ERECTING CABINETS AND SHOP.—A large building as a carpenter and temporary repair shop is being built for the Oregon Water Power & Railway Company on the terminal grounds south of Hawthorne avenue. It is something over 100 feet long. The company has not yet announced its intentions regarding the location of permanent carshops, although considerable filling is to be done in the Martin bottom between Ross Island and the City View Park Addition, and the impression is out that the carshops will finally be built on this filled land. The track runs through the bottom partly on an embankment and trestle work. On one side is the "Oaks," where a resort is to be located. The low lands, comprising nearly 100 acres, are available for any purpose unless filled up. Some figures are being made up to the cost of a fill. Double tracks will be required when the summer resort is completed, so that local cars will not interfere with the cars to Oregon City and Estacada. Residents of Sellwood and Milwaukie are interested in the final decision as to the location of permanent carshops.

COMPANY IS TEN YEARS OLD.—The Sellwood Volunteer Fire Company is ten years old, and celebrated its birthday Wednesday evening with a banquet, which was attended by Chief David Campbell and Dr. Curtis of the Mayor's official family. There was the usual speechmaking, E. A. Austin acting as toastmaster. Chief Campbell expressed his interest in the welfare of the company and Mr. Curtis complimented the Ladies' Auxiliary for the fine banquet. Foreman J. E. Hinko also came in for his share of verbal bouquets. The company has been identified with the growth of that suburb, and it may be attributed possession of the public hall there and all the fire protection that the place receives. Its members have always been active at fire and its record in saving property is most creditable. It is the only really active volunteer fire company now left out of the large number formerly existing.

GETTING READY TO MAKE FILL.—The Pacific Construction Company, which has the contract for filling up the main portion of East Washington street, is getting ready to work. Its outfit of dump cars has been repaired at a cost of $500 and have been taken out to North Mount Tabor, from where the gravel will be secured. Managers of the company estimate the dump cars will transport 25,000 cubic yards per month, and that the entire street can be filled in less than three months at this rate. The temporary track on the Grand avenue line, connecting with the Grand avenue line, is completed, and in a few days the trains of dump cars will commence operation.

SAVING A BULLFIGHT.—W. C. Puffer, of Portland, who is on a business trip in Mexico, saw the great national New Year's day bullfight. Mr. Puffer states it was the most cruel exhibition that it has ever seen. Five bulls were tortured and killed, but before they were finally dispatched the enraged animals gored to death three horses. The bullfight took place in the City of Mexico. Mr. Puffer says that President Diaz' cord comes from the fact that the soldiery and the police are under government direction. The streets are full of soldiers with soldiers armed with huge revolvers, and such a thing as a hold-up is almost unheard of.

SCHOOLHOUSE FOR CENTER ADDITION.—The directors of Mount Tabor school, District No. 5, have made provision for putting up a two-room schoolhouse in Center Addition on West avenue, near the electric car line. Principal Adams reports an attendance of 450 pupils and 14 teachers. In order to relieve the crowded condition of the rooms and provide school facilities for pupils in Center Addition, this temporary building will be erected at once. It will be located on the grounds of the building to be leased. In the course of time a permanent building will be placed in that portion of the district.

PLANS FOR THE YEAR LAIN.—At the annual meeting of the Hassalo Street Congregational Church, Holladay's Addition, plans for work during the year were laid, including additions to the library, a kindergarten for the Sunday school, more study classes and a general forward movement in home mission work. Reports showed there had been some gain in membership in the church, and all departments showed substantial progress during the year. Rev. Charles E. Chase is the pastor, and his pastorate has been marked with success.

RENOVATING PIEDMONT CHURCH.—Rev. I. M. Booser, pastor of the Piedmont Presbyterian Church, reports that the congregation there is spending $500 in improvements to the building. These improvements include a new organ, a new basement, retreating of the walls and re-fitting of the auditorium. Mr. Booser, who has been pastor for six months, reports the church prospering and growing.

FUNERAL OF WESLEY N. EMMEL.—The funeral of Wesley N. Emmel was held yesterday afternoon from the Sunnyside M. E. Church, Rev. T. B. Ford, D. D., participating. Mr. Emmel was 32 years of age. He died at Salem of brain fever, January 13.

FUNERAL OF MRS. NICHOLS.—The funeral of Mrs. Arthur H. Nichols, of Montaville, will be conducted by the W. C. T. U. from Finley's Undertaking parlors at 11 o'clock this morning. All members of the organization are invited to attend.

WILL INSTALL OFFICERS.—Montavilla Camp, 28, will install officers this evening and have a social entertainment in Oddfellows' Hall, corner Hibbard street. C. V. Cooper, head banker, will be the speaker of the evening.

DEPARTS OF WILLIAM DENBOER.—William Denboer, who had a small store at 620 Milwaukie street, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks. He is survived by a wife and several grown children.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY.—Tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock in their hall in the Seating-Hill building, the Independent Order of Enoch Birth will mark the 70th anniversary of the death of Moses Malmonides, a Jewish rabbi, philosopher and writer, who lived in Spain and who was born the year 1225 and died in 1294. These addresses will be delivered: "Malmonides," by Dr. J. Block; "Spanish and Portuguese Jews of the Middle Ages," by D. Solis Cohen; and "The Influence of the Jew Upon the Culture of the Middle Ages," by Dr. Stephen S. Wise. An interesting musical program will be given. The philosophy largely influenced the scientific thought of that period. He is considered to be one of the most learned Jews since Biblical times, was known as a great codifier and interpreter of the law and his great services to Judaism consist of his teachings of faith. Throughout the whole world at this time Jews will celebrate the anniversary of this great teacher.

CLEVER THIEF TAKEN.—Frank Worthington, one of the cleverest room thieves who has ever worked Portland, has been captured by the police of Tacoma and sent to the Sound to bring him back. Worthington was here for a few days two weeks ago, and in that time succeeded in stealing from a rooming house in Washington street a gold watch and chain, a gold locket and considerable new wearing apparel. He left immediately and was next heard from in Astoria, where he had made a good haul by robbing a room. Later he went to San Francisco, and the same week came North again, passing through Portland a week ago yesterday. The police have been active in tracing Worthington and have watched his movements closely. Nevertheless he eluded them when passing through here last on his way to Tacoma.

CLEANING NORTH END.—Following out his determination to have the officers under his command clean the North End to such an extent that order will prevail, Chief Hunt last night ordered another raid on a saloon disobeying orders. Shortly before 10 o'clock Sergeants Slover and Hogeboom, reinforced by three regular officers of the beat, entered the Olson Saloon, at 43 North Third street, and arrested the proprietor, John Olson, and two women, who gave their names as Daisy Adams and Pearl Brown. The women were dancing in the saloon when the officers entered. Orders have been issued repeatedly at Police Headquarters that there was to be no dancing in saloons. A violation of this ordinance was placed, and the women were booked as vagrants. All were afterward released on bail.

PENNSYLVANIANS WILL ORGANIZE.—Former residents of the State of Pennsylvania are urged to be present at the City Hall this evening, when the organization of a Pennsylvania Society will be perfected. Officers will be elected and a constitution drafted. The committee in charge is headed by Tom Richardson, of the State Development League, who has been invited to attend the meeting, and he will make suggestions regarding the work which will be undertaken by the society. The enrollment now numbers upwards of 60. All who are enrolled or may call up the temporary secretary, George H. Himes, telephone Main 3242, or the permanent secretary, Tom Richardson, at 1000 Commercial street.

GOVERNMENT JOBS OPEN.—The U. S. Civil Service Commission announces an examination in this city on February 14, 1905, for the position of stenographer and typewriter. The salary for this position is $1,200 a year, and in the Philippine service for positions with salaries ranging from $1,200 to $1,800 a year. Persons desiring to compete should call upon Z. A. Leigh at the Portland Postoffice.

Mrs. SYLVIA W. McGUIRE, who has been engaged to give an elocutionary recital at Grace Methodist Church, Tuesday evening, January 17, is an artist of wide experience and great versatility, having been identified with some of the best musical organizations throughout the Middle West and South. She is noted for her simplicity of style, and those who hear her on Tuesday evening will enjoy a rare treat. Admission, 25 cents.

WOMAN SUSPECT ARRESTED.—Detectives Snow and Kerrigan last evening arrested a woman at 15th and Oak streets, placing her in charge of a woman against her at the police station. The woman was suspected of the larceny of a watch and several stickpins. She will be held on a charge of vagrancy, pending an investigation by the detectives.

J. E. Edwards Becomes Sole Owner of the Baldwin Ranch.

J. E. Edwards, of Hay Creek, has bought out the interests of C. W. Cartwright and J. P. Van Houten in the Baldwin Sheep & Land Company, located in the vicinity of Hay Creek. The property involved is one of the largest sheep ranches in the United States, and on it are raised more than 100,000 sheep of any other ranch in the world. The company was organized by Dr. Baldwin, of California, 25 years ago, and since then has passed through the hands of several owners. During the greater part of the time it has proved a very valuable holding.

The ranch, which lies between Deschutes and the John Day rivers, is 25 miles from Shanika. It is surrounded by many miles of fence and contains 20,000 acres of wooded land. Between 20,000 and 30,000 pounds of wool are clipped from its herds annually. In the fall the ranch is employed in the clipping of the sheep as many as 150.

Raising thoroughbreds is the chief aim of the company, which owns 25,000 to 30,000 head of merino sheep of the Ramboulet, Delaine and Spanish varieties. Many cars of these are raised and shipped out each season. In breeding purposes Mr. Edwards has been particularly successful. He was at the Portland over Sunday and left for the ranch last night.

"The Wife." John Rutherford.....Edgar Baum Matthew Culver.....William Bernard Robert Gray.....Donald Bowles Elias Truman.....George H. Berrell Major Homer G. Pettum.....Walter E. R. Randolph.....Charles W. York Jack Dexter.....George Bloomquist Helen Truman.....Catherine Countess Lucille Ferrant.....Blanche Douglas Mrs. Bellamy Ives.....Laurette Allen Kitty Ives.....Louise Barish Mrs. Ames.....Marie Barish Agnes.....Dot Bernard

At the opening of another Columbia week a splendid performance of this standard Belasco-DeMille play was given. Although the waits between acts were unreasonably long and the stage manager in making an announcement took occasion to air his personal grievances against the press, "The Wife" was exceptionally well presented at the matinee yesterday. The play of this character, seemingly admirably suited to the Columbia company, for in no particular do they overdo in its limitations.

The particular feature of the opening "The Wife" was written twenty years ago, and has been presented thousands of times throughout the country. It is a formal dress-up affair of society and politics. The story of a young woman who marries a man very far senior while still loving another. Nothing new starting in it, but it develops excellently, with much delightful comedy and some dramatic situations, and, of course, ending happily.

As is particularly appropriate, in view of this being his last week, Mr. Baum made one of the strongest impressions of his Portland career in the role of actor Rutherford. His lines are beautifully read, and his situations deftly and naturally handled.

Always best in parts of like nature, Miss Countess plays the wife exceptionally well. She makes the part thoroughly womanly and sympathetic, and her emotional work in this instance is all that one might desire.

Third honors are unquestionably due William Bernard for a great performance of the "heavy" assignment. His "Culver" is a man of rare quality, and although he don't resemble an American politician to any marked extent, he's a good villain just the same. If any man dared wear a monocle and Henry Irving bring a manure fork while an applicant for a political berth, he would stand about as much show of being appointed, as the proverbial snowball in the mouth of a politician.

William Dilla, Donald Bowles and George Berrell share great credit for their excellent work. The first and last named gentlemen give us delightful characterizations of dear old men. Both are fine and true in their conception of the comedy. Donald Bowles, and Mr. Bowles is quite all that is consistent and convincing as "Grey." George Bloomquist is bright and snappy as the incorrigible undergraduate, and Charles York is creditably good as the private secretary.

Blanche Douglas appears as the adventuress, and is fairly satisfactory. Her melodramatic touches. Her reading is strained and her manner unnatural at times. Miss Allen is positively great as the society dowager. It is a real hand-to-hand battle for the possession of a knife, and it takes a shot from a revolver in the hands of Happy Jack to settle the struggle and put the villain out of commission. "A Jolly American Tramp" will be at the Empire tonight and Tuesday evening.

UNION REVIVAL CLOSURE. Evangelist Gilliam Bids Portland Farewell After Successful Services.

The series of evangelistic meetings which Rev. Ralph Gilliam has been conducting for the last 15 days for the Taylor-Street Methodist and First Congregational Churches was brought to a close yesterday by a meeting at 2:30 at the Taylor-Street Church and an evening service at the First Congregational. Mr. Gilliam has proven himself an evangelist of more than ordinary ability and magnetism. He is a quiet, forceful speaker and his meetings are free from undue excitement. They have been most successful during the series of meetings and many who have made professions of

"A Jolly American Tramp." Jack Potter.....Joseph Kearney Warren Wade.....D. Livingston Granville Barker.....Burton Malbury Job Barrett.....Robert Newcombe Mack Pepper.....Miss Yvonne DeMille Mabel Samster.....Miss Bernice Childs Della Dooley.....Miss Madge Wood Agnes Barrett.....Miss Vera Wilson Flo Barrett.....Miss Edna Ward

These two capacity houses which filled the Empire yesterday afternoon and evening demonstrate the American love for good melodrama. This is what the "Jolly American Tramp" is—a mighty good melodrama, bubbling over with well-selected and excellent specialties. "The American Tramp" (Joseph Kearney), even if he is starred as a relic of the circus, is a clever comedian, and he made a tremendous hit with the people crowded into the galleries, while those downstairs wanted him on the stage all the time.

There is lots of heart interest in the play. There is the villainous husband and the good wife, whom he made several ineffectual attempts to kill, so he might marry a woman whose heart was as black as his own. The daughter, who is in the way of her scheming father, "Happy Jack," the tramp, is the friend of virtue, and with the assistance of Warren Wade, the wretched mother and little Flo are saved. The large audiences quickly fell in love with little Flo and felt keenly the sorrows of her mother. Robert Newcombe made a very creditable Job Barrett. He played the part of the villain, a role that is difficult because the front of the house is always against him. Miss Bernice Childs, the other woman in the case, handled her part, one even more difficult to portray than that of the villain, with an ease that stamps her as a talented actress.

It was Mr. Kearney's Happy Jack, his songs and his ability to get in and out of trouble and readiness to help Flo and her mother out of the clutches of Job Barrett that was the favorite with the audience. County Bureaus at Fair. SALINA, Kan., Jan. 4.—(To the Editor.)—The Lewis and Clark Centennial is quite well advertised over the state. The railroads are doing their part and nearly every one that I talk with has read something of the Fair. Every county should have a bureau of information at the Fair and arrange excursions twice a week to the county, so that intending settlers may talk and deal direct with the landowners. The people have more confidence in men they are certain have no land to sell than in the ordinary real estate man. Counties that arrange to take the Fair visitors on a trip are the counties that will reap the most benefit.

faith in former times have renewed their religious zeal and returned to the church. At the afternoon service Dr. Gilliam's sermon related chiefly to the duties of the older church members to the new ones just entering, and he also made many good points in his argument that the worship of a common God could be joined in by all people regardless of creed or denomination. His text was taken from Corinthians, III:16—"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort; be of one mind, live in peace and the God of love and peace shall be with you."

A unity of purpose and action regarding the salvation of souls should pervade all hearts, he said, regardless of what church one belonged to, and he made a special charge to every member to care for and look after the converts who had recently entered religious life. "Be an example to them in deed, word, faith and purity, for the new members will follow your example right from the first. So be an example worth following, not only to those inside the church but to those on the outside and even to the unbelievers. Be Christ-like in spirit and active in religion."

A second large congregation greeted Mr. Gilliam at the Congregational Church in the evening where he preached a farewell sermon. He has become very popular in Portland and many regret his departure.

Yesterday morning Dr. E. L. House and Rev. F. B. Short exchanged pulpits and Rev. Ralph Gilliam preached at the First Baptist Church in Dr. Brougher's absence.

FIRE DAMAGED BASEMENT. Carelessly Dropped Match Causes a Blaze on East Side.

At an early hour yesterday fire broke out in the basement of the West building on Grand avenue and East Alder street, occupied by W. H. Markell as a general merchandise store. Before the blaze was extinguished the goods stored there were damaged to the amount of about $1200. Through the prompt work of the department the fire was confined to the basement. The building was not damaged, nor was the stock on the main floor injured.

Mr. Markell carries $11,000 insurance on his entire stock, valued at $30,000, and hence his loss is covered. The fire started well to the back part of the basement, where there were cases of rubbers, dishes and other articles.
