prince at the Lyric.

Prince Goto, the exiled Japanese noble man, who has adopted the vaudeville stage, is appearing at the Lyric this week and creating a sensation with his mar-velous juggling. The three Norwoods introduce a triple-bar act which surpasses anything ever seen here before in that line. Thomas W. Ray sings a beautiful illustrated ballad; the Russell Trio have a delightful playlet entitled, "The Burg-har's Daughter": Walker is a funny "rube" impersonator, and the vitascope THE MORNING OREGONIAN, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 11, 1905.

That official is not sizephus these days, but is watching every movement of the mysterious craft. His agents can often be seen on the dock where the Olympia is lying. They ask no questions, but seem to be aware of everything that is going Mr. Alba had little to say when asked about the Olympia yesterday. "I under-stand the steamer is going to Vladivos-tok," he said. "but I cannot prevent that. She can go to a Russian port or any-where else she likes." The Consul's sole connection with the matter will be the watching of the vessel's doings and the reporting of it to his superior.

TIE-CUTTING IS RESUMED.

Sawmills of Eastern Multnomah and Clackamas Begin Work.

GRESHAM, Or., Jan. 10.-(Special)-Tie-cutting has been resumed by the sawmills of Eastern Multnomah and Clackamas Countles, and the products are being delivered at Troutdale again after an en-forced suspension of over six months. The ties are now being cut one inch long-er than formerly, the new size being 725 inches. As a consequence the haulers cannot take as many ties at a load as they did before and the price of hauling is but seven cents a piece. An average load is 46 ties and but one trip can be made in a day. The mills get 25 cents each for the ties at Troutdale, which is a low price, but wages have been re-duced. The best paid men get only $1.75 a day, without board.

A Hidden Slaughter House.

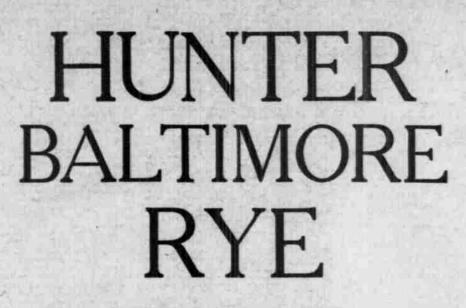

In a thick grove of fir trees, on the O. R. & N Company's land near Gravelly Butte, a hidden slaughter house has been discovereed which gives indications of being a place where many missing cat-tle have been butchered during the past two years. During that period over thirty cows have been missed between the Sandy and Mt. Tabor, all of which were probably stolen. The discoverey of the slaughteering place was made by a man hving on the Barr road who lost two cows about two weeks ago. He found the place while looking for his cows and saw evidencess of many cattle having been killed there, some recently. A windlass had been erected for stringing up beeves, had been crected for stringing up beeves, but there is no road to the spot only a blind trail through the brush. It was ne-cessary for the butchers to carry their beef out to the main road where it could be loaded on wagons. The finder of the place made his discovery public and oper-ations have ceased, which may save many farmers their catile in the future.

What the Press Agents Say.

INDORSES "THE HOLY CITY."

A Minister's Comment on the Columbia Theater Production.

The fellowing letter from Rev. Robert Hope tells most forcibly the impression made by "The Holy City," the play run-ning this week at the Columbia Theater:

Ming this week at the Columbia Theater: All Saluts Bectory, Pertiand, Or., Jan. 9, 1960-Dear Mr. Ballard. Please accept my hearty congratulations. Your presentation of 'The Holy City' is superb. Your cast throughout the wonderful drama is system-sile and reverent, and your crowded house yesterday afternoon fully reciprocated the spirit of your people. It is a real successor to "Charley's Aunt"; in fact, with the two princ characters played by Dutch comedians, the laughs are continuous from the rise until the fall of the curtais.

"THE TWO LITTLE WAIFS."

Stirring Drama Opens Tomorrow at the Empire Theater.

Lincoln J. Carter's great melo-dramatic treat entitled "The Two Little Waife," will be seen at the Empire Theater tomorrow, Friday and Saturday nights and Saturday matince.

Due to the principal features of the performance is the acting of the James i children, who have the title role. From the start they elicit as intense sympa-thy from the audience by their intelli-gent conduct. The story is one of double-dealing, heart breakings, ad-versity and final happingss. It takes five interesting acts to put all the characters through their parts, and these five acts are made abundantly pleasing by scenic effects that are up to Mr. Carters standard.
