Brunswick, asking of the conditions prevalling here. Mr. Richards is a prominent merchant of Edmundston and is very anxious to make Oregon a visit during the coming Summer. He asks for a shipment of Oregon literature, saying that many of the residents of his city are interested in the Northwest. He is planning to organize a large excursion of business men and prosperous farmers for a trip through the Northwest, provided airrangements can be-made for a reasonable rate of transportation.

Exhoustive Committee of the Board of Trade will meet this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to consider the adoption of the new constitution and bylaws, which have been prepared by the special committee. Many changes are planned in the future government of the board, all of them intended to be those which will help to build the organization in membership; activity and influence through the Northwest, It is expected that the campaign of enlargment which is to be commenced upon the ratification of the amended bylaws will result in the material upbuilding of the board in every way.

The life of the city centered around this fountain so much that Corinth was called by the poets and by the Delphic oracle "The City of Pirene." In subsequent years we excavated two other fountains, one of them at least as old as 500 B. C. with bronze lion heads serving as water speuts still in place.
