

TAKE UP BIG LOAD

Slate Fixed by the Commission Senators.

EARLES BILL PUT FIRST

Provides for Sockeye Protection and Closed Season.

EXPECT TWENTY-FOUR VOTES

Full Support Also to Be Given Factory Inspection, Direct Primaries, Four Lumber Bills—Against Removal Resolution.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—A caucus of the Senators who during the last two days have been aligned in favor of the House railway commission bill was held at 11 o'clock tonight. There were 15 to 20 members of the upper house present, and before the caucus broke up it was agreed that the combination should insist upon the passage by the House of the Earles sockeye protection bill, providing for a closed season of six weeks in 1904 and 1905, before the commission bill should pass the Senate.

It was also made a definite part of the agreement that the commission forces should stand for the passage of the Davis factory inspection bill, for four other bills desired by the lumber men, and for the direct primary bill, and that the capital-removal resolution be a few other details to be arranged, and another caucus will be held tomorrow.

Not Held to Agreement.

It is conceded that the combination is carrying a big load of legislation, but they are strong enough in numbers to carry through the programme if they hang together. It is understood that a few of the members who have already given individual pledges will not be held to the agreement on certain of the measures specified, but the scattering votes thus lost, it is maintained, are not sufficient to mar the success of the combination.

Some of the East Side Senators who are known to be in accord with the spirit of the caucus were not present, but it is figured that 24 votes at least can be mustered to stand by any measure the combination chooses to pass through.

May Postpone Action in Senate.

There is some question as to how the proposal in regard to the Earles bill will be received in the House. It is stated that there has been an implied promise from some of the leading commission men of that body of support for the opponents of the measure.

The demand that the Earles bill will be passed first of the two bills is more than likely to postpone action for a few days on the commission in the Senate, as the Earles bill has not yet reached the House.

The combination, it is alleged, will for working purposes, include the following: House, Hearl, Brown, Brown, Condon, Earles, Graves, Gunn, Henry, Hutson, Kennedy, Lamson, O'Brien, Pauley, Pugh, Potts, Basher, Reed, Russell, Stewart, Tucker, Venses, Watson, Wilson, with Moore and Hunter in doubt.

BALMON BILL IS IN THE ROAD

Fishing Interests Threaten Peace of Mind of Commission Men.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The railway commission men wavered all day between two loves. One is represented by the sockeye salmon interests, who want the Earles closed-season bill passed in the House, and the other represented by the independent packers who want the bill killed.

The men opposed to the Earles bill insist that Earles cannot carry away enough votes to defeat the commission bill, while on the other hand Earles insists that he can either defeat or kill the bill, with the aid of the Senators who will stand by him. He also asserts that Moore and Hunter do not really own their votes on the commission bill and that they will have to stand for it, no matter what the combination does in the way of sockeye legislation.

"They've got to pass my fish bill through the House," said Earles, "before the railway commission bill will pass the Senate."

The power of the House combination to hold a club over the Senate was illustrated again today in the routine work of the House. After that body had worked its way down to the second reading calendar through several bills, it jumped to third reading and worked there a while.

Finally the Davis factory inspection bill became uncomfortably near, and a motion was made and carried to return to second reading again, when the House was within six bills of the club it is holding over the Senate lumbermen. A smile that was almost audible, passed round the room as this action was taken.

Tonight the House rules committee, which a few days ago considered the Davis bill of sufficient importance, when it was on the second reading, to advance it to the head from away down in the calendar, showed two other bills ahead of it, making it the ninth bill on third reading. This will enable the House to accomplish a good day's work and not reach the bill unless it so desires.

Some of the lumbermen in the House are becoming restive, however, inasmuch as the Senate is insisting that the House should make good to pass the bill over to the Senate.

ected in the House and Senate is the only feature that indicates a weakness. Tied up on the proposal are said to be the enforcement of the following policies: The passage of the factory inspection bill in both House and Senate.

The passage of the Earles sockeye demurrage bill in both houses. The defeat of further attempts to remove the Capitol or the Supreme Court to Tacoma. The defeat of the bill that would tend to weaken the power and discretion of the State Commissioner in the disposition of state land. The passage of other measures desired by the lumber interests.

The passage of the tax commission bill. There are other matters also said to be tied up in the combinations that are now attempting to rule, while, as stated above, the Earles sockeye protection bill is an important factor.

Today the commission men made good on the tax commission bill by taking the Graves tax commission bill out of the committee on revenue and taxation, through the adoption of a resolution, and by the securing of a report from the committee on the Reid bill tonight, which puts both of them on the calendar.

There is apparently no possibility for action on the commission bill tomorrow. Last evening the first draft of the Senate calendar for today left the bill off, but before the calendar was ready for distribution the rules committee thought better of it and placed the bill at the foot of the general file, with 22 bills ahead of it.

The Senate adjourned this afternoon there were still 20 bills preceding it, and if nothing is shoved in ahead, the bill ought to be reached by Thursday.

LICENSE FOR SMELT FISHERS Senate Passes Bill Fixing Tax on Columbia at $5 Per Boat.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The Senate today took up and passed Senator Watson's bill, introduced by request, which prescribes a license of $5 for each boat, scow or float engaged in smelt fishing on the Columbia River, and prohibiting the issuance of licenses to non-residents of the state.

The Lindsey bill, creating a new school for defective youth at Medical Lake, has now passed both houses of the Legislature and will soon be up to the Governor. The bill also removes all the members from the Vancouver school, making that institution for the sole benefit of the deaf and blind. It carries an appropriation of $25,000.

The Senate passed the House bill providing for a submission of a constitutional amendment extending to mining, milling and manufacturing companies the right of eminent domain and the House bill creating a plumbing commission and licensing plumbers; also a House bill making illegal oral brokerage agreements concerning the sale of real estate.

An important bill introduced by the Senate Judiciary committee was passed by the Senate. It seeks to restrict the plea of insanity as a defense in criminal cases and provides for a hearing where such is to be the plea, which shall be held before the date of trial, the hearing to be before three physicians, who shall pass upon the insanity of the defendant. If insane and the court considers him dangerous, he may be committed to the penitentiary.

The House has passed the bill prepared by experts in the employ of the Governor, and approved by the Interior Department, which is designed to aid the Government in its reclamation service in this state.

A bill was passed by the House, where it originated, providing for a privilege tax upon sleeping-car companies.

The bill by Speaker Megler, which makes the license and closed season on sockeye salmon conform to the Oregon laws, and which prescribes a 25-hour closed season each week on Puget Sound salmon fishing, passed the House. The amendment to the bill is at the foot of the Senate calendar, together with the joint resolution providing for the removal of the capital to Tacoma. It is hardly possible that either measure will be reached before Thursday.

Sums for Educational Institutions.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—The joint appropriations committee met tonight and agreed tentatively to the following appropriations for state educational institutions, subject to further revision:

State University $200,000
Normal School at Cheney 60,000
Normal School at Ellensburg 50,000
It was virtually agreed that no new buildings would be built at any institution.

AVERAGE ABOVE 40

Osler Theory Would Retire the Washington Legislature.

SENATE AGE IS 45; HOUSE, 44

Vigorous Speaker Megler, at 66, Would Object to Chloroform Quietus and There Are Others in His Class.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—Past the age of creative usefulness is the manhood of the Washington Legislature, if faith is to be placed in the dictum of Dr. William Osler, of Johns Hopkins University, who avers that 40 years marks the proper boundary of that period. The average age of members of the Senate is 45 and of the House 44. And if Dr. Osler's further dictum is accepted, that man beyond the 40th milestone of life's journey should be retired or chloroformed, eight lawmakers would find themselves marked for that fate.

Ninety-two, or two-thirds of the 138 members dwell in the 40 and 50-year period, and only 25, or one-fourth, are under 40. Of all the ages represented in the two chambers of the Legislature, those from 40 to 50 are the most represented, for 88 members are in that period of their existence. These constitute one-half of the Legislature, and in their number are the most active and seasoned of Washington's lawmakers.

Several vigorous solons have not yet reached their 40th birthday, among them being Representative E. D. Retter, who is the youngest member of the Legislature; Representative J. E. Lindsey, who has been appointed to the post of Attorney for the new Eastern Oregon Judicial District; Senators A. S. Ruth, Will G. Graves, C. T. Hutson, R. B. Palmer, S. S. Russell, E. J. Smith, John E. Watson, Walter Christian; Representatives J. M. Stevenson, Robert F. Booth, J. A. Falconer, J. A. Kellogg, Robert T. Reese.

The oldest of the Speaker J. G. Megler, who has 66 annual cycles to his credit. Next to him in years come Senator Walker A. Henry, of Spokane, and Representative Charles E. Johnson, of Spokane, each 64. Others of the seven lawmakers in the 60-year period are Senator Walter J. Reed, of Yakima, Charles E. Johnson, of Spokane, and Representative Charles E. Johnson, of Spokane, each 62.

The liveliest and busiest lawmakers are those less than 40 years old. Many of the leaders are between 30 and 35, such as Senators George H. Baker, Cyrus F. Clapp, Lincoln Davis, E. B. Palmer, E. M. Hanna, C. L. Stewart, Orville A. Tucker, G. B. Wilson, Will G. Graves, John Earles, William Hickman Moore and Representative George E. Dickson, Charles I. Roth, Frank Twichell, Calvin E. Viskochil, Charles E. Johnson, and Mayor Lee A. Johnson, William Bishop, Jr. It is worthy of note that most of the helmsmen are young men, between 30 and 45. The 60-year "boys" are grave and reverend seniors, who generally tilt back in their chairs and let the young bloods be the draft horse.

The Legislature exhibits striking contrasts in age. Speaker Megler, on whose head lies the frost of 66 years, looks down from his oaken throne on young bloods, who have grown up in the 30's, 20's, 10's and 5's. The youngest are Senators George H. ORCHARD LANDS

Two Rivers, Washington

Positively two weeks earlier than any other in the Northwest. Inexhaustible soil. Unfading water supply. Located on the Columbia River. Has four railroads. Transportation in every direction.

Why You Should Consider This Investment. The lands are sold at a low price on easy terms to induce settlement; The growing season is earlier than any other district north of Los Angeles; A five-acre tract in orchard or strawberries will yield a net income of $3000 per year. Two Rivers irrigated lands lie either level or with a slight uniform grade. They will mature all varieties of berries and fruits, from the hardiest to the semi-tropical, positively the earliest in the States of Washington, Oregon or Idaho. The volcanic ash soil is from three to 50 feet in depth. There are no rocks. Lands can be easily cleared and improved cheaply. Lands similar to those now offered for from $60 to $100 an acre were sold at the opening of Clarkston for $250 an acre, and are now frequently worth $1500 an acre. Similar lands at Kennewick are held at $400 and up. The earliest markets and the quickest reached command the highest prices. Buy before improved lands are $1000 an acre. For information apply to—

AWAIT BIG RUSH

Colonist Rate Will Go Into Effect Today.

EAST GREATLY INTERESTED

Railroads Receive Thousands of Inquiries From Intending Settlers Regarding Portland, Oregon and Northwest Generally.

It is expected that by next week the vanguard of the great army of colonists and homesteaders will begin to arrive in Oregon. Today the colonist rates from the Middle West to the Northwest will go into effect on all the transcontinental railroads. It is a one-way colonist rate and will be effective from March 1 until May 1. It applies to second-class travel only.

The Portland railroad officials are unanimous in predicting for Oregon the largest influx of settlers and homesteaders this Spring in its history. They say that each time the colonist rates go into effect, which is generally twice a year, the travel to the Northwest always establishes a new record. But this Spring the travel is expected to be exceedingly heavy, owing to the extensive advertising that has been done for the Lewis and Clark Exposition. In nearly all the advertising that has been sent out, Portland is one of the predominate features and Oregon always receives a certain amount of attention.

It is this way Portland and the Northwest. The old light of years, that of license for saloons or prohibition will be the main issue. The Prohibitionists have made less demonstration this year than has been the case in some former years, but they are none the less active. Wilkins is said to represent the license

Prohibition is the issue. EUGENE, Or., Feb. 28.—(Special.)—All nominations for municipal candidates must be made by petition filed not later than Friday of this week. A petition has received a sufficient number of signatures asking F. M. Wilkins to become a candidate for Mayor and for Darwin Brister for Councilman in the Third Ward. Other petitions will be circulated and filed before Friday.

A SCIENTIFIC MEDICINE. Miss Nelson's dizzy headaches indicated a weakness in the female organism, a trouble that would be greatly aggravated by any exertion. That Wine of Cardui restored her health and strength so that she was able to resume her duties demonstrates how thoroughly Wine of Cardui does its work. Without going to an expensive specialist, without local examinations or without a dangerous operation, Miss Nelson was cured by taking Wine of Cardui in the privacy of her own home. Over 1,500,000 sick women have been restored to health and strength by this natural tonic, and we have yet to hear of one case it has failed to benefit. Wine of Cardui is a certain cure. It is a medicine that you can depend on. Secure a bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist today. It only costs $1.00 a bottle but it practically assures you health. Box 172, Astoria, Wis., Aug. 28, 1905. I took Wine of Cardui some time ago for female weakness and a run down condition which was undermining my health. One of your booklets was left at our house and I read of what your Wine of Cardui had done for others who were suffering as I was, and I thought it would do no harm to try it and bought a bottle. I began taking it at once and soon began to feel much better. The dizzy, weak headaches which had troubled me two or three times a week had disappeared, my pains each month gradually diminished and I soon felt much stronger, so that I was able to resume my work. However, I still continued to take Wine of Cardui until I finally felt in splendid health and never had an ache or pain. I am pleased with the results obtained from the use of your medicine. Thora Nelson, Director, Young Woman's Athletic Club. Miss Thora Nelson.
