EXHIBIT AT FAIR ASSURED

Commissioners May Now Follow Original Plans.

GOODE ORDERS THE CHANGE

By Relocating Fraternal Temple and Massachusetts Building They Will Be More Conveniently Situated for Visitors.

The controversy over the location of the Washington state building at the Lewis and Clark fair was settled yesterday afternoon, when President Goode and the Fair management decided to give the Washington commission the site formerly designated for the Massachusetts and the Fraternal buildings.

This action on the part of the Exposttion management will undoubtedly be received with satisfaction by the Washington State Commission, for it will permit that body to proceed with the plans which have already been provided for the Washington building, and to commence at an early date upon its construction

When the Washington State Commission visited Portland a short time ago, and selected a site for the Washington building, it did so with the assurance of the Fair management that the plot picked was 145 by 250 feet in dimensions. With this understanding the Washingto ians planned the arrangements of their exhibits, the style of the building, and all the details of construction. A few days ago, however, it was discovered that, on account of the sloping nature of the ground, it would be impossible to ufflize the full space allotted, and that the building could not be built larger than

The Washington commissioners took ex-ception to this discovery and for a time there was talk of shandoning the plans for an exhibit. This was solved yester-day afternoon, however, by the announcefor an exhibit. This was solved yester-day afternoon, however, by the announce-ment made by President Goode to the effect that the change would be made in the location of the Massachusetts and Fraternal buildings This change will said; place the Washington building in the row with the California and Oregon points buildings, and in reality will be for the better appearance of the Fair grounds. The Washington commissioners are contemplating the erection of a building which will compare very favorably with the other large buildings of the Expositives.

buildings, which were displaced, were to have been social buildings for the use of the people of Massachusetts and for the members of fraternal societies, who visited the Fair. No exhibits of any kind were planned to be placed in them. Both structures would have been small, and would not have matched so well with the other larger structures built around them. For this reason it is thought that the "Improvement," Says Mitchell.

J. L. Mitchell, one of the promi members of the Fraternal Buildings Association, in speaking of the change was of the opinion that President Goode had done well to make it, and that it would be for the betterment of the Fair.

The two displaced buildings now have the choice of three locations, all of which are in the row with the state buildings, and any of them good for the purposes of the social halls. In the estimation of Mr. Mitchell, it will be in reality better for the Fraternal building to be placed in the new location, because it will be nearer the center of the row of state buildings, and can be made a more central headquarters for the use of those citors who will be entitled to enjoy its advantages. The Fraternal Building Association will meet on Wednesday, March 1, to decide definitely upon plans for their building.

RUMORS OF RUSSIAN DEFEAT Kuropatkin Said to Be Outflanked and Forced to Retreat.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23 (3 A. M.)-Rumors are current in this city tonight that General Kuropatkin has been outflanked by a strong force of Japanese in the vicinity of Sinmintin and compelled to retire from the Shakhe River, but official dispatches, so far as made public, and the Associated Press Mukden advices give no intimation that such a contingency is even remotely possible. Military circles scout the report entirely, and say no body of Japanese of sufficient strength has been reported operating on the Russian right flank to force General Kuropatkin to abandon his exceedingly strong position on the Shakhe River without a hard fight lasting several days.

PARIS, Feb. 22.-The feature of the Washington's birthday banquet of the American Club was a speech by Ambas-sador Porter, detailing the search he has prosecuted the last five years for the grave of the founder of the American navy, John Paul Jones.

THOMAS MUST TELL.

Attorney.

The story of the alleged acceptance of a bribe by George B. Thomas, of the Port of Portland Commission, that created a sensation at Salem during the closing days of the legislative session, has been revived by the filing with District Attorney Manning of several affidavits and other papers alleged to be evidence of the guilt of the Commissioner.

The charges of bribery were made by A. A. Bailey, Representative from Multnomah County, and specified the taking of a bribe of $500, for Thomas' influence in securing payments for extras on the Portland drydock. It was alleged that the money was paid by Robert Wakefield, who with J. B. Bridges was the contractor in erecting the drydock, During the session of the Legislature, Representative Sailey tried unauccessful ly to have Thomas removed from the ssion. He then appealed to the District Attorney, and promised to furnish the evidence of the alleged graft.
