SONS HEED THE NATAL DAY Revolutionary Society Hears Addresses by Mayor and Others.

The anniversary of Washington's birinday, which occurred yesterday, was a notable event in the history of the Oregon Society of Sons of the American Revolution.

Using the afternoon for an annual business meeting and an election of officers and the evening for an open meet-ing and smoker, the society fully utilized the day for the remembrance of their revered leader.

At the afternoon meeting General Thomas M. Anderson was elected to the presidency of the society. An attempt was made to have the retiring presi-dent, Mayor Williams, succeed himself, and it was only on the repeated protests of the Mayor that the society con-sented to allow him to withdraw. The other officers elected were Wallace Mc. Camant, vice-president; Harrison G. Platt, secretary; Herbert B. Augur, reasurer; W. H. Chapin, registrar. The board of managers appointed for the ensuing year consists of Mayor George H. Williams, Tyler Woodward, B. B. Beekman and Thomas G. Greene

In the evening the society held an informal smoker. The new president, General Anderson, occupied the chair, and introduced the first speaker, James

At the SL Johns School, the big woolen mills, the sawmills, the veneer and basket plants will be described and filustrated. Mount Tabor District No. 5 is at work, and the Montavilla School has made a start. This latter school will prepare product maps. Mrs. Edith Tozier-Weatherred is help-ing out the schools. She lectured on the St. Louis Fair in the Montavilla Odd-fellows' Hall a few nights ago, and the school there received a considerable por-tion of the proceeds. The directors of this district have informed Principal N. W. Bowland that they would make an appropriation to meet the expenses of getting plotures and meeting any other expenses incident to the preparation of the exhibit. But not all the districts can do this, and the principal and teach-ers are left to their own resources to get money for expenses. Mrs. Weatherred is giving her lectures to assist schools in mentions the summer to assist schools in ting the exponses in preparing the ex-
