Great Task of Collecting Taxes Begins Some Persons Taxed Less Than One Dollar-One Man's Bill is Thirty Cents.

Sheriff Word was the first person to pay taxes on the 1804 assessment roll, the collection of which was begun yes-terday. The fact had been well adver-tised and the clerks were kept busy throughout the day. A great many peo-ple called to obtain statements of the unt of their taxes and will liquidate

The re-enactment did not go into effect in time to apply to the 1904 assessment because 90 days were required to clapse after the passage of the blil. Assessor McDonell, in 1904, therefore assessed all personal perty, large and small. The result is that the tax roll contains entries of taxes amounting to as little as 20 cents and many other neglect to pay those trifling sums, it will more to send field deputies out to ect the amounts than will be realized from their work. Besides, many persons

Mr. St. Rayner asserts that he has filed the bill of exceptions in the case and has matters in shape to proceed with the appeal when-ever he gets ready to do so. #### Suit Grows Out of the Sinking of the Barge Monarch.

B. D. Strauhal, administrator of the estate of Otto Pannier, deceased, has sued the O. R. & N. Co., Oregon Round Lumber Company and the Portland & Asiatic Steamship Company to recover $599 damages. Pannier was drowned on January 10 while loading coal on the steamship Arabia from the burge Monarch, by the overturning of the barge. The barge is owned by the Oregon Round Lumber Comand was in the control of the O. R. & N. Co when engaged in coaling the steamship Arabia. The complaint recites that the barge was in an unseaworthy condition, and was negligently overloaded, and that Pannier while at work did not know of his dangerous position.

Liebes & Co. carried an indemnity policy with the Fidelity & Casualty Company, and they allege that payment of the loss has been refused. The goods carried away include six sealskin jackets worth $1555 and a scalskin coat valued at $25. Private detectives were engaged to recover the property and apprehend the burrlars and failed to do so.

COASTRATE WAR EXTENDS

ARE IN IT.

Travel Between Portland, Coos Bay and Eureka increases-Freight

Cutting of rates has increased the passenger business between Portland and points down the Coast, and residents of Eureka and Coos Bay are taking advantage in large numbers of the row that is on between the several steam schoone lines. Rates to San Francisco on th large steamers are being maintained and it is not believed the Coast war will affect them. Should it spread, however, to the Harriman line, things will become de-cidedly interesting.

The war was begun by the California & Oregon Coast Steamship Company cut-ting the fare to Eureka to $7.50 and $ and to Coos Bay points to $6 and $3. Their steamer Homer, which is in port, will sail south tonight, taking passengers at Russell & Rogers' steamer F. A. Kilburn, which has heretofore maintained the old rates, began sizzhing on her up trip, charging $10 and $5 from Humboldt. and $6 and $3 from Coos Bay points.

The independent liner Redondo called in the topic presented by Dr. Brougher at at Eureka on her way up and went the the White Temple last night, in the spendance which are now being held as her schedule of charges, and secured

-ood load of passengers there.
All of the steam schooners running through to San Francisco are on the same basis to that port, $12 first class and $8 second class, Russell & Rogers being the latest to put the rate into effect. Freight rates up to the present time have been interfered with. There is much in terest in the course that will be pur-sued by the North Pacific Steamship Company, operating the steamer Roanoke, in the trouble. enting on the statements of a attle daily paper that Portland was in serious danger of being isolated from the ocean by the possible failure of Congress to pass a general river and harbor Railway and Marine News, of Seattle, In its latest issue says:

"Such statements bear not only the evidence of ignorance on the part of thos making them, but of a deliberate and wil ful refueul to seek and ascertain the facts The port of Portland is in no danger whatever of ever being cut off from the sea, and those who entertain such fears are laboring under a serious and unfound-ed misapprehension. A certain amount of work from time to time is necessary in order to keep the lower reaches of Columbia in the best condition, and the people of Portland, as well as those of the larger portions of both Oregon and Washington, are asking that the Federal Government continue in the future to contrib-ute to that work as it has in the past. "But the people of Portland long ago

ceased to depend entirely upon Congress for the improvement of the deep water channel leading from their city to the sea When Portland was a struggling city of lumbia in places was less than 18 feet deep at the lowest stages of water. When vessels of 12 and 14 feet draft began to be replaced by larger craft drawing from 18 to 29 feet, and it was found that a deeper channel in the river was needed. the people of Portland raised some money themselves, received some more from the Government and set to work to deepen the channel. This policy has been contin-d constantly since that time.

Today the channel from Portland granting appropriations one session of Congress for the inauguration of important improvements, and in denying ap-propriations at the next session for con-tinuing the work begun has hampered the Columbia improvement as it has ham-pered every other important improve-ment undertaken by the Federal Government. But the people of Portland and of Oregon are a self-reliant people and they have learned by experience that the way to get a thing done right is to do it your-self, or at least to stand ready to do it yourself if necessary. This has been their policy in the past and will continue to be

This double bill is a very attractive one Bates is by no means a one-sided artist, but that she possesses versatility of a hich order. "Madame Butterfly" was first seen at policy of the Federal Government in the Herald Square Theater, New York granting appropriations one session of City, and had a run of over 300 nights. New York went wild over the piece, and that alone established Miss Bates in a firm position in the affections of the metropolis. Her portrayal of the heartbroken Japanese girl is dainty as a piece of delicate bric-a-brac, and yet in the end the true note of keen tragedy is touched so that it moves all hearts.

The advance sale shows that there will be present a large and representative audience, and beyond a doubt the double bill will greatly delight all who have the good fortune to be present. Tonight "The Darling of the Gods" will be repeated, and that play will be the bill for every night this week, up to Saturday night, as well as for the Saturday
