RICHARDSON GETS PHILIPPINE MEDAL.

Thomas Richardson, the manager of the Portland Commercial Club, has again been nonored, and this time with a sil-over medal. The medal comes in recog-nition of valuable services in furthering the welfare and progress of the Philip-pine Islands, and Mr. Richardson gets it because he saw that the Philippine commissioners had a good time during their recent visit to Portland. The decoration is of the third class and was presented Mr. Richardson by the Philippine Expo-sition Board. The medal announces that the presentation is for merit. The deco-ration was sanctioned by the government of the Philippine Islands.

BOY BLAMES HIS FATHER .- The prelimi-

WANT GRAND AVENUE OPENED .- There is much indignation along Grand avenue south from East Stark street over the closing of that street, as it throws all closing of that street, as it throws an the general teaming entirely off that street. W. B. Hall, doing business on Grand avenue, said yesterday: "The in-definite closing up of Grand avenue is a great outrage. It seems to me that if the Councilman from this ward would pay some attention to the wants of the people here he might do something to relieve the situation. He could find something to relieve the situation. He could find some-thing to do looking after the interests of people who elected him, instead of giving so much attention to the North End. I am credibly informed that many of those who signed the remonstrance against the district assessment for the rebuilding of the elevated roadway on Grand avenue did so under a misappre hension, and now the street is locked up and the key thrown in the slough."

ASSERT FRAUD IN DEFENSE .- H. S. Galloway and Clara Galloway, in answer to a suit of N. F. Norene for $356, aver that they were fraudulently induced by Norene on July 6, 1904, to purchase a store and business at 294 East Clay street, for which they gave 191 acres of land in Clackamas County valued at $1500 and a note for $800. Norene, they allege, falsely represented that the average sales were $500 a month and that the business had been conducted at a large profit. The answer further that the monthly receipts never exceeded $400 after the Galloways took charge, and the profits were never sufficient to meet the current expenses. It is further charged that Norene in listing the goods marked them at prices far in excess of the wholesale price. Judgment is demanded against Norens for $400 and

CHANGES IN MILWAUKIE'S CHARTER.— The Milwaukie charter went into effect Vednésday with the amendments passed at the last Legislature. Mayor William Schindler was able to get all the changes he asked. According to the amendments the city will get 50 per cent of the road and poll tax collected inside the corporation, which will assist the Council to improve the streets. Another change re-quires a remonstrance signed by two-thirds of the property-owners to defeat an improvement, and when defeated it cannot come up again for four months. Hereafter, with the exception of the Marshal and Treasurer, all the officers will be elected to serve for two years instead of one. Of the present Councilmen the two receiving the highest vote at the last election will hold over one year from next January. By this arrangement-there will always be two Councilmen who have served one year in office and two new Councilmen. The Council will meet the first Monday of each month, and at the first meeting in March a Council-man will be elected to succeed the late Owen J. Roberts.

H. Hendee, one of the oldest pieneers of the Pacific Coast, will celebrate his birth-day by giving a free lecture Sunday afton at 2:30 o'clock in a room at the City Hall on "The Old Daguerreotype," in which he will relate some of his for mer experiences as a daguerreotype artist in this city. The daguerreotype was a forerunner of the modern photograph, and takes its name from the inventor, Daguerre. Mr. Hendee, who has lived 50 years in Portland, has received the consent of the Mayor to use one of the City Hall rooms for his lecture. En-trance will be by the Fifth-street door. All those interested in the fine art work connected with sun pictures, and especially artists, are cordially invited.

HELD ON THE CHARGE OF HIGHWAY ROBBERY-SMILES INNOCENCE

CHARLES E. MARCHAND, THE ACCUSED.

Although charged with highway robbery, with the penitentiary staring him in the face, Charles E. Marchand smiles when talking of the crime of which he is coused. With his alleged confederate, P. R. Treau, he was held yesterday on onds of $2500, and is now lodged in the County Jail. His attorney, Charles J. Schnsbel, has requested a preliminary hearing for his client. Saturday morning was se Municipal Judge Hogue. At the same time Treau, represented by Attorney Dan R. Murphy, will be examined.

If Marchand is the daring criminal who held up and robbed the saloon of Albert Hoeft, 763 Hood street, Monday night, he does not look or act the part. On the advice of his counsel, he refuses to make any statement, but he posed for a sketch yesterday, upon the condition that when finished it be submitted to him before being published.

Cartoonist Murphy finished the sketch, then handed it to Marchand for scrutiny.

Well, do I look very much like a criminal there?" was the only utterance of Marchand. He was evidently highly pleased with Murphy's execution of the sketch. Detectives Hartman and Vaughan, the arreating officers, are at work gathering details. Some additional evidence is to be had, they state, but they will be ready for the preliminary hearings Saturday. It is believed the case will be very interesting. Positive identification has been made by Albert Hoeft and E. J. Finley, vic tims in the hold-up, and how the prisoners will explain away this fact will be highly interesting. In fact, the detectives do not believe it can be explained away.

husband, Frank P. Drake, an employment agent. Judge Frazer decided in her favor yesterday and ordered that Drake pay ber $20 a month, and also that he make a payment of $100 for her maintenance for the past five months, up to February 1 last. Mrs. Drake went to Minnesota last Summer to visit relatives to enable them to locate his relatives. It was thought for a time he was losing his mind, but when he learned yesterday that he was to be sent to relatives, he became brighter and quite and to bring a daughter by a former hus-band here. While she was away Drake wrote her a letter that he had grown tired of her and had applied for a divorce. Instead of accepting her dismissal in this manner, Mrs. Drake betrowed money to pay her fare and returned to Portland. Drake, instead of providing her with a home, offered to find a place for her to work and wanted her to pay the office fee of $2.50. She refused to go to work and sued him under the statute which provides that a husband must supp wife unless she refuses to live with him.

PENNSYLVANIANS TO CELEBRATE-The Pennsylvania Society of Oregon will cele-brate the anniversary of the signing of the original charter given to William Penn by the King of England, with a dinner at the Commercial Club tonight. While the actual anniversary occurs on March 4, that date was found to be in-convenient for the society and its celebration will be held tonight. SEEKING THROUGH SERVICE St. Johns Commercial Club to Send Committee to Railway.

As the St. Johns Commercial Club received no answer to its petition for through service, without transfers at Piedmont, it was decided at the meeting Wednesday evening that a committee of S citizens of the Peninsula should call on the manager of the Portland Railway Company to insist on the service. This committee will consist of ten citizens from St. Johns and the remaining 15 will come from other points on the Peninsula. Next Tuesday is the time fixed for calling on the officials of the railway company. The former committee reported the manager agreed to answer the petition at the Wednesday night meeting, but no communication was received.

The club received and indorsed a peti-tion from the Ladies' Civic League, addressed to the Council, asking that the people of St. Johns be allowed to vote on the question of preventing cows to run at large in St. Johns.

In the matter of the vacation of streets for the Central sawmill, it was decided to take no action that might involve the city in litigation. In view of the fact that owners of the property will lease or sell, and thus carry out the original purposes.

The question of a public dock was discussed. It was the unanimous opinion of all present that St. Johns must have a portant streets, and the club will con-tinue to press the matter until a dock has been secured. The meeting was well attended and much enthusiasm was dis-played in all matters pertaining to the future of St. Johns. A. S. Douglas presided. Membership now numbers nearly seventy-five active men of the new city.

Captains and Pilots Instructed

SOLUTION OF STEAMBOAT MEN

PILOTS.

Third-Remember at all times to avoid

Instructions to captains and pilots drafted by the committee of rivermen with a view to avoiding vexatious delays to bridge traffic by the opening of draws, were sent yesterday to all those who at-tended Thursday's conference. Copies were also sent to bridge foremen and tenders and their co-operation in mini-mizing delays was requested.

These rules embody the suggestion presented at that meeting and after ap-proval by those interested it will be presented to County Judge Webster, with the hope of obviating the necessity of closing the draws two hours each day, one in the morning and one in the evening.

Under the co-operation proposed between captains and bridgetenders it is thought that much delay to bridge pedes-trians will be avoided, and that this will far better satisfy all parties than to close the bridges for any specified period. Upon receipt of an agreement by all steamboat interests to follow out the instructions as prepared by the committee, this remedy for the relief of bridge-travel congestion will be submitted to County Judge Web-ster, and he will be urged upon to give it a trial at least.

Rivermen still emphatically announce their desire to do all in their power to prevent delay to people using the bridge, but are equally emphatic in their inten-tion to prevent the draws being closed during any specified portion of the day.

In their opinion there is absolutely no question as to the Government's authority to provide for commerce on navigable streams, and before permitting the bridges to be closed to them they will take the matter to the War Department

To Hold Bridge Meeting. A meeting of citizens has been called for this evening at the East Side court-room at 7:30 o'clock, corner Grand avenue and East Morrison street, in the interest of the movement to close the bridge draws at stated times.
