All of the amendments heretofore agreed upon were formally adopted, and one additional amendment, which was offered today, was accepted. The latter was one of phraseology merely. It changes the hast clause of araicle 7, in which it is declared that the present tariff and port duties may not be reduced, except with the consent of the President of the United States, so long as the whole of the debt which the United States Government takes charge of shall not have been com-vision would be followed in the Senate when the treaty is voted upon. No one felt authorized to speak for the different parties, but the opinion was expressed that, if the Republicans shall stand for the treaty, it is doubtful if the Democrats will feel like taking the responsibility of defeating it, as they could do by a strict party vote. As the Senate stands now there are is Republicans and Il Democrats with vacancies in Deinware, Missouri and Tennessee. It is expected also that two Republicans Senators, Burton and Mitchell, will not vote and will not be paired on this or any other matter coming before the Senate. As a two-plies this end.
