Railroad Measure May Not Please Upper House, and a Rival Bill May Be Returned at a Later Date.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 2L-(Special.)-The Railway Commission bill prepared last evening by a quorum of the House ratiroads committee by adding a few amendments to the joint subcommittee bill, came into the House just before adjournment this afternoon, after unanimous consent had been given to receive the committee report out of the regular order of business. If the temper with which the bill was received is an indication of its standing in the House it will be passed by the ultra-commission men in the lower branch without difficulty.

The committee was particularly anxious to report the bill today, in order that the House could act on it this week and get the bill over to the Senate. Such is the plan as now laid, it being the intention to attempt to put the bill through next

The committee members who had agreed upon the bill had been hard at work all day, the work including conferences with the Attorney-General as to the wording of the several amendments adopted last evening, the effect of which have heretofore been given. Then the bill as amended by the committee was completely transcribed and the report was completed late in the afternoon.

The bill went on the record as House substitute bill No. 6, and the report of the committee carried the indefinite postponement of two other railroad commission bills. The report was called a me jority report, although when submitted to the House it bore the signatures of only eight of the 17 members of the com-Fellowing a motion made to adopt the

While it is possible the bill may be passed by the House Friday, there may be strength enough against the measure to postpone final action until the follow-ing week, inasmuch as the bill will be on second reading Friday, and will require a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules and get it up for final passage. The friends of the bill are not now sure of sufficient strength to force the measure. Action of the kind indicated tends to threaten a retition of the railway commission history of two years ago, when the House was atrong enough to pass the bill, but its friends in the Senate were not in sufficient numbers to get it through.

It is also within the bounds of possibility that this year the Senats will pass a bill requiring screens in irrigating ophy department at Stanford, which has been dormant for the past two pass a bill unaccept, and that the House will pass a bill unaccept, and that the House will pass a bill unaccept, and the House will pass a bill unaccept, and the House will pass a bill unaccept. Court Considered Useless. OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 21 .- (Special.) Speaker Megler kept the House in session all day, in spite of a manifest uneasiness caused by desire of many to adjourn and attend the Elks' reunion in Scattle. Roth tried to get the attention of the Speaker in order to move an amendment and shouted at the top of his voice, but he was ignored and the vote was taken and declared car-

McCoy's bill, which was intended to make more specific the provisions of the state timber act upheld yesterday in an opinion handed down by the Supreme Court, was a special order for 2 o'clock. Kellogg moved the indefinite postpone-ment of the bill and McCoy presented and had read the opinion of the Supreme Court upholding the act in its intention to reserve from sale all lands bearing aber in excess of 1,000,000 feet to the quarter section, but to permit the sale of the timber separately. He said that in-asmuch as the Supreme Court had rendered this decision, he would not object to the indefinite postponement of the bill. Several members of the committee on state lands, who had had trouble over the bill in committee, attempted to give reasons why they would have opposed the bill had not the Supreme Court rendered their attempts useless. Roth got started on a long speech and was in the midst of telling why he had introduced bills this morning withdrawing all state lands from sale and requiring the appointment of a commission to report on the land laws, when Falconer interposed another to adjourn. The House was immediately in an up roar of shouts for rolicall, and the call showed the motion had failed to carry. "I wish to explain," said Falconer, when quiet was restored, "that I made that motion because every one of the 17 members of the lands committee has a long speech on this bill caking in his brain." There were cries of "question," and the Supreme Court decision, was considered one of the most important of the session, was indefinitely postponed without an opposing vote.

Deceived by Her Course, Jameson, the Notorious Smuggler, Comes Out and Is Captured.

SEATTLE, Feb. 21.-The Post-Intelliencer will publish the following tomorow morning:

Through the stratgy practiced by Capain D. F. Tozier, commanding the revenue cutter Grant, the notorious Smuggler Jameson was last Monday compelled to sacrifice a large cargo of oplum which he was endeavoring to land on American soll, and it is now beneath the water of Haro Straits, about one mile from the anadian boundary. Monday afternoon the Grant proceeded inder easy speed up Haro Straits, in order that she might be well observed rom the Canadian shore and entered Mosquito Pass, on the American side, in the hope of deceiving those who might be watching the cutter, into the belief that she would go through the pass. Instead of continuing, however, the Grant an-chored and remained there until about : clock, when she got under way and proceeded out, a sloop having been sight-ed rapidly approaching from the Canadian side and heuding for Deception Pass. The sloop had been allowed to get with-in about 1½ miles of the American shore.

when the Grant came out, heading for her at full speed. Immediately on the cut-ter's appearance in the straits the sloop was put about and endeavored to regain British waters. When it became apparent that he would soon be overhauled, those on board the stoop began throwing over-board quantities of packages. The Grant ran alongside the sloop and several bluejackets tumbled on board and had the master of the craft fast in a moment. An officer boarding the sloop at once recognized the apparently innocent fish-erman as Jameson, who, with his partner. Wilkes, now serving a long term at McNell's Island, are alleged to be two of the best-known and most daring smug-glers of opium and Chinese on Puget

BOISE, Idaho, Feb. 21.—(Special.)— The Senate record of the passage of the anti-polygamy and anti-adultery bills was again a subject of a lively tilt today in that body. Hart asked unanimous consent that the words "as amended" be inserted in the report of the passage of the measures.

MacBeth objected. He said he wisned to have the original motion for passage of the bills read. It would show the words "as amended" were not contained in the motion. He said:

The Democratic party wants these measure on the statute books, but it wants them put of in a legal manner. Tou Republicans should desire the same thing. You should not permi such things as have been attempted here. I ask for the reading of the original motion. If I am wrong I selli admit it, but I will have to be shown.
