HATE BREAKS OUT

British Lion Roars at Russian Bear,

HIS CONSUL INSULTED

Explanation Is Promptly Demanded From Russia.

BOTH NATIONS ARE ENRAGED

Russians Accuse Britain of Inciting Strikes—British Resent Charge and Say It Caused Attack on Their Consul.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Reports of continued acts of hostility to Great Britain and citizens of this country in Russia are causing much perplexity and anxiety in official circles in London. At the Foreign Office there is evident apprehension of another popular anti-Russian outburst here, and, while diplomats say there is no doubt that full satisfaction will be given for the Warsaw affair, the newspapers are unanimous in condemnation of Russia, and attribute all incidents to anti-British sentiment.

At the Foreign Office today it was intimated that these accumulated evidences of hostility, whether accidental or intentional, are causing much apprehension, and that it will be necessary for the Russian government to give full and prompt explanation, otherwise popular sentiment in the United Kingdom might create a serious situation.

It was pointed out that, while the injured pro-Consul at Warsaw, Murzkain, is merely an interpreter and naval clerk in the Consulate, that fact made no difference, and that it would be necessary to prove that the affair was not the result of the publication of the objectionable notices concerning which Ambassador Hardinge already has protested officially. The following communication was issued by the Foreign Office this evening:

"Information has been received from the British Consul at Warsaw that he and Murzkain, the pro-Consul, were attacked by the soldiers. Murray (the Consul-General) is not believed to have been injured, but Murzkain, who is a Russian subject, was wounded by sword cuts, and is in a hospital. Representations were at once made by Ambassador Hardinge to the Russian government, which demanded that the Governor-General of Warsaw institute strict inquiry into the incident. His Majesty's Ambassador also sent Colonel Napier, the military attache, to Warsaw to report on the subject."

HOPES TO PACIFY BRITAIN.

Russian Government Rebukes Man Who Posted Offensive Telegram.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—The public reprimand administered to Deputy Chief of Police Roudneff, of Moscow, on account of the posting of the anti-British telegram in this city, has been delivered, and to government circles it is thought to be severe enough to satisfy British opinion. It is thought that this step, together with the circulation of the reprimand in provincial administrations, will prevent further attacks or insinuations against foreigners and will remove the incident from the realm of diplomacy.

RUN DOWN BY CAVALRY.

British Consul Reports Attack on Himself and His Assistant.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Foreign Office has received a telegram from Consul-General Murray, at Warsaw, reporting that himself and Vice-Consul Murzkain were charged by Russian cavalrymen engaged in clearing the streets of Warsaw. It appears that Mr. Murray is partially deaf, and probably did not hear the approach of the troops, and when he subsequently endeavored to make known his personality, it was without avail. The Foreign Office has telegraphed to Ambassador Hardinge to make urgent representations at St. Petersburg on the subject.

BRITISH ANGER FEARED.

Reported Charges That She Incited Strikes and Riots.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 30.—New complications between Great Britain and Russia are feared on account of the attack on the British Consul and Vice-Consul at Warsaw, Saturday night. Coming on the heels of the placards posted by Assistant Chief of Police Roudneff, at Moscow, charging Great Britain with inciting the revolution in Russia, the Warsaw incident is likely to arouse an outburst in Great Britain which may again strain relations between the two countries. Beyond the fact of the attack at Warsaw resulting in the wounding of the British Vice-Consul, who is now in a hospital, the British Embassy here has no details of the affair, but Sir Charles Hardinge, the British Ambassador, has already delivered a note to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff asking for an immediate investigation and explanation, reserving any claims which may be hereafter made, and at the same time asking for the protection of British Consuls throughout the empire.

By the first train he also dispatched Major Napier, the British military attache, to Warsaw, to secure a full report on the circumstances.

Count Lamsdorff replied to Ambassador Hardinge's second note on the subject of the Moscow placards by saying that instructions had been sent to remove all traces of the placards from the streets. It is now learned, however, that similar notices had been posted at Libau and Reval, which led to a renewal of representations on this score.

In this connection, the appearance of the proclamation of the Holy Synod instructing the orthodox priests to inform their parishioners that the strike and revolutionary movements were promoted by the external as well as internal enemies of Russia, with the object of embarrassing the military and naval plans, has created something of a flurry among foreigners here, especially the British, who believe that the object is to incite hostilities. No further action, however, has been taken by either Ambassador Hardinge or the other foreign representatives.

Count Lamsdorff hastened to reply to Ambassador Hardinge's note, expressing regret if the British Consul-General and Vice-Consul at Warsaw were injured and informing him that an immediate inquiry would be made to establish the facts. The Consuls are understood to have been wounded by Cossacks while the latter were clearing the streets.

FIRED ON FREIGHT SHIP.

Russian Fleet Could Not Distinguish It From Torpedo-Boat.

PARIS, Jan. 30.—The International Commission inquiring into the North Sea incident, at its session today heard two Swedish witnesses, Captain Johnson and Mate Stromberg, of the cargo boat Aldebaran. They both testified that a few hours preceding the firing on the British trawlers by the Russian second Pacific squadron their boat was attacked in the North Sea by a strange warship which fired many shots at the Aldebaran, but did not do her serious damage. The stranger then disappeared.

Counsel for Russia protested that this testimony was not directly connected with the North Sea incident, but Admiral Fournier, president of the Commission, ruled that the testimony was admissible.

Hugh O'Beirne, the British agent, said the strange vessel was the Russian transport Kamtchatka, which mistook the Swedish craft for a torpedoboat. Mr. O'Beirne further declared that the Kamtchatka thereafter sent a wireless message to Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky, notifying him that she had been attacked by a torpedoboat and Rojestvensky thereupon ordered his squadron to be on the outlook for torpedoboats, which Mr. O'Beirne asserted, caused the North Sea incident.

The fishermen concluded their testimony during the afternoon. The last witness, a man named Costello, said that during the cannonade he saw a black object which he thought was a torpedo-boat. Later at Hull, after examining the charts, he concluded that the object he had seen was a trawler without lights. Vice-Admiral Doubassoff (Russian) made the point that the subsequent conclusion was a supposed one, whereas his belief at the time he saw the object was that it was a torpedo-boat.

Admiral Fournier cross-examined the witness concerning why he did not see the trawlers nearby, but saw a black object at a considerable distance.

Costello maintained that he did not see other boats, but saw the unknown object. The witness was then confronted by several other fishermen. This developed much contradiction, Costello maintaining he saw the black object.

The Russian officers will begin their testimony tomorrow.

EXCUSES THE REGICIDES.

Servian Official Paper Says They Believe in Constitution.

BELGRADE, Jan. 30.—The semi-official newspaper organ here today published the following:

"The government is fully convinced that the regular army officers believe in strict constitutional government, but never will mix up in any governmental affairs, for, after risking their lives to save the country from anarchy and demoralization by an act which the country thankfully acknowledged, they immediately installed a parliamentary government."

Prince Eitel Improving.

POTSDAM, Jan. 30.—Prince Eitel Friedrich slept well and perspired freely during the night, according to a bulletin issued at 9:30 A. M. His temperature is 98 and pulse 76.

The inflammation of the right lung has extended, and the inflammation of the pleura has diminished. Pains in the left side have been more severe since yesterday, but the Prince's general condition is satisfactory.

Following is the evening bulletin of the physicians:

"The Prince had less pain during the day and slept much. His temperature this evening is 100; pulse, 72; respiration, 28; appetite good."

Paraguay to Withdraw Paper Money.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The Paraguay government is reorganizing its finances, according to a Herald dispatch from Asuncion. The directors of the Banco Mercantile have proposed the conversion of the paper currency at 1000 per cent the first year, 950 the second, and so on until 500 per cent is reached.

IS A MONOPOLY.

ruption necessary being to find a purchaser at the stockyards, and when this is a typical, constantly recurring course, the current thus existing is a current of commerce among the states, and the purchase of the cattle is a part and incident of such commerce."

Trade Is Interstate Commerce.

With reference to the allegation that no interstate commerce is involved in the sale of meats by the packers, the opinion says:

"The allegations of the second section, even if they import a technical passage of title at the slaughtering places, also import that the sales are to persons in other states, and that the shipments to other states are part of the transaction—'pursuant to such sales'—and the third section imports that the same things which are sent to agents are sold by them, and sufficiently indicates that some, at least, of the sales are of the original packages. Moreover, the sales are by persons in one state to persons in another. But we do not mean to imply that the rule which marks the point at which state taxation or regulation becomes permissible necessarily is beyond the scope of interference by Congress in cases where such interference is deemed necessary for the protection of commerce among the states. Nor do we mean to intimate that the statute under consideration is limited to the point."

Must Modify Injunction.

After referring in detail to the objections to the original bill of complaint, and disposing of all of them as insufficient, Justice Holmes said:

"The defendants cannot be ordered to compete, but they properly can be forbidden to give directions or to make agreements not to compete.

"Modifications of the injunction were suggested as follows:

"The general words of the injunction, or by any other method or device, the purpose and effect of which is to restrain commerce as aforesaid, 'should be stricken out. The defendants ought to be informed as accurately as the case permits what they are forbidden to do. Specific devices are mentioned in the bill, and they stand prohibited. The words quoted are a sweeping injunction to obey the law, and are open to the objection which we stated at the beginning that it was our duty to avoid."

Further suggestions looking to the modification of the injunction were made as follows:

"No objection was made on the ground that it is not confined to the places specified in the bill. It seems to us, however, that it ought to set forth more exactly the transactions in which such directions and agreements are forbidden. The trade in fresh meat referred to should be defined somewhat as it is in the bill, and the sales of stock should be confined to sales of stock at the stockyards for sale or as bought at these yards for transportation to another state."

Effect of Decision.

In speaking of the decision, Attorney-General Moody said:

"The case decides that the traffic in livestock transported from the state or territory of its origin to another state for sale and held there for sale is interstate commerce, and that those engaged in buying and selling such livestock are engaged in interstate commerce. The decision condemns as an unlawful restraint of trade the combination between independent dealers to suppress all competition in the purchase of livestock thus situated. It condemns as an unlawful restraint of trade the combination between such dealers for the purpose of fixing and maintaining uniform prices in the sale of meat throughout the country; it condemns as an unlawful restraint of trade the combination between such dealers to obtain preferential rates for transportation of their product by common carriers. The decision makes it clear that all combinations between independent individuals, partnerships or corporations engaged in interstate commerce by which competition between them in such commerce is suppressed, fall under the prohibition of the so-called anti-trust act."

EFFECT OF DECISION.

Judge Grosscup Says It Clears Deck for Next Great Movement.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—Judge Peter Grosscup, of the United States Circuit Court, speaking of the decision said:

"The decision establishes the right of the Government to prevent combinations among the manufacturers of meats. It fortifies the Sherman act. It is a long step in the direction of effectual Government supervision. But to my mind the real significance of the decision is much deeper and far-reaching than even this. It effectively clears the decks for what I believe will be the next really great National movement—as the restriction and finally the abolition of slavery was the last great fundamental movement—the organization and supervision, by the nation itself, of the great corporations of the future; a movement whose chief object will be, not so much to control prices, or merely to curb power, as to bring corporate ownership within the reach and reasonable confidence of the people at large, and thus to repeopleize and republicanize again the industrial ownership of the country."

INNOCENT OF WRONGDOING.

Beef Trust's Lawyer Says It Did Nothing Forbidden by Decision.

CHICAGO, Jan. 30.—John S. Miller, who acted as special counsel for the packers in the proceedings, said:

"The order, as I understand it, simply makes permanent the injunction restraining the packers from doing business in restraint of trade and in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

"They have assured me repeatedly that they have done nothing in violation of these. Hence the permanent restraining order does not in any matter inconvenience them. It does not charge them with or convict them of wrongdoing. I cannot say what further action may be taken. The only thing that I see that could be done would be to request a rehearing of the case."

The Wind-Up of the Clearance in Shoe Store

Sixth-Street Annex—First Floor.

This is a general clean-up of numerous lines of Shoes for men, women and children, and among the various lots are some of the most remarkable values we have ever offered. It is a noteworthy fact that these are not "bargain" shoes, such as are seen in quantities in the periodical shoe sales elsewhere, seemingly made for the purpose. All are taken from our own regular stock and reduced.

This means that every shoe offered is a safe shoe to buy, and fully guaranteed by us as good value at the original price. It also means that sizes are somewhat broken; but, as there are many different styles, almost every customer should be able to find a pair that fits—and that without much searching.
