WOMAN'S EXCHANGE TO BE CONTINUED.

—A special meeting of the Portland Woman's Union was held yesterday morning for the purpose of deciding upon the advisability of continuing the Woman's Exchange. There was a full attendance of members of the board and after considering the matter from all points it was ununimously decided that, as the exchange has done such good work during the past year, and as so many women depend upon sales made there for their living, it must be maintained in future. The Exchange is not a paying institution, and the Woman's Union does not hope to make it so, keeping it up solely because of the opportunity it offers women to make money by selling needlework and cooked foods. At the meeting yesterday Miss Falling was appointed chairman of the finance committee of the Exchange.

APPOINTMENT TO BE MADE.—The New York Central lines have leased offices in the New Alaska building at Spattle, for which a monthly rental of $400 will be paid. This will mean the appointment of a new ticker agent at that place who will work under W. C. Seachrest, North Pacific Coast agent of the New York Central, Mr. Seachrest will still maintain his headquarters at Portland, but will spend a greater part of his time in Seattle than heretofore. The Great Northern Company has also secured new offices in the Alaska building.

HUMOR AND PATHOS.

Great Dialect Reader Will Give Recital at Grace M. E. Church Tonight.

Mrs. Sylvia W. McGuire, who gives a recital at Grace Methodist Church tonight, is second to none as a dialect reader, her specialty being negro dialect stories. She is a native of the South, and her reading, unlike that of most professionals who make attempts siong this particular line, is characterized by a complete naturalness and absence of exagger-piete naturalness and absence of exaggeration. It reproduces the indefinable charm and quaintness of the darkey's cabin speech, its grotesqueness and underlying tone of religious fervor.

Mrs. McGuire has been repeatedly sought by theatrical managers to turn her talent to account on the stage, but has refused all such offers, preferring to confine herself to church, club and platform work. Those who do not hear her this evening will miss a rare treat.

White Whittlesey has definitely fixed a place for almost in the hearts of local theatergoers. He is no longer an experiment here, and from this time forward he may come as an established favorite. Mr. Whittlesey is fortunate in having so excellent a supporting company, and each individual in it may well share a part of credit for the undoubted success attained here.

Richard Harding Davis, as is well known, wrote "Boldiers of Fortune," and as a novel it has been widely read by those who lean towards stirring tales of these intensely modern times. It is a good yarn, and when Augustus Thomas made its dramatization a fine meiodrama was the result. Whittiesey plays "Clay," the extraor-

Whittlesey plays "Clay," the extraordinary versatile civil engineer, very much in line with Dakis' original creation. He is Gibsonesque in face and physique, which is very important, as Gibson drew the original Clay and fashloned him for the impressment of matinee girls. The part is very happily entrusted to Whittlesey, for he does it splendidly.

Much interest centers in the work of Virginia Brissac, for there is a possibility that she may shortly join the Columbia forces. She is a thoroughly delightful

Whether persons ostensibly engaged in the auction business can film-film victims by the score in the open and not be molested is to be ascertained today. be molested is to be ascertained today, when James Scott will appear before the District Attorney and request warrants of arrest for men who sold him an alleged solld gold watch for $10 which is worthless. He called upon Chief of Police Hunt last night and laid the matter before him. He was instructed to make complaint today.

These fake auction-houses operate under a liceuse from the city," said Chief Hunt, "but I propose to see what can be done to stop them from victim-ising honest men who believe they are getting bargains, when they are in resetting organs, were they are in re-ality being woefully cheated."

Several of these "auction"-houses are in operation. To the police they are known as "big mitt" joints of the worst type, for they run under the guise of au-thority, having licenses from the City Auditer. Many complaints have been Auditer. Many complaints have been made against various of the establish-ments recently, especially one on Third, near Burnside street. At that place last night an eager crowd of, people were buying "solid gold" watches for from $1 to $10 and "diamonds" as large as an egg for from 10 to 50 cents.

Count Dies a Music-Teacher.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—Count Vaillant de la Croix, a teacher of music. 60 years oid, died in this city today after an illness of four months. De la Croix, it is said, formerly was a well-known singer, his stage name being Signor Bravura. Among his papers were found recommendations from the Boston Conservatory of Music, the Knickerbocker Conservatory, of New York, and other musical institutions where he had been employed as instructor.

It is staited by friends that his family is one of the oldest and most aristocratic in the nobility of France, his mother being the ex-Princess Stephanie Borghest, of the Italian Borghest family. Count Dies a Music-Teacher.
