SHARP DECLINE AT LIVERPOOL.

Causes Streak in Opening of Chicago Wheat

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Sentiment in the wheat pit throughout the entire season was bearish. At the opening May was off %6% to %6%, at $1.10%61.10%. The initial weakness was due largely to a sharp decline at Liverpool, resulting from bearish reports as to crops in Argentina. Another factor, however, which had considerable influence was the well-protected condition of Winter wheat in the United States, reports from the West and Southwest being unanimous in the assertion that the heavy snow of the past 48 hours would be a great benefit to the crop. A rumor that a cargo of California wheat had been refused in Europe and ordered sent back to America was an additional source of discomfort to the bulls. About the only item of builtsh tenor was the continued light receipts in the Northwest. After trading was well under way, the market railled somewhat on fairly liberal purchases by CHICAGO, Jan. 18.-Sentiment in the wheat After trading was well under way, the market railled somewhat or fairly liberal purchases by a leader of the longs. May advanced to $1.105,95.165. When this support was withdrawn, the market rielded to the general bearinhess. May dropping to $1.165, Some recovery was made on resewed buying by the same operator, but the market closed easy Final quotations on May were at $1.105.00 1100. a net loss of Sec.

Small receipts and light country acceptances furnished the incentive of fair huying of corn by commission houses, resulting in a firm marker. May closed 168% higher at 4450

Oranges Selling at an Unusually Low Range-Potatoes and Onions Are Firm.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 18 -(Special.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 18.—(Special.)
—Light rains are falling in Culifornia and indications favor a good storm. The grain market had an easier tembency on the weather, though spot prices, notably for bariey, which is in light supply, showed stubbornness. Choice feed bariey sold at $1.158.

Hops continue firm at the recent advance, holders being encouraged by the higher prices lately obtained in Gregon and Washington. Stormy weather caused additional duliness in the fruit market. Two carbods of cranges sold at ancison within a range of $162,50 for atandard, choice and fancy navels. The low price for this offering was due to the fruit being all large sizes. Receipts of cranges are light and should the present atorm existed south it may again interfere with picking and give dealers a chance to clean up stocks. Three carloads of apples arrived from the north, but were well distributed among feeding bouses and prices constinued well maintained, especially for high-grade Spitzenbergs and Newtown Pippins.

Potatoes and orders are firm, the former being in good local and moderate shipping demand. Fancy excets are firm, but ordinary are in increased supply and weaker. Garden vegetables are in slightly larger supply.

Butter was easy on account of the rain. Cheese was steady. Eggs were lower. Receipts: 46,000 pounds of hutter, 47,000 pounds of cheese and 18,000 dozen aggs.

in instruct the Regumentatives as to needed legislation for the correction of such laws as he declares have been passed by rascally legislators who have preceded him. No doubt the Regressmatives of the State of Oregon, under such instruction, will made a great interest in the affairs of the corporation which Robert Burne represents, and for its benefit will be eager to promote legislation to the damage of an individual sho has for years been lensing his best efforts for the upbuilding of the Kain. It would be well for those literasted in salmon fishing on the Columbia to consider carefully the proposition of this limb of the law, lately from Arkansaw, which appears in the interview to which I have called attention, as they will find something of interest therein. Words which must pass through the columns of a newspaper cannot properly describe such a creature, but if any here he who represent the State of Oregon at the coming season who do not inform highway robbery, and desire that justice shall be moisted to the descring, they can get a true culling of the scalements which the Burns outline society monote by their assistance, if they refer to me.

I shall not spend much of my time at Salem during the coming season, as I do not consider the let of 1800 of intificient importance to warrant any particular effort to prevent the legislative body with sufficient laturanton to prevent their being huncoed into aiding, by any nort of legislation. BAR SALE OF GAME.

This, and Limit of Five Birds, Would Preserve Supply.

GLADSTONE, Or. Jan. 13.—(To the Editor.)—It is time for the biennial agitation on the question of our game laws, and we have the usual diversity of opinion as to the best methods to be adopted for the preservation of what Bitle game we have left in Oregon.

There is no doubt but the city sportsmen, through their organizations, amortsmen's preservation of what fittle game we have left in Oregon.

There is no doubt but the city sportsmen, through their organizations, aportsmen's clubs, ste, will make their views mown, as they have a perfect right to do. But the farmers and country people, scattered as they have a perfect right to do. But the farmers and country people, scattered as they are with no organizations through which to express their views, are scarcely taken into comideration by our lawmakers, with the result that there is an antagonism between the city and country sportsmen which ought not to exist. And right bere it might be well to note one of the most potent of these causes of antagonism. When a farmer who loves a little sport in the way of duck-shooting, having learned that for some reason the ducks and geess no longer frequent the Williametts Valley farms, as they used to do, reads in The Oregonian of a few so-called sportsmen going dewn on the Columbia Sloughs and bagging hundreds of ducks and geess in a det, he goes down there and linds every place where a duck might alight rented and as closely guarded as a European game preserve, and learns that the reason the ducks no longer come to his farm is because they are systematically fed and attracted to these staughter ponds for the pleasure of a few Portland millionaires, he goes home with a chip on his shoulder for the next Portland shouter who comes to his farm for a little China pheasant shooting.

Now, please allow one who has enjoyed more or less aport in Oregon for the last 30 years, but never sold a head of game of any kind, and known something of the feelings of the country people on this question, to express an opinion.

Leave the law against using dogs for deer hunting as it is.

Probablit the sale of all kinds of game and trout.

Limit the number of birds to be killed in any one day to dve, and then enforce the law.

It is not the city sportsman alone who has been guilty of slaughtering game for in any one day to five, and the law.

It is not the city sportsman alone who has been guilty of saughtering game for market, for I have known one family in the course of two or three seasons to almost entirely exterminate the grouse and native phasants over a territory 10 miles square, and have known two men within the last dozen years to slaughter and market over 60 doer in one season in Clackamus County.

County.

It might be well to offer a good, big
It might be well to offer a good, big It might be well to offer a good, his bounty on cougar scalps. There is not much danger of gotting it large enough to bank-rupt the ntate, as these animals are not very plentiful, and are very hard to kill; but are very destructive to deer.

With these few changes in our present law we can have game enough for the true sportsman for years to come.
