ness and general good of the city. To have a grand opening on the oc casion of moving into the new headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The Board of Trustees of the Chamber of Commerce met yesterday morning at the office of the secretary in the Mohawk building, with a full attendance. A great deal of routine business was transacted and many new plans were broached and

A. H. Kerr, of the firm of Wadhams & Kerr, laid a proposition before the ard for the establishment of a general Portland market day for the benefit of the merchants of the city and the citizens within a radius of 50 miles or more of Portland. Mr. Kerr's plan is to make arrangements with the transportation mpanies for the establishment of the lowest possible rate effective on a cer-tain day of each week. This rate should be placed as low as might be and on the days when it was effective the merchants of the city should make special prices and have their special sales as an in-flucement to the people to take advantage of the rate and come to the city to do

The question was discussed and in-forsed by the Board but it was thought that in view of the concessions made by the railroad companies for the Exposition, it would be unfair to ask them to do more furing the Summer. It was therefore de-cided to allow the plan to rest until after close of the Exposition, when it will be taken up and carried to success if po-

B. Wilcox was appointed to deal with the Columbia River Jetty question as regards any division of the appropriation money or application of it to the work. Mr. Wilcox is now at the Hotel Del Monte, at Monterey, but will leave in a short time for Wasinngton, D. This Board will consider all measures tending to the betterment or improvement of the city in any way and will attempt to carry out many plans for the beautifying and phuliding of the town.

At the meeting yesterday, the following were elected to membership in the Cham ber: C. H. Prescott, Lewis & Lewis, Goodman Brothers' Shoe Co., J. H. Vogt, D. L. Butler & Co., Crescent Paper Co., J. J. Kadderly, Bannockburn Manufac-turing Co., L. H. Adams, A. G. Long and Walter Mackay.

The Membership Committee, consisting of Frank Barrett, B. L. Thompson, Sol Blumauer, G. W. Brown and F. A. Nitchey, held a meeting at the close of the Board meeting and placed the goal of its endeavor at 1000 new members between this time and the opening of the Fair. CITY BONDS ARE IN DEMAND Bids Received for Issue of $57,702 for Bublic Improvements.

Bids were received yesterday by City Auditor Devlin for the $57,762,76 bond issue authorized by the ways and means com mittee for public improvements. A num-ber of prominent persons and corporations of Portland were among the bidders, and the offerings were of such a nature that the Auditor is much gratified. Premiums ranging from 2 per cent to 3½ per cent and accrued interest were listed in the bids. These are more liberal than any yet received for bond issues.

Several bids for the entire issue were received, but it is thought that the bonds will be disposed of in such manner as to afford the small bidders a chance to pur-chase them. The following persons submitted bids:

A. M. Knapp. L. J. Shell, Security Savings Bank, A. E. Eckhardt, R. G. Jubits, Tyler Woodward, Grand Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, Abe Tichner, Ashley & Rumelin, Mrs. Lydia Faber, United Sistes National Bank, Gertfude Metcalfe, J. Metcalfe, A. H. Maegiy and August G. Klosterman. All bids were accompanied by the necessary certified checks for 5 per cent of the amounts.

DOCTOR DRIVEN OUT OF CITY State Board of Medical Examiners' Victory Over J. L. Bohannan.

Dr. J. L. Bohannan, a cancer specialist died after three or four days under the care of the cancer specialist. The case was taken up by Dr. B. E. Miller, secretary of the board, and a complaint was filed against the specialist with the husband of the patient as complaining wit-

Rather than go to trial, Bohannan com-promised the case, agreeing to repay the $50 collected from his former patient and the minimum fine of $50 before Judge Hogue. It was further stipulated by the court that Bohannan should leave the state, and in event that he did not follow out the instructions in this particular he was to be given the limit in penalty if again brought before the bar.

It was also alleged in the complaint that Bohannan was accessory to the death of Mrs. Edgar, but this charge was dismissed, as it was determined by the examination of his prescriptions that there was nothing harmful in the medicine he had given the woman.

BURIAL OF PIONEER WOMAN. Remains of Mrs. Ady Interred at Lone Fir Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Ann Ady, who died at the home of her daughter. Mrs. Prudence V. Holston, 491 Railroad street, in Lower Albina, was held in the Presbyterian Church, Champoeg, Monday, and the interment was at Fir Grove Cemetery. Mrs. Ady was one of the few survivors of the immigration of 1844, who came through the Meek cutoff, with Joe Meek as guide. She was $2 years old. Born in Kentucky, 1823, she came with her parents to Illinois when a very young child. Losing her parents, she went to live with her grandparents on what is now called Wall Street, New York. She was married to Phineas R. Hunt, in Keo-kuk, Ia., and then crossed the plains to Oregon in 1844, and first settled at Hubbard, where she and her husband took up a donation land claim, which now constitutes the town of Hubbard. Her hus-band went to California in the mining excitement, where he died shortly afterwards in San Francisco. She was married to Robert Ady, also a pioneer of a few years later, and they settled on a farm at Champoeg, which was the oldest farm in that neighborhood. Besides Mrs. Adv. there was but one white woman living in that neighborhood, and the Hudson's Bay ompany had its establishment nearby.

Mrs. Ady left her home at Champoeg about three weeks ago to visit her chil-dren. She spent two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Sarah Huffaker, Garden Home, and then came to the home of Mrs. Holston, Albina, where she was taken sick soon after arriving, and grew worse, until she passed away, retaining her fac-ulties to the last. Mrs. Ady was a remarkable woman among the pioneers of this state. Her mind was filled with incidents and she was acquainted with most of the prominent pioneers. Owing to falling health she did not affiliate with the Ploneer Association. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Prudence V. Holston, Portland; Alfred and Jasper Ady, Champoeg, Or.; Elizabeth Geeland, St. Paul, Or.; Mrs. Sarah Huffaker, of Garden Home Dr.; Mrs. J. M. Poland, of Cottage Grove. There are 38 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren among Concordia Club Building.

A permanent home for the Michigan Soclety of Oregon was chosen at the meet-ing held last night, and rooms in the Con-cordia Club building, at Sixth and Alder streets, will be known hereafter as Michi-gan headquarters.

The society will take possession of its new rooms on March 7, and arrangements are now being made for a good old-fash-ioned Michigan housewarming. An enter-tainment and dance will be given to the friends and guests of the society, and an urgent invitation will be extended to all former Michigan residents, whether they are members of the new society or not.

The regular meeting nights of the Wolverines will be the first and third Tuesdays of each month. The meeting on February 21 will be held in the City Hall, ich all meetings will take place in

A badge emblematic of the society was adopted last night. Its form will be that of a shield with bars across the face in the shape of an X, containing the words "Oregon" and "Michigan." The colors adopted are those of the University of Michigan—blue and yellow—and badges will be supplied in pin and button form. It was decided last night to make existence of the society more widely known through the medium of placards posted in public places, mills, etc. These placards will be two feet square and will extend an invitation to all Michigan people to call upon the society at its headquarters.

Sixteen new hames were added to the roll last night. They are: Mrs. E. D. Sheldon, Mr. Craw, J. J. Donovan, Ira Dodge, Mrs. E. Van Allen, Mrs. W. H. Clark, Mrs. George H. Wemple, Mrs. George J. Cameron, Dr. E. K. Dearborn, David Forbes, Mrs. John D'Arcy, Mrs. Fred A. Ballin, Fred A. Bal-lin, Jaques Boyle, Margaret Lewis. This makes the total membership of the soci-

Charged With Beating Boy.

A warrant was issued yesterday, for the arrest of Marshall Douglass, charged with assaulting Chester Smith, a 17-year-old ov, on Stark street.

Smith claims that while walking along Stark street on his return to work at Marshall Wells Hardware Co., where he is employed, he received a terrific blow from behind. This, he says, was followed by a second blow which felled him. He says he was then severely kicked by Douglass who asserted he insulted his wife. The boy stoutly denies that he made any remark, but recalls passing couple as he walked along the street.

The story of the case is that some time ago Mrs. A. R. Edgar, of Woodburn, who was suffering from a malignant case of cancer, came to Portland to receive treatment at the hands of Bohannan, mortgaging her home for $50 in order to make the trip. Arriving here the woman When to Go Home.

END IS IN SIGHT

Federal Grand Jury Will Adjourn Monday.

MORE INDICTMENTS COMING

Investigation of Williamson Charges Will Be Finished Today, When Other Cases Will Be Considered.

This week will not see the end of the Federal grand jury, but another day will have to be added to the long space already occupied before the last report is in and the jurors are allowed to return to their homes. It now appears that the witnesses summoned are too many to allow conclusion of the work on Satur-day as was intended and the session will adjourn on Monday.

Tuesday morning District Attorney
Heney, accompanied by Offver E. Pagin, special assistant from the Department of Justice; Irvin Rittenhouse, private sten-ographer to Mr. Heney, and W. J. Burns, will leave for Washington, where Mr. Hency is to argue a motion in the Hyde-Dimond case before the Supreme Court.

Thomas B. Neuhausen, who has been in temporary charge of the Roseburg Land Office since the suspension of J. T. Bridges and J. H. Booth, is now in the city and will be left in charge of the Government headquarters here while Mr. Heney is in Washington. Mr. Heney Will Return.

The trip of Mr. Heney to Washington will occupy all of a month, after which time he will return to Portland and will not leave until the last of the land-fraud cases has been finished.

It is now thought that the end of this afternoon will see the close of the Williamson investigation which is being conducted by Mr. Heney before the grand jury. A number of witnesses have been examined and more are to come. So far C. Feuerhelm, Floyd Rowel, R. W. Breese, W. T. Fogle, W. A. Bell, Maggie Glaze and T. B. Bingley, of Princelle, and L. H. McMahon, of Salem, have been before the jury, and more will be called to-

It is not expected that the jury will make any report before the latter part of the week. If the investigation against Mr. Williamson is figished today and an indictment is voted, as it is supposed will be the case, it is not likely that the return wfl be made to the court until Saturday or perhap

Other Cases to Be Considered.

There are many little ends of work to be picked up before the jury can leave for home, and all of these will be attended to before a report is made. It is rumored that before the jury has adjourned some indictments of a local nature will be returned. The entire time of the investigating body is not being taken up, it is hinted, with the doings of Mr. Williamson alone, but others nearer home are now under the eye of the jury. The alleged plot against Mr. Heney has not been forgotten, so it is said, and something may

Crewn on Eve of Wedding.

#NSTEAD of the ringing of wedding bells, a happy marriage and a future of happiness, a warrant is out for the arrest of Samuel Crews, who is charged by Miss Maggie Reese with the theft of $300 in gold. They were to have been joined in wedlock last night.

Armed with the warrant, Detective Joe Day yesterday made diligent search for Crews, but could not locate hips and it is thought he left Portland at an early hour yesterday morning before the com-plaint was laid before the authorities and the warrant issued.

Miss Reese had perfect confidence in the man she expected to marry last night, and therefore, she states, left her money in her trunk in her apartments. He had a key, she says, that could open the trunk. She discovered the theft upon returning to her room, but was slow to believe Crews guilty. However, she went before an official and swore to a com-plaint during the forenden. Her suspi-cions were fully affirmed late in the day, when she received a letter from Crews, in which was inclosed a $10 bill, also stolen, she says, from her trunk. He made no comment, except to say that he wished her happiness, Miss Reese is from Yreka, California.

She is a working woman, and the sav-ings of years were represented in the sme stolen from her, as she alleges, by the man who won her heart and confi-

Arrangements had been made for the marriage ceremony to take place last night, and Miss Reese reached the city several days ago to prepare. She is now without funds, and her position is most uphappy. She hovers about police headquarters, hoping for word to come that Crews has been arrested. Unless she can obtain possession of at least a portion of the money, she says she does not know what she will do. She or relatives in Portland. She has no friends

DISMISSAL IN HOP CASE. Demurrer is Sustained in Suit of T. Rosenwald vs. S. W. Jones.

Upon hearing before Judge Bellinger yesterday the demurrer filed by the de-fendant in the suit of T. Rosenwald vs. S. W. Jones was sustained and the case dismissed. T. Rosenwald, representing T. Rosenwald & Co., of New Jersey, sued Jones for the alleged failure to complete a hop contract.

The complaint stated that Jones had entered into a contract with Catlin & Linn, agreeing to sell approximately 13,000 to 15,000 pounds of hope. Afterwards Callin & Linn turned this contract over to Rosenwald and, when the latter made demand for delivery, Jones refused to furnish the hors. The description of the contract over the contract over the contract over the contract over the contract of the contract of the contract over the contract of the refused to furnish the hops. The de-murrer to the complaint alleged that it did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action and that the con plaint showed on its face that the court had no jurisdiction.
