Three charges of nitroglycerine were used and were applied in a way that showed that the cracksmen thoroughly underatood the locks they were working on. After blowing open the doors of the fre-proof vault, theny entered the warehouse of Watrous & Co., next door, and obtained sacks of potatoes, beans and salt, which they packed around the safe to deaden the seemed of the explosion. The outer part of the safe door was blown off and another charge would have given access to the interior, but the robbers evidently became frightened and fled. The damage was covered by insurance.

An iron bar stampede "S. P." was used, which the burglers had probably taken near the depot, when entering town. Bariller in the night some one entered the store of J. D. Fierce Argument Grows Out of Impeachment.

DID LAMAR ADVISE MURDER?

Littlefield Arouses Ire of Florida Congressman by Queting Interview to Prove He Did-Appeal to Be Given in Cases.

WASHINGTON, Jan. iz.—The House of Representatives today devoted its entire session to the discussion of impeachment charges against Judge Charles Swayne of the Northern district of Florida. A dramatic incident occurred when Littlefield of Maine, called on Lamar of Florida, who filed the charges against the Judge to admit or repudiate an alleged interview which, the former said, tended to incite the people to commit an act of violence against Judge Swayne-Lamar admitted giving an interview, but emphatically denied any suggestion from emphatically denied any suggestion from him that could be construed into advising him that could be construed into advising assassination or murder.

Palmer (Rep. Pa.) chairman of the committee of seven appointed by the Speaker to prepare the case against Judge Swayne, explained the charge. He defined what constituted impeachable offenses and said a Judge could be impeached for any misbehavior. Palmer evoked loud applause when he declared his intention to introduce a bill to give every man punished for contempt the right to appeal to some higher court.

Court Reeked With Scandal Judge Swayne's Court, he said, was seking with bankruptcies, scandals suicides, and he did not believe the Judge had a friend in the district.) He violently deciared that the statements that other judges than Swayne had charged ten dollars a day for expenses charged ten dollars a day for expenses was a slander on the judiciary of the United States. "There is not." he said, "a syllable of testimony in this tecord or anywhere on earth that any judge ever did this thing but Judge Swayne." Littlefield of Maine said he feit it his duty to give to the House what the record showed and what it did not show. He then anatesat the evidence in the Littlefield quoted from the interview, in which Lamar is alleged to have said that the people of Flordia had stood Judge Swayne just about as long as they could and that he was going to tell Congress that, if some action were not taken to relieve the people of Florida of him, Judge Swayne's life would be endangered.

Lamar said that any language imputing to him the statement that Judge Swayne's life was in danger was absolutely incorrect, but he said that, if the proceedings in the House terminated in nothing, it would be because the public did not understand things in Florida; that he looked upon Judge Swayne "as utterly corrupt and utterly tyrannical, and the most jawless man in the State of Florida."

SAYS PROMISE IS BROKEN

BAILEY ALLEGES BAD FAITH BY SHIP SUBSIDY MEN.

Commission's Report Calls Forth De bate in Senate-Republicans Not All in Favor of Report.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12-The legis

ative, executive and judicial bill was day read at length in the Senate, and civil Service question and the provision for an investigation of foreign trade conditions by the Department of Commerce. The bill for the merchant marine was reported to the Senale, and Bailey made the point that the Commission had been pledged to report in favor of discriminating duties and not in favor of ship subsidies. The suggestion was combated by Senators Gallinger and Lodge, who were members of the Commission.

Gallinger, from the committee on commerce, reported back the Merchant Marine Commission's ship subsidy bill, and said that the committee would file the rereport of the Commission as its own. Berry stated that a minority of the committee opposed a favorable report.

In making his report to the Senate Gallinger used the majority report submitted by the Merchant Marine Commission, A minority report will be made by Senator Mailory, in the form of the minority report of the Commission, which, it is said, will be signed by all of the Democratic members of the committee accept Senator Martin, who was a member of the Commission today Senator Martin said he was not ready to subscribe absolutely to the views of the majority, nor did he want to commit himself to the minority report.

No rolicali was had in the committee on for an investigation of foreign trade con

No rollcall was had in the committee on the subject of reporting the bill, and therefore the trend of the discussion is the only record of the attitude of the Re-publican members. It is understood, how-ever, that no Republican Senator took so positive a stand against reporting the bill as would cause him to support the minor-ity views.

as would cause him to support the minority views.

The bill, as reported by the Commission, was only amended in one important particular by the Commerce Commission. An increased mail subvention was authorized for the proposed new route from a port on the Pacific Coast to Hawall, Japan and China and the Philippines. For a monthly service the subvention was increased from $300,000 to $400,000, and for a fortnightly service from $600,000 to $800, 000. Members of the committee feared oon. Members of the comment that the subvention proposed by the Com mission was insufficient to attract bid-ders for the contract. Bulley asked if the bill proposed a direct subsidy, and Mr. Gallinger replied direct subsidy, and Mr. Gallinger replied that it provided for certain subventions to ships when their owners meet the requirments prescribed. Bailey stated that this provision was contrary to the understanding when the resolution providing for the appointment of the Merchant Marine Commission was adopted. "When unanimous consent for the consideration of that measure was asked," he said, "I objected and was induced to withdraw my objection on the promise of such an agreement.

"If I had known of such an understanding." he said, "I should not have accepted a place on the Commission, because I would not have undertaken the work with the bards that would not have undertagen the work with my hands tied. No bearings would have been necessary with that pledge out. It would have been most extraordinary, not to say preposterous."
"There would have been no Commis-sion," responded Balley, "If the promise had not been made. The record will show that the colloguy occurred as I baye indi-cated."

Bally read from the Congressional Record a colloquy between himself and Frye at the time the resolution providing for a Merchant Marine Commission was passed. It showed that Balley had withdrawn his objection to the bill because Frye expressed the opinion that the work of the Commission would result "in a provision for a discrimination in duties." Lodge said the statement by Frye was merely the expression of a personal opinion and that there would be as much opportunity for retaliation under a tonnag tax system, such as has been recommended, as under a system of discriminating

The legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill was then taken up. In connection with a paragraph adding to the classified service a number of laborers employed as clerks, a discussion of the Civil Service was participated in by Gorman, Cullom, Allieon, Stewart and others.

Gorman complained of such legislation as unfair to persons who have taken the Civil Service examination. He asserted that this was the most expensive Gov-ernment in the world, which, he said, was due to the appropriation of money in lump sums to be expended at the discre-tion of the executive departments. He traced the treasury deficit to this source.
Gorman also criticized the amendment appropriating $20,000 to permit the Department of Commerce to send agents abroad to investigate trade conditions, saying the department had more than it could do in this country. The provision was amended so as to limit the pay of agents to $10 per day and actual traveling expenses. Foreker's bill requiring the labeling of carriages occupied by Government offi-cials other than Cabinet officers was stricken out. Berry made a point of order against the amendment increasing the sciaries of the members of the Civil Service Commission from $5500 to $4000, but, pending its dis-cussion the Senate, at 4:15 P. M., ad-
