CLOSE DOWN CONCERT HALL

Underground Game Located in the "Harmon's Place" and Others Found in Cigar and Grocery Stores--Captives Get Bail.

"Harmon's Piace," a concert hall, bil-ilard-room and saloon, was closed by Sheriff Word yesterday afternoon because, as an additional attraction for the patrons, a "stud" poker game was installed. The gambling department was located in an underground floor, and was thought to be impregnable, but the Sheriff won an easy victory. He did not storm the premises, but, after ascertaining beyond any question that the law was being violated, walked in quietly, accompanied by Dep-uty Sheriff Grussi, and placed the proprieter, W. W. Harmon, under arrest. The next move was to march the employes and patrons out, lock the door and put a Deputy in charge as custodian.

Harmon was escorted to the Courthouse and was released on $250 bail. Within an hour after the raid was made District Attorney Manning filed an information against Harmon charging him with conducting a gambling-house.

"I will keep his place closed," said
Sheriff Word, "unless he gives me a written agreement that no gambling will be carried on in future. He said he would do so today. When I get the agreement I will turn his place back to him, not be-

was my duty to act.

Harris, together with A. B. Richardson and T. D. Richardson, were released on 1100 ball each. District Attorney Manning immediately filed an information in the State Circuit Court against the three men, charging them with running draw poker games. Sheriff Word was the complainant in each case. Yesterday morning, before Yesterday morning, before Judge George, Al Harris pleaded guilty to an indictment returned by the last grand jury charging him with running a nickel-inmachine, and was fined $200, which he paid.

REMONSTRATE AT ASSESSMENT

Albina-Avenue Property-Holders Ask Review of Council's Action.

A petition to review the action of the Common Council in the matter of a reassessment amounting to $11,000 for improvement of Albina avenue, from Page street to River street, was filed in the State Circuit Court yesterday by Ralph Duniway, attorney. The improvement was made a year ago and consisted of wood blocks, which took the place of a macadam pavement. The remonstrants James W. Applegate, Mary Evans, W.

H. Foster, C. H. Jackson, The Alliance Trust Co., Mary Phelps Montgomery, W. H. H. Morgan, Paul Wessinger and Henry Wagner, executors of the estate of Henry Weinhard, deceased; David Brown, Anna Brown, Dirk Van Rassum, John Michell, Irene A. McKenny, William H. Wigers, W. D. Walsh.

They aliege that the old pavement was much better than the new and was so firm that it could not even be plowed up, and had to be removed with dynamite. The last Monday with a Mr. Mack, for whom he had worked in the iron business. Ashley & Rumelin, brokers, have been cashing the warrants at par on the first day of the month, and have waited until the 12th or 15th before receiving repayment. The warrants draw interest at i per cent, but at present do not run more than two or three months, because the county is fast getting out of debt. The brokers figured that it was not profitable to advance money for 12 or 15 days on warrants, and pay interest on the money without receiving any return. True they would receive whatever interest the coun-ty paid on the warrants while they were outstanding from one to two or three months, but the brokers thought this in-sufficient, especially as they pay an employe a monthly salary to stand around the building and purchase warrants. The banks offered to take the warrants at par, and County Clerk Fields decided to issue them in future on the first day of

MYSTERY IN NEW JERSEY. Man With Defective Memory Suspected of Cunning Murder.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., Feb. 2.-George Williams, a young grocer in the village of Watchung, was found shot dead in his steigh on the road yesterday. Williams had started out to drive a well-dressed stranger to Warrenville, and that was the last seen of him until he was found The stranger has disappeared and ro motive for the crime can be learned.
Footprints in the snow, apparently made by a man walking backwards, led from the sleigh to the house of a French-man named Pollock, whom the stranger said he wished to visit. The house was apparently deserted and Pollock cannot be found. The footprints were followed to the railroad station, where the stranger boarded a train for New York.

George H. Wood, an ironworker, sur-rendered to the police at New York City tonight. He was held on suspicion that he knew something about the killing of Williams. Wood is Mrs. Pollock's grandson. An autopsy showed that Williams had been shot from behind through the heart. A bullet extracted from the body proved to be of the same calibre as some found in Wood's room in a hotel. Wood said his memory was partly a Wood said his memory was partly a blank regarding what happened to him or where he had been for nearly a week. He told the police he left New York City last Monday with a Mr. Mack, for whom the body.
