WORK ON SELLWOOD WOOLEN MILL-The Clark Woolen Mills Company will file its articles of incorporation in a few days, the capital stock being $100,000. Mr. Clark has been associated with Shearer & Co., manufacturers of woolen goods, at Grand Rapids, Mich., and this firm takes $75,000 of the capital stock, while the remaining $25,000 of the stock is divided among A. C. Mowrey, J. M. Nickum, Ben Riesland and other Portland men. The company has an option on four acres of the land on which the Portland Woolen Mills stood before it was destroyed by fire. It is an-nounced that work will be started on the factory within 60 days, and the promoters hope to have it in operation by June 1. Plans for the main factory building will be prepared at once. Some of the buildings used by the Portland Woolen Mills Company, which escaped the fire, may be used. NAME DAY OF PRAYER.-Some years ago Name Day of Prayer.—Some years ago the Women's Mission Societies of the Baptist, Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian denominations agreed to observe annually the third Thursday in February as a day for spiritual quickening, and the arousing of Christians generally to the urgency of prompt and carnest effort for the evangelization of the world. The women of the White Temple invite all the mission societies of all churches to unite in observing this day, February 18, from 2 to 5 P. M., and request the pastors of the various churches to announce the various churches to announce the meeting in their pulpits tomorrow. A dif-ferent leader will take charge every hour, giving opportunity for a large number to take part. Churches are requested to co-operate, making the Thursday evening meeting a missionary service.

MACHINERY FOR ESTACADA FACTORY-Machinery for the new Estacada Wood Manufacturing Company has been purchased, at a cost of $5000. It will be shipped to Estacada for installation at once. The building has been completed and is ready for the machinery. The company is making contracts with the sawmills in the neighborhood to supply on an average of 25,000 feet of lumber per day which will mean a great deal for the saw-mills as it will furnish them with a marhet close to home. Between 25 and 30 hands will be employed in the factory. The boiler is 130 horsepower. It is expected that the new factory will be in operation by April 1, if not sooner.

The play closely follows the lines of "Kerry Gow," the other great Murphy success, which was seen here on the two preceding nights. It has survived 27 years and has much to recommend it, but it lacks cohesiveness, and is quite improbable in many of the situations. It is doubtful if the play could stand alone with anyone but Murphy in the title role. It is, of course, designed especially for him and it gives full latitude for the display of his peculiar powers. The well-known song, "A Handful of Earth," which the fine old Irish star has been singing all these years, was, as usual, the big feature of the performance, and was warmly re-ceived.

Rev. A. J. Montgomery Declines Call to Grant's Pass Church.

Rev. Andrew J. Montgomery has decided that he will not accept the call extended him by Bethany Presbyterian Church, of Grant's Pass, and will remain as the pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church, of Portland. The call was a tempting one from a financial point and otherwise, as Bethany Church is one of the leading Presbyteman Churches outside of Port-land in the state, but there was a general desire that Rev. Mr. Montgomery should remain in Portland, not only by members in the Third Church, but from others in Portland, which he could not resist. Rev. Mr. Montgomery announced to his congregation Thursday evening, at the prayer meeting, that he intended to remain. They were prepared to make a strong protest at his leaving, but the announcement removed the need to be seen ment removed the need.

The names of Rev. Mr. Smith, of Klam-ath Fails, and of Rev. Robert McLean, now of Porto Rico, are mentioned in con-nection with a call to Grant's Pass Church. Rev. Mr. McLean established the Grant's Pass Church, and was called to the Third Church, and from there he went to Porto Rico, where he expected to remain three years, which time has near-ly expired. Whether he would now ac-cept a call back to Oregon is not known.
