Chamber of Commerce Seeks to Unite With Other Bodies.

BY-LAWS ARE TO BE AMENDED

Professional Men Will Be Admitted to Membership and Effort Made to Consolidate Commercial and Trade Organizations.

Cards of special invitation have been issued from the offices of the president and secretary of the Portland Chamber Commerce calling a special meeting the members of the organization to be held in the new quarters in the Chamber of Commerce building on Wednesday,

This meeting is to be called together at 2:30 in the afternoon and is for the purpose of amending the bylaws of the chamber, and in this purpose is hidden s deeper meaning than has up to this ime been announced. Even before his installation as president of the chamber, William D. Wheelwright amounced that he was in favor of the consolidation of all the commercial and industrial bodies of the city under the one head of the Portland Chamber of Commerce. This plan was discussed at that time, and committees were appointed from the Manufacturers' Association and the Portland Board of Trade to meet with the representatives of the Chamber of ce in consideration of the scheme From that time to the present but little has been said of the plan, and it was thought to have died, as it is known that a large part of the membership, both the Board of Trade and of the Manufacturers' Association, is not in favor of Membership Rules to Be Changed. The principal change to be made in the bylaws will be in relation to the membership requirements. As it now stands, a man, to be a member of the trip, chamber, must be one employed in a commercial calling. It is intended to ing change this and to throw open the doors of the institution to all who are publicspirited and prosperous enough to pay the yearly dues of $29. This will allow the lawyers and other professional men of the Board of Trade to come into the organization, as well as those who belong the Manufacturers' Association.

In addition to this the bylaws will be changed in such a way as to do away with the objections of the recalcitrant members of the outside associations and make it possible to gather under the standard of the Chamber of Commerce all the combined forces of the three organizations now in existence. As soon as these changes are made in the bylaws a meeting will be held with the entatives of the Manufacturers' Asopresentatives of the Manufacturers' As-ociation and the Hoard of Trade and an effort will be made to induce all to come

* Board of Trade Opposed.

Whether or not this plan will be successful is a matter of some doubt. It is known that the Board of Trade is adverse to giving up its organization and separate name. The members feel that they have done and are doing a great deal for the good of the city and the the idea of being lost and absorbed in the other body. The concrete opinion of the membership might be shown by the statement of one of those prominent in the Board of Trade management when he said yesterday: "It might be just as well Board of Trade seems to think it can stand alone and under its own name without being bolstered up by or engrafted on the Chamber of Commerce.
The Manufacturers' Association has ontended from the first that it has a field and a work of its own and that it occupies a certain specific place in the development work for the city and state. For that reason it does not see the advis-ability of being absorbed as a body by the larger organization.

A committee was appointed, however, make investigation into the plan, and after a consultation with the committee from the Chamber of Commerce to make a report to the trustees of the associa-This was done at the meeting held a few days ago, and the views of the committee were divergent. It was decided to leave the matter until the return of Secretary C. H. McIssac, who is now in the East and to whom the members trust ore his departure Mr. Isaac said that the work of the association was specific to itself; that it had its own field, and, therefore, it would not be a wise thing to consolidate. Unless this opinion is changed, therefore, it is not likely that lation will consent to merge itself into the larger organization.

Manufacturers Are Undecided.

Another thing urged by the Manufactur ers' Association against the consolidation is that one-half of the membership alenrolled on the list of the Cham of Commerce, and the other half would not transfer its allegiance the price of membership were to be low-ered. It is urged, therefore, that it would gain the Chamber nothing in members to consolidate with the association.

But whatever the outcome, the fact remains that quarters are being provided in the new Chamber of Commerce Hall for the accommodation of the Board of Trade and the Manufacturers' tion divisions of the reorganized and consolidated body. It is also expected and planned that the exhibit of the Ore Information Bureau now located at the Union Depot will be taken over by the Chamber of Commerce and piaced with its permanent exhibit in the new

If the plans of the Chamber of Comce are carried out that organization will share with the Portland Commer-cial Club the honors of the entire Port-land field of public endeavor, and there will be none beside it, for the other bod-les will be departments of the Chamber.

HELPS IN GETTING HUSBANDS Miss Tingle Says Cooking Courses Promote Matrimony.

The School of Domestic Science, run in connection with the Young Women's Christian Association, will be reopened shortly with Miss Lillian E. Tingle in harge. Miss Tingle has just arrived from the East, and a prospectus of the work under her direction will be issued Thurs-day. Since Miss Lawrence left the school there have been no classes held, and the new rooms of the school, at 121 Tenth street, have not been used for some time. The school was formerly at Fifteenth and Washington streets.

Miss Tingle comes to Portland with ex cellent references, and those interested in the cooking school believe she will soon have many classes and be able to teach girls about housekeeping. She is by no means new at the work, having just completed her fifth year at the head of the domentic science department of the State Manual Training School, at Ellendale. orth Dakota. She went there to open the school, and comes here to enter a wider field of activity. She is an English-woman and received her education at at Aberdeen, Scotland. For two years she taught at the Aberdeen school, finally accepting the position offered her in North Dakota. Miss Tingle, in speaking of her former school yesterday, said incidentally that all her graduates had married and that some of them did not even wait to finish the course before making an actual test of their cooking ability on a husband.

JACK FROST READY TO LEAVE Cold Snap Is Broken, and Normal Weather Is in Sight.

Uniess all signs fail Portland's cold nap is practically over and by the end of the week normal weather conditions, cluding even the Oregon mist, should prevail.

The ice, with its skating and sliding, which brought joy to the hearts of the boys and many of the older folks, lasted but a day and is now only a memory. The last few days have established a record unequaled in many years for cold weather in Portland. The lowest point in temperature was recorded on February 11 at 7 A. M., when the thermometer stood at 17 degrees above zero. While even this struck Eastern visitors as more like Spring weather than the Winter they had just fift, it was much too cold to suit the native Oregonian, and the rising thermometer is looked upon with general

The weather is now moderating, the sun's rays bringing the thermometer up to 40 degrees yesterday afternoon. With the night it went down to 22 degrees, but a gradual increase will be felt now. By Winter temperature should be resumed.

PASSENGER AGENTS TO MEET Arrangements Being Made for Care of Northwest Delegations.

The annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Association of Traveling Pas-senger Agents will be field in San Jose commencing February 20. The meeting will be attended by a large number of the traveling passenger agents from the Northwest district. The delegations from Oregon, Washington and Idaho will be in charge of Paul B. Thompson, secretary of the first district, who is making arrangements for the transportation and care of those who may wish to take the

The general programme of the meeting includes excursions to Los Gatos, Santa Clara and the old Mission there, Campbells and its fruitpacking estab lishments, Mt. Hamilton, the Lick Observatory and the various other points of interest throughout the Santa Clara Valley and vicinity.

Those who go from Portland will leave here on Saturday night, over the Southern Pacific.

DISTRICT TO REMAIN INTACT Annexation Will Not Affect Govern ment of Mount Tabor Schools.

There is much concern at Mount Tabou as to whether, if part of Mount Tabor School District No. 5 should be annexed to Portland, part of the district would be left out. P. P. Dabney, member of the Mount Tabor School Board of District No. 5, sets at rest all apprehension on that score. He said last evening in dis-cussing the question: "It is provided in the bill for annexation of a portion of Mount Tabor that School District No. 5 remain intact, and it will be affected in no way. It will still re-main School District No. 5, and retain its Directors and school government the same as at present. This is provided for in the approximation bull.

same as at present. This is provided for in the annexation bil."

There is disappointment among some of the residents east of West avenue over the fact that they are not given an op-portunity to vote on annexation, and they will probably ask the Portland Council for the Chamber to pass its new bylaws will probably ask the Portland Council and let us look at them before it takes us under its wing." In other words, the time the people west of West avenue time the people west of West avenue vote on the subject.

TALK OF ANTI-SALOON WORK League Officers Find Lack of Interest in Cause.

The regular monthly meeting of the officers of the Anti-Saloon League, of Oregon, was held at the headquarters of the society in the Fenton building last night Aside from routine business little came before the meeting. The present work of the league was generally discussed, but no important new features brought up. Various miner suggestions for the advancement of the fight against sale were discussed, chief of these being that of arousing more general interest in the work by giving more publicity to the ob-jects of the League and the results ac-complished thus far. It was thought that if there was a more widespread knowledge of the affairs of the league more aid might be enlisted. A committee will un doubtedly be appointed to take this matter in charge and develop the idea as suggested.

Compositions of Chopin to Be Played by De Pachmann, Arranged for the Pianola.

It is seldom Portland is favored with so great an occasion as the all-Chopin re-cital to be given at the Marquam on Wednesday afternoon by the great pianist and greatest of Chopin interpreters, Vladinir de Pachmann,

Through the kindness of Miss Steen and Miss Coman, we have secured a cop of the programme for Wednesday after noon, and we are happy to announce that we have a number of the Chopin composi-tions that will be played. Any one who desires is welcome to call at our store

The educational value of the Pianola cannot be overestimated. It keeps the people in touch with the finest musical thought and prepares them for a proper understanding of the playing of the greatest musicians. In London, England, the Planoia has been utilized by G. C. Ashton Jonson, an eminent Chopin authority, to illustrate his lecture upon Chopin, no less than H selections by the great composer being given on the Pianola and Acolian Pipe Organ during the lecture. TAKES HIS OFFICE

B. A. Worthington Succeeds E. E. Calvin.

MANAGER OF HARRIMAN LINES

Will Make No Changes in Office Forces-Oregon, He Says, Has No Lack of Resources, but Needs Density of Population.

B. A. Worthington, who succeeds E. E. Calvin as general manager of the O. R. & N. and the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon, reached Portland yesterday afternoon from Chicago and at once as ternoon from Chicago and at once as-sumed charge of his office in the Worces-

Mr. Worthington, who has been assist ant director of maintenance and operation of the Harriman system since April 1, 1994, and up to Friday last, when he be came general manager of the Northwes division, is a man in many ways different from his predecessor. Mr. Calvin was the silent man of the whole Harriman property, one who was without words unless his utterance was a direction, an order or a statement of fact. The new manager is of a different type. He is a genial man, who shows by his conver-sation that he is a close student of the conditions prevailing as to resources, population and wealth of the districts in which he has an interest either intimate ly or remotely. He is one who cons the promises of nature and who remembers what can be expected from a country in every particular. And yesterday after-noon he sat in his new office, surround-ed by piles and piles of correspondence. the accumulation of several days, and told of what he expected of Oregon and "I suppose," said Mr. Worthington to his visitor, "that you have come to tell me of Oregon and of what a wonderful country it is."

Portiand.

A moment later the newcomer himself told of the wonderful resources of the dis-trict and compared them with Eastern sections in productiveness and resources and compared the two parts of the na-tion in density of population.

Oregon Needs Population.

"Oregon is a wonderful state, and this a district of great promise," he connued. "Take, for example, the wheat crop of the Northwest just harvested. I understand that it was 50 per cent greater than the year before, but the people of the state, I dare say, have no idea from what figures of tonings they have seen, of the immensity of the yield. It might be different if they would stop to think that if all the crop of this Fall were to be loaded in cars of the capacity of 30 ns to the car, it would make a solid ain 600 miles long, or long enough to reach from Portland to Spokane, and then have an end long enough to stick out of the other side.

This alone, not speaking of the mines, the forests and the other advantages to be found here, shows the great promise of the country. The state needs people, not resources; density of population and men to bring to the front all the forces lying dormant for lack of use."
Mr. Worthington then talked of his office and of his policy for a moment. "I will institute no changes," he said, "so far as I know at this time. I have brought no one with me, with the exception of my private secretary. W. W. Griswold. I will make no changes in any of the office forces here unless I find by later association and experience a man who is inefficient for any reason; and from what I know and have seen I do not think that any such change will be nocessary. I believe that the men now at work are a very capable and faithful Lines Are in Good Condition. "As to the road; on my last visit of in the Oregon division of the Southern Pacific are in very good condition; better, in fact, than most of the roads west of Chicago. There yet remains a little hallasting to do on the O. R. & N. and on the Southern Pacific, but the heavy work

Then Mr. Worthington touched upon Portland, his new home. There is one point I want to mention he said, "and that is the pleasure with which I come to Portland. I think the city has the advantage of San Francisco and other California cities in point of average climate and healthfulness. I am given to understand that at no pin to be found such wholesouled and hos-pitable people, both in business and social

"While on my way here I met A. L. Mohler, in Chicago, and had a talk with him for half an hour, most of which was about Portland, and at that time he told me it was his wish and his intention whenever the time came that he was justified in retiring from active life, to justified in retiring from active life, to come to Portland, buy him a home and remain here for the rest of his life, From dm I gained. In part, my ideas of Portland and its people."

The new general manager will be a very busy man for asfew days, until he is able to overtake the large accumulation of cor-respondence and other work which has gathered in the interval between the de-parture of Mr. Calvin and the arrival of the new officer. Once caught up he will spend a good portion of his time for the immediate future in making himself op-tirely familiar with the various details of the work of the Northwest branches of the work of the Nort of the Harriman system.

LOS ANGELES SHOPS INSPECTED

Charles F. Swigert Returns From a Visit to California. Charles F. Swigert, vice-president of the Portland Consolidated Rallway Company, has returned from a visit to Los Angeles where he went to inspect the shops and equipment of the electric railway systems of that district.

The visit was made partly with a view incorporating some of the good features of those systems in the construc-tion of the new shops now being built by the Portland Consolidated at Twenty-fourth and Savier streets. These new hulldings will be crected as soon as pos-sible and will be made modern in every way, surpassing in many points, when completed, similar shops on the Pacific Coast.

Panic in Theater Narrowly Averted. LOUISVILLE, Feb. 14.—A panic was narrowly averted at MacCauley's Theater during the performance given by Maxine Elliott and her company. While the second act was on, the odor of smoke, apparently coming from the upper part of the house created uneasiness. smoke, apparently coming from the up-per part of the house, created uneasiness among the audience, which probably was the largest of the season. The curtain was rung down and some one in the gal-lery shouled, "There is a fire up here." Persons in all parts of the house began reaching for their wraps. The audience, however, was quieted and a panic avert-ed. The cause of the smoke was not learned.

The sanitary officials are preparing to clean the cities and are issuing warnings to the people to boil their water, etc. Typhoid is now periodically epidemia in St. Petersburg.

NEW BUILDINGS GOING UP.

Activity Begins Early, and Many Structures Are Being Bullt.

Building is beginning early this year. A good deal has lasted over from the Fall, and much more is now being pro-jected. The main portion of this building will be done in the gradually widening business district.
It cannot be said that there will be any particular Spring rush in house-building, for it has continued the Winter through, and more handsome houses are being erected today than at any one time in the history of the city. But notable changes are to be made on the edges of the business section.

Two new brick buildings are to be erected on upper Washington street soon. one on the corner of Fourteenth street, by Robert W. Wilson, and the other on Eighteenth street, by the Irwin-Hodson Company. The Wilson building will contain stores on the ground floor, and the upper floors will be used for an apartment-house. The Irwin-Hodson Company is to build a four-story back in which is to build a four-story brick, in which to house its printing and lithographing es-tablishment. Bushong & Co. engaged in a similar business, own the adjoining quarter-block on Seventeenth and Wash-ington streets, and expect to build later, masonry foundation of the Elks' building, at Seventh and Stark streets, will be laid at once. The contract for all the masonry work on the building has been let to Friberg Bros., and the ex-cavation work has already been done. The building, which is to cost $75,000, will be five stories high The Concords aight.

The Concords Club, an old and wellestablished organization, filed papers of incorporation yesterday. Marcus Fleischner, Isam White, Sigmund Frank and Edward Ehrman are the incorporators. This was done, as the club is about to build a handsome clubbouse of its own at Six-teenth and Morrison streets, to cost about $50,000, and incorporation was necessary to acquire title to the property.

LOSES CONSTABLE AND JUDGE B. E. Longenecker Resigns as Mount Tabor Peace Justice.

B. E. Longenecker, of Russellville, who was elected Justice of the Peace for the Mount Tabor district, has placed his resignation in the hands of the County Court, but it has not yet been scepted. Mr. Longenecker has been away a portion of the time since he was elected. There has been no constable for about five months and there is much complaint on this account among the residents. Three applications have been filed for appointment as Justice of the Peace for this district, but no selection has yet been made. The residents are anxious that a magistrate and constable be appointed who will look after the
