Plans Are Laid for Great Civic Campaign.

WILL ENFORCE ORDINANCES,

Portland to Become Ideal Town of West.

POLICEMEN NEEDED

Chamber of Commerce Will Change By-Laws to Include All Citizens in Movement to Cleanse the City.

Portland is now the City of Roses and the second city in point of healthfulness in the United States. Soon, if the camcolen about to be inaugurated carries it will be one of the cleanest cities in ex-istence, ever striving to be the cleanest. will take front rank in regards to auty and morality and order. It will be, insofar as united effort may make it, the model city of the West. This is the plan being nurtured by the Portland Chamber of Commerce and which will be made public in detail within the coming

the organization from this time on, and united effort will be made to crown be endeavors of the chamber and its allies with success vancement that the board of trustees decided to redraft the by-laws of the organization and to broaden the scope of the chamber, in membership and power. In pursuance of this policy the meeting of the members on March 15 will vote on a new set of rules which, if adopted, will open the way for many and important changes in the work and duties of the chamber.

Board to Have Control.

One of the principal changes to be made in the by-laws will be the provision for board of civic improvement, into whose control and under whose direction will be given the advancement of Portland in its varied interests. This board will take up in detail the many branches of endeavor open to it and will work in harmony with the many influences of the city for the upbuilding and beautifying

The committee, or board, will not try by its own single-handed efforts to remedy the many flagrant and long-standing abuses existing, but will call to its help every public-spirited citizen of Portland. It is recognized that the city, though in good condition generally, needs cleaning up in many ways. Better streets and cleaner ones; more shade trees and better care of those now growing; the doing away with the unsightly, unpainted poles strung along the streets; the removal of the signa and biliboards protruding themselves on the public eye; abatement of the spitting nuisance; the increase of the police force in numbers and efficiency-these are some of the things which will be attended to.

President Wheelwright, of the Cham-ber of Commerce, and the man to whom belongs in great part the credit for in-stituting or resurrecting the plan of en-deaver, told yesterday afternoon some of the hopes and intentions of the board of trustees. In speaking of the subject he HOP MEN ARE MUCH PUZZLED said:

Ideas of Mr. Wheelwright.

I have read with interest Mr. McCus ker's letter in this morning's Oregonian touching a subject that, among many others, has had the careful consideration of the trustees of the Chamber of Commerce, shows from the time of their or ganization as a board in the latter part of January, viz.: That of civic improvement. Our first act was the appointment of a committee to redraft the by-laws, so as to enlarge the scope of the chamber's work, to empower the president to appoint boards and committees to take up special lines of work in almost any direction leading to commercial, civic and individual advantage. This has been satisfactorily done by the committee, consleting of R. R. Hoge, Hugh McGuire, president of the Pacific Paper Company, nd Jay Smith, of the Marshall-Wells by-laws an almost ideal code for such an institution as ours. The plan of having a board of civic improvement played an important part in the deliberations of the mittee, and the new constitution prorides for the admission to membership of any reputable person who is willing to ald in the work of making this city m powerful as a community, more habitable as a place of residence, and more attractive to visitors

The requisite 30 days' notice was given to the members looking to the legal adop-tion of the amended by-laws, and the meeting is called for March 15, when it is confidently hoped that the plan will go through without opposition. I don't know that the appointment and organization of the proper board can be fully accom-plished until that shall have been done, but meantime we are all engaged in forwarding a plan and working out the detalls as far as possible

After satisfying myself that some plan for civic improvement was deemed generally desirable by those who must be instrumental in carrying it out, So the Sheriff came down like the wolf on the called Mr. McCusker Into contemplation and learned from him most of the facts stated in his letter that appeared this morning, receiving also valuable suggestions as to the work to be done and low to do it. I may may that every one of his suggestions appealed to me as being sensible and practicable, and I was glad to be assured that he would be willing to act as a member of the board and to give it the benefit of his experience, as well as of his energy and personal effort in carrying out the suggestions that have grown out of that experience.

Many Things to Be Done.

'As to what is to be done," continued Mr. Wheelwright, "it would be easier to make up a list of what we may leave undone, so many are the avenues for combined and individual effort. We require not only a committee made up of influential citizens to organize and plan the work, and to direct their combined force against flagrant and long-continued chuses so long existing that the great majority of the citizens no longer notice them-but an army of energetle and will-ing workers to carry out the work in all its details. The city needs a general cleaning up physically, as well as morally we want the outward and visible sign we want the inward and spiritual grace; want good streets, good roads and d sidewalks, and more of all of hem; we want to see that all new streets are constructed on the latest scientific plans, and when they are opened, we want them kept clean, free from obstructions and indisfigured by unsightly poles, hide-ous postery and abominable signs."

maintenance and growth should be en-couraged as much as possible, whereas they are being rapidly destroyed, on one pretext or another, and the treatment of those that escape the ax is barbarous, as stated by Mr. Olmstead, the eminent landscape architect and gardener. A commit-tee on trees would find enough to do in accomplishing the preservation of those we have, in encouraging the planting of more, in seeing that present ordinances are enforced and in favoring the enact-

Need of More Policemen.

"Then there is the police force, a body of 70 men, more or less, to police a city of 140,000 people. It should be largely in-creased, and its discipline and usefulness couraged. The Oregonian of today tells of the action of a strong committee of the New York Chamber of Commerce, composed of Elihu Root, Austin Fox, Morris K. Jeesup and William Jay-names that are historical or that will become so-looking to the purification of the police force of that city, and to its greater efficiency. They have the aid and co-operation of Police Commissioner McAdoo, an ideal official-just such aid as a strong committee of Portland's best citizens should have from our Commissioners— General Beebe and Mr. Sichel.
