HARRIS SIGNS TEAM

With the Seals.

STAR PITCHERS ON THE STAFF

Joe Corbett and Jimmy Whalen Have Not Signed Contracts, but Are Claimed by the San Francisco Manager.

Uncle Hank Harris, manager of the 'Frisco Seals, is the latest of the Pacific Coast League moguls to announce his bali team for 1965. Mr. Harris is very happy over securing the services of young Jim Neulon, the crack amateur first-sacker. The Seal manager, just as soon as he put the flippers on Nealon, gave out the lineup of his team.

Another thing which from all accounts pleases Uncle Hank very much, is the fact that Joe Corbett and Jimmy Whalen will be among the stars of his pitching While Harris has not the signatures of these two twirlers attached to a Seal contract, he says he has letters from both James A. Hart, of the Chicago National League team, and Ned Hanlon, of Brooklyn, and he is willing to wager that Corbett and Whalen play with him this season. The line-up of the Seals fol-

Catchers-Wilson and Shea.

Harris Talks of His Players.

Harris is a pretty fair press agent him-self. In fact, he is a shade better than Mique Fisher because he sticks to the when he talks about his players. his 1905 team, Harris is quoted as

"Hitt is a left-hander and nitched a game for me against Los Angeles. New-ton was the opposing pitcher, and the An-gels beat us 3 to 1. With any kind of support, Hitt would have shut them out, but Phil Knell, who was playing second, made a couple of unfortunate errors, which lost the game.

"Henley is a Sacramento boy and pitched in the Oregon State League last season. Sales pitched in the Northern California League and is almost as large as Overall. People who have seen him play say that he has great speed. "Roscoe Miller is unknown here, but he has always been a major leaguer, having pitched for Detroit in 1962, New York in 1906 and Pittsburg in 1904. He is a large man, and Corbett and Shay, who saw him work last season, say he will be a

"Gochnauer was full of rheumatism last season and unable to show his real form, and I know his playing created a great deal of unfavorable comment, but I have every confidence in his ability. His rheu-matism has disappeared, and I hope he will show his true form this season. You kflow, a man who could play short on the Cleveland team for two seasons alongside of two such stars as Lajoie and Bradley must be a player of considerable

The team will show a great improvement over last year in various depart-ments. We have been greatly strengthened in pitching and catching, in base running and general inside play.
"We leave for Visalia, our training quarters, March 1, and return on the 17th, playing the Chicago League club March 18 and 19."

It will be noticed that Harris has left out Andy Anderson. Andy has been win-tering in Portland, and has been waiting ee what Harris was going to do. Several times Andy has written the California magnate, but up to the present time get busy, for he has several flattering of-

"Slats" Davis Recovering Health. J. Ira Davis, familiarly "Slats" to the baseball fans of the Coast and in Portland, is slowly recovering from a severe illness. Davis has been trying to get President Bert to assign him to a position on the Coast League umpire staff. He has received several letters from the president, but so far they have not come to terms. In case Davis fails to be en-gaged by President Bert, he will captain a team in the Middle West.
