"Cherokee Bill" for a Guard Former Scout and Rough Rider Has Recommendation of President Roosevelt.
"Cherokee Bill," E. S. Kincaid, has applied for a position in the Exposition guard, on recommendation of President Roosevelt. Kincaid was a Rough Rider, and partially on the influence of the President, received an appointment in the Jefferson Guards at St. Louis. He wrote to the management of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, requesting a similar position, and the application was placed on file, as the question of a guard had not been taken up at that time.
"Cherokee Bill" meanwhile, apparently fearing that the application was permanently on file, wrote to President Roosevelt, who instructed his secretary to write President Goode and recommend the Rough Rider to him. The President expressed confidence in his old comrade, and an attempt will be made to find a position for him here at the Fair.
