CUSHMAN STEPS IN

Now Wants to Name Postmaster for Tacoma.

HAS CLASH WITH FOSTER

Senator's Defeat Causes Attempt to Snatch Promised Prize From His Friend Lecrone - Cushman May Block Confirmation.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Jan. 31 .- The Washington delegation is likely to have another Postoffice scrap on its hands when Senator Foster returns. The term of Postmaster Cromwell, at Tacoma, expired a year ago, but Foster has never recommended a successor, and did not intend to do so until after the Senatorial election, though he had decided upon State Senator Lecrone Now that Foster has been for the place. defeated, and is about to leave the Senate, Representative Cushman comes forward with the claim that he, and not

PROUD OF HIS VICTORY.

Representative Jones Talks of How to Get Celilo Canal Appropriation. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Feb. 1.—Representative W. L. Jones, of Washington, who has been a ward more rapidly than his length of Jones, of Washington, who has been a staunch friend of the Columbia River, as service in the Senate would warrant. It well as of projects in his own state, is highly elated at the success attending his been successful two years ago in defeating first attempt as a member of the committee at getting money for river and harbor improvements. Speaking of his fight, which was a hard one, the hardest made by any member of the committee, always have his own way.

been successful two years ago in defeating the blit, he got set up a little, and that the blocking of the pending bill will have stock.

A report was issued showing that nee made by any member of the committee, always have his own way. ntative Jones said:

In the framing of the river and harbor bill we are confronted with more difficulties in regard to our projects than any other state. The projects in which our people are especially interested are very large; for instance, the estimates to complete the improvements from the mouth of the Columbin River beyond The Dalles amount to $8,000,000, and for the improvement of the Lake Washington Canal the present estimate is over $7,000,000. We were limited in the amount carried by the bill to about $30,000,000 or $35,000.

NEW BUILDING TRADES UNION it will be seen that these two projects alone would call for about half the amount car-

Upon the Lake Washington Canal and the Tacoma projects we were further handl-capped by adverse reports of the Board of Engineers, and one of the rules adopted in framing the bill was to put on no projects which had been adversely reported. The project in which I was more interested than any other single project was the improvement of the Columbia River at The Dalles stronger because I felt that the removal of this obstruction in the river means more to more people than any other project in the North-

With reference to this project we were confronted with the fact that a very large appropriation would have to be made at the mouth of the river upon the work aired by begun and upon which a large sum by the Associated Building Trades, but of money has been expended end, if we did not make a large appropriation, the Government would lose a large amount of money. We had the further difficulty with ones of consequence not included. They numbers $4,000,000. so that, to provide for it in its entirety by continuing contract in a $30,000,000 bill, was an impossibility. It also was objected that, if this obstruction was overcome, there were so many other was overcome, there were so many other obstructions in the upper part of the river that it would not be of much benefit, and. would absolutely commit the Government to the completion of the project. These objections finally were overcome and $300,000 appropriated, which, with the sum already on hand, makes nearly $500,000 available for carrying on this work during the next two years and in my judgment, insures the continued prosecution of the work until the obstruction is removed. Then, too, we will have no difficulty in continuing provisions in the next river and harbor bill for the prosecution of this work, which is a nost important item. I can think of nothing ers and people generally of Eastern Wash-son of securing this appropriation.

I want to suggest for the consideration of the people of Eastern Washington and of Oregon the advisability of raising a sum of money in some way to be expended in re-moving obstacles in the river at Umatilia and Walluia Rapids and up the Snake River, so that, when the Dulles canal is completed there will be no question about the river being available for the transportation of the products of the Inland Empire. In my judgment, if a sum of money equal to that to be expended in the construction of the portage road at The Dalles could be raised and should be expended in bettering the onditions of the navigation of the river above The Dalles, it would be of incalcula-

It is very gratifying to me that I have been able to do something toward insuring the prosecution and completion of a work so long desired and from which we expect so much benefit.

Foster, is entitled to name the Tacoma eridge has been just as active in press-Foster will undoubtedly insist upon his posing a like bill in the last Congress.

Cushman can prevent the appointment or able man, and is bound to make his confirmation of a Foster man, and can mark in the Sénate. He has already esstave off action until March 4, he will be tablished himself, and, although at times allowed to name a successor to Cromwell, he has suffered something in the way of paring to make things lively in Foster's time been able to hold his own and to promises to be as lively a fight as that does not need very much sympathy from Old Senators Resent His Youth, and May Sidetrack His Statehood Bill.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU. Washington. Jan. II.—Considerable sympathy is expressed for Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, who has been put forward to "hold the bag" in regard to the joint statehood bill. Beveridge has been led to believe that he could pass the bill, and has been very active and vigorous in pushing it before the Senate, insisting upon a vote being taken and trying by every method to get it through, just as Quay tried two years ago to get the three-state bill through. In fact, Beveridge has been just as active in pressing the bill this session as he was in opposing a like bill in the last Congress.

Beveridge is a very brilliant man, an able man, and is bound to make his mark in the Senate. He has already established himself, and althoughs it was a clived to make his mark in the Senate. In the statehood bill there is a suspicion that the older Senators took the method that has been pursued to accomplish two purposes, one to defeat any legislation for the admission of new states and the other to give Beveridge a setback, and show that he has been crowding himself forward more rapidly than his length of service in the Senate would warrant. It is the general impression that, having the bill, he got set up a little, and that
