fance of God reminds one of the lawlessness of a large element in the City of Portland. I have no time, however, to deal with the bed in which they lie, and the covering behind which they are trying to hide. Such a lawless life is a hell on earth and is bound to be hereafter.

"Another bed found in the world's dormitory, is the bed of infidelity, with its covering of agnosticism. There is no comfort in a bed of denials, and a covering of doubt. An infidel dying, was told to hold on to his belief. He replied: 'I have nothing to hold on to.'

"There is the bed of a low standard of morality, and the covering of custom.
People seem to think they ought to get to heaven if they keep respectable. They try to excuse themselves on the ground that everybody, nearly, indulges in such sins. A low standard of morality can never stand before the searching eye of Almighty God.

"Some needle try to find comfort in the A prayer meeting, practically seven hours long, was held yesterday at the White Temple, beginning at 10 A. M. and closing at 5 P. M. The meeting was unusual in its character, as well as the length. Men left their business and women their household affairs, and the room was continuously filled, others coming to take the places of those leaving. All believed in the prayer of faith.

"Some people try to find comfort in the inconsistencies of others while they cover themselves with self-righteousness. If another man's goodness cannot save us. At night Dr. Brougher preached to a large congregation on the unusual subject of "The Bed Too Short, and the Covering Too Narrow." A number requested prayer, and made their decision to live Christian lives. Among other things, Dr. Brougher said:

"The 25th chapter of Isuiah is a great prophecy. The first eight verses show us that the people had given themselves over to unbridled lust and drunkenness. The people and the priests 'erred in vision and surely another man's meanness cannot "Finally, there is the bed of 'by and by "Finally, there is the bed of 'by and by'
with the covering of a death-bed repentance. Most people expect to repent before they die, but they put the matter off with the hope that they may get into beaven by repenting just before they die. There si not a solitary humanmade scheme of salvation that can give deliverance from sin right now, and give rest and peace to the soul. There is no other name given under heaven among men whereby we may be saved, except to unbridled lust and drunkenness. The people and the priests 'erred in vision and stumbled in judgment.' The prophet waris them of the judgment to come, but they make a jest of his warning. They challenged the Alinighty to do his worst. They declare that they have bought destruction off, have made a covenant with death, an agreement with hell, and will the name of Jesus. When we stand be-fore the judgment bar of God, our self-righteousness must fade away, and if we have not Jesus Christ, there is no hope for eternal life."

Special meetings will continue tonight.
Dr. Brougher's subject will be. "The Girl Who Fell Out of Bed." The Oliphant sisters will also be present and sing their sweet gospel songs.

WHERE TO DINE.

"Comin' Thro' the Rye," and Tosti's "Matinata." Melba-undoubtedly tickled the popular taste, for one must possess eainty humor to do that by singing "Comin' Thro' the Rye." She sang this Scotch song very charmingly, and with perfect accent, for, as she afterward said, she was taught this song by her Scotch grandimother. The "Matinata" came in an unlooked-for way. After the rendition of Arditi's "Se Saran Rose." Melba supposed this was her good-bye. But the audience encored again and again, and at last Meiba turned toward the plano and, playing her own accompaniment, gave the "Matinata." Singers with greater volume of voice than Meiba have been here en tour, but no one with such purity and range of voice and personal magnetism as possessed by Meiba. Her singing of Tusti's "Good-Bye" was a revelation of the real beauty of that song. Ellison Van Hoose, born in Tennessee, and a Southerner, like William Castleman, who is a guest in Portland at the present time, is that tarn avis, a real tenor. Mr. Van Hoose possesses a remarkably good voice, and this is said in splite of the slight hoarseness which was a vident when he made his premiere.
