The alleged subordination of per-jury consisted in inducing Dodge to make an affdavit that he had never been served with papers in the divorce The alleged conspiracy consisted in an attempt to defeat the ends of justice by having a marriage declared Assistant District Attorney Rand asked

Rand said that no more arrests would be made on the indictments today, as he understood the other persons ed are out of town.

The Dodge-Morse matrimonial tangle has been rich in sensational features. At the time the divorce of Mrs, Clemence Dodge was first questioned by her for-mer husband, who alleged that he had never been properly served with papers, the legality of Mrs. Dedge's marriage to Charles W. Morse was placed in question by the courts and the tangle that resulted has never been straightened out. Morse is a wealthy man, the promoter of a bank consolidation plan on a large scale in this city, and for a long time the con-trolling stockholder in the American Ice Company. At present he is the principal shareholder in several important banks. His prominence brought the case unusual

The great mystery of the affair has been the fact that Dodge, himself a poor man, was plentifully supplied with money while he fought extradition from Texas.

Male he fought extraintion from fexas. He spent thousands of dollars, had the best of lawyers and apparently wanted nothing money could procure.

One of the most sensational features of the District Attorney's investigation of the case came a few weeks ago when Mr. Jerome made public a letter which he had went to Mr. Gelebears, the widers of ment to Mrz. Geishenen, the widow of a prominent business man who had been associated with Charles W. Morse, re-questing her to appear before the grand jury to testify in connection with the Dodge-Morse case. She sailed for Europe a few days later. On her arrival on the other side she expressed herself as will-ing to return to New York if necessary, and at the same time declared that she ever had any intention of marrying Mr. Morse, as had been publicly reported, She is still in Europe.

Before Mr. Vancott began to speak, Senator Knox said he believed that the arguments of Judge R. W. Tayler, equal force to all members of the stor-mon Church who entertain the beliefs Senator Smoot has confessed?

"Do you concede that your argu-ment for disqualification, so far as it is based upon Senator Smoot's belief in a duty to obey divine revela-tion, applies with equal force to all who believe in the duty to obey the divine will, however ascertained? "Would Senator Smoot be disqualified in your opinion, by reason of be-ing a Mormon, if Mormonism had never been tainted with polygamy?" In answering the first question, Judge Tayler said the chief charge against Senator Smoot was that he was an integral part of the quorum of 12, which he declared to be all there was to the Mormon Church. The president of the church, said Judge Tayler, was the creature of the quorum of apostles and could be removed by it.

The latter part of the first question and the second question were answered jointly by Judge Tayler, by giving what he believed to be the colitical significance of a belief in revelations. He quoted from the test-mony of Senator Smoot and other witnesses concerning their beliefs in who were committed to such beliefs were disqualified to sit as Senators. The third question he answered by stating that if no attention had been attracted to the church by violations of the law, it was not likely that religious belief would have been brought into the discussion, but the polygamy was the result of revelations. This belief in immediate contact with God through personal revelations in declared to be sufficient to lations he declared to be sufficient to disqualify any person for the position of Senatorship, no matter what his

Saturday Evening Post The recent interchange of signals be-tween the Russian Baltic fleet in the Med-Herranean and the English squadron hov-ering near illustrates again how men of all kinds become masters of speech in a Senator Knox said to the arguments of Judge R. "Do you concede that your argument, intended to establish Senator Smoot's disqualification, applies with equal force to all members of the Morequal force to all members of the pramids, said:

"Forty centuries look down on you!" Could any phrase be better calculated to rouse the heart of the heatric Frenchman? Nelson's famous signal was as full of the spirit of his nation and the hour:
"England expects every man to do his duty!" Glory and duty! Two words paint the opposing moods of two great nations.

The sculptor, Saint Gaudens, when plannine his statue of Logan, read his sub-ject's political speeches in vain for a revelation of the man, finding only the flowery bombast of the liliterate back-woods partisan. But an anecdote told by an old soldier gave him the full stat-ure of the man. In the face of a tremendous Confederate cavalry charge the boys in blue were wavering and turning to run. Logan snatched a fiag and rode out in front, shouting: "Them feliers in gray is riding to their graves!" That sentence changed the fortunes of the day, and the spirit of it lives in bronze of enduring spirit and beauty on the lake front in

The late Anglo-Russian incident was of less heroic proportions, but none the less apt and characteristic. Admiral Rojestvensky ran up flags that said: "If you do not keep off we will fire." The British Admiral, still thinking, no doubt, of his dead countryme in the North Sea, promptly answered: "Fire away!" There was levity in this, as was not unfitting mony of Senator Smoot and other to the occasion. But there was also some-witnesses concerning their beliefs in revelations, and said that all persons glad that the Russians' bluff was called -and most of all, perhaps, the Russians.

At close quarters the instant the muzzle of a six-shooter is thrust toward a rattlemake the infallible eye catches the range, and in the fraction of a twinkle the deadly head has aligned itself. As the gun rours and darts its tongue of flame, the head of the creature is torn clean, as if severed with a knife, and the viper as if severed with a knife, and the viper lles writhing, emitting a defiant rattle even as its grim, relentless heart ceases its beat.

New Shaft for Dailes City.

The Regulator Line steamer Dailes City will go off the ways at the Portland Shipbuilding Company's yards Monday, fully repaired and in condition for business, but as traffic on the river is light just now, the company has decided to make some other changes in her. "We will take out the old shaft," said General Manager H. C. Campbell yesterday, "and put in a new one of hollow nickel steel with new cranks. The boat will be put in first-class shape and will continue to be the fastest and most popular steamer that ever plied the waters of the Upper Columbia."
