Candidates Desire to Escape Primaries.

MAYOR WILLIAMS

Do Not Wish to Meet Him in First Battle.

WOULD RUN INDEPENDENT

Boomers Evidently Dread Williams' Strength and Fear Democrats May Take Advantage of Divided Republican Hosts.

How to run against Williams for Mayor yet not to encounter him in the primaries is a problem with several Republican aspirants for that office. Boomers of such candidates as H. R. Albee, Dr. Andrew C. Smith, George H. Howell, H. S. Rowe, H. H. Northup, W. A. Storey and Fred T. Merrill are concerned lest the opposition to Williams may be so scattered that he will do may be so scattered that he will do them all up.

Hence many boomers of those candidates think their men should stay out of the primaries and run indepen-dent, for they consider defeat at the primaries as a black eye for the elec-

To keep other reform candidates than Albee in the background, or rather to give them notice that Albee and not they would receive the support of the reform element, the Municipal Association brought him forth early. Such was the explanation of a prominent member of that association yesterday. Williams Has Strong Hold.

That Williams has a strong hold on the Republican party is conceded by the Albee people, and many of them think it would be safer for Albee to think it would be safer for Albee to try to beat Williams in the election rather than in the primaries. They say that in the election their man would be aided by elements which could not rally to his support in the primaries because they dwell in the Democratic and Prohibition camps. With several candidates in the Re-publican primaries splitting the oppos-tion, the opinion seems to prevail ition, the opinion seems to prevail in anti-Williams circles that his honor would walk off with the nomination And even if Williams should have only one or two opponents in the primaries, his foes are anxious over the result, yet exhibit confidence in being able to beat him in the election.

Chances for Democrat.

With one or two independent Republican candidates running against Williams in the election, the chances of the Democratte nominee would be much enhanced. For this the Democratic sachems are fondly hoping and they think there is good chance of its coming to pass. Such a man at their head as Dr. Harry Lane, many of them think, would bring vic-tory to their party out of a Republican fight, the same way as Pennoyer turned the trick on his Republican foes. A leader of the Municipal Association said yesterday that the backers of their candidate were divided in the opinion as to whether he should stay out of the primaries. "Some of our people," he reprimaries. "Some of our people," he re-rearked, "think we ought to work with Republicans to secure him the Republi-can nomination, while others believe that we ought to go into it independently. In my opinion the matter will drift slong after the prime yet are reticent as to how they intend to run. Albee says he has made up his mind but is not ready to announce his decision. Dr. Andrew C. Smith says he has not decided whether he will run or not. Howell has not divulged his plans nor even publicly proclaimed his candi-dacy, but is known to be willing to run. Dr. Smith said yesterday that he did not know whether he would try for the May-oralty or not. It was obvious from his remarks that he would like to run but for the sacrifice of his medical practice that election would entail. It is likely that Dr. Smith will not enter the race, though he

Strong Men Named.

H. S. Rowe'is understood to be the favorite of leaders of the old-time Simon wing of the party; also H. H. Northup. The booms for each have assumed considerable proportions. Junge Northup is re-garded as a particularly strong man for the contest against Williams. Both he and Williams have long party records.

Little or no opposition has cropped out against Devlin for Auditor or Werlein for Treasurer, and indications are that those officers will be renominated and re-elected. Devlin is understood to be out of the race for Mayor, because unwilling to be an opponent of wallams. For Attorney and Judge.

For City Attorney and Municipal Judge a number of Republican booms have been sounded. L. A. McNary will be a candidate for renomination for City Attorney. Others desirous of the job or willing to run are: George W. Joseph, R. E. Moody, J. M. Long, J. P. Kavanaugh, Paul Deady and R. R. Duniway.

For Police Judge Harry Hogue appears in the running: also J. A. Strowbridge.

in the running; also J. A. Strowbridge, Jr., A. Walter Wolf, E. T. Taggart, T. B. McDevitt, Sr., George Cameron, A. E. Perrera and J. J. Fitzgerald.

INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM Theme of Discussion Held at the People's Forum.

The attention of the People's Forum last night was taken up by the debate on the merits of the initiative and referendum question, with W. S. U'Ren favoring it and R. R. Duniway oppos-

The speakers were each allowed 2) minutes for opening arguments and an equal time for rebuttal Mr. U'Ren laid his faith entirely on the good that the amendment had already accomplished and refrained from prophenying as to its future. Mr. Duniway, following the opening of Mr. U Ren, used to advan-inge the statement made by his oppo-nent that in the matter of politics there were a great number of toadstools, or in other words the men who voted without a thought, and that conse-quently the initiative and referendum gave to the minority a terrific power, which would eventually prove to be a veritable Frankenstein to its creators. In his return argument Mr. U'Ren contended along the lines of a democracy which would be created by the initiative and referendum and pleaded for its support with the illustration of a boy and his first jackknife. Before learning the proper use of the tool the boy had to cut his fingers a few times but eventually found its proper use and this was typical of the new measure.

Mr. Duniway came back strong with the uze of Mr. U'Ren's argument that the amendment created a democracy which was not a representative government. The usual following discussion by the members of the Forum eriment. The usual following discussion by the members of the Forum showed Mr. Duniway to be a minority of one and there was an apparent willingness in this discussion to drift away from the topic and inject features which did not seem to be at all relevant to the subject.

THEY JOBBED O'HAGEN.

A Wise New Yorker Falls an Easy Victim to Jokers.

Harry O'Hagen, who travels for a New Fork card company, arrived at the Port-land Saturday morning, and before the big bell in the tower chimed "buns and tea," he was the victim of a joke. O'Ha-gen likes the gallopers, and before the ink on the biotter was dry the telephone bell rang and he was summoned to the conversation machine by the clerk. When O'Hagen emerged from the booth a smile as broad as the East River lit up his face. A voice, one which sounded as if it came from China, the voice of the joker informed handsome Harry, as he is called, that the speaker was in Spokane and that he had a real live one in the fourth race at Oakland. This gee-gee. the fourth race at Cakland. This geogee, so the voice purred into O'Hagen's ear, would win on the chin strap. He assured Harry that the mutt had the race won in a cakewalk, and that if he would cut loose from his habit of betting $10 to a race and get down book, line and sinker, he would be able to skiddoo back to New York with enough money to create a panic among the Wells-Fargo Express Company employes.

Several of O'Hagen's friends were on hand to watch him swallow the bait. They saw he was hooked a plenty, and the general talk drifted from the man who ought to be Oslered to betting on the races. O'Hagen refused to tip off his secret, and he fretted and stewed until it came time for the curbstone brokers to line up for business. He dodged his friends and halled the first handbook friends and halled the first handbook man he saw. The horse he was told to play was Horatlus. With fingers that twitched and trembled like a groom before the altar, he drew out two yellow bills calling for a hundred each. These he gave to the bookie. Then he took a street-car ride to Mount Tabor. When he came hack the race was over—that's the reason that Harry wired back to the house for another bank roll. He'll get his money back today when he meets those money back today when he meets who lobbed him.

PEOPLE MUST FILE COMPLAINTS Mount Tabor Justice Court Is Ready to Enforce the Cow Law.

Justice of the Peace T. C. Shreve and Constable Frank Bowen, recently ap-phinted for the Mount Tabor Court, are confronted with the enforcement of the cow law. The voters decided more than a year ago that cows should not be allowed to run at large in that precinct, but the mandate of the people has never been effectively enforced for the reason mainly that there was no Justice Court to serve the warrants that might have been issued. Under this state of affairs cows have been permitted to run at large. There is a considerable fine for allowing cows to wander in that preduct if the aw be enforced, and with the advent of Spring, with growing grass, flowers and gardens it is now the general desire that the new court officers shall enforce the law. However, it remains with the people themselves whether the law shall be enforced or not. Justice Shreve says be enforced or not. Justice Shreve says he will act on any complaint that may be filed in his court, but he does not feel it his duty to run around and arrest people and cause the arrest of people allowing their cows to run at large.

RAIN MESSES BALL GAME.

Local ex-Leaguers Prevented From Giving Diamond Exhibition.

There was a generous sprinkling of local fans out to the Vaughn-street ball grounds yesterday afternoon. They hud-died and sat around the old wreck called a grandstand and waited with faltering advocates of the two methods will get together and nominate Albee as an in-dependent." hopes for the B young men who were to sting the Spaiding to appear. Some of the players did venture on the ground, but eting the Spaiding to appear. Some of the players did venture on the ground, but when they begin to bog down they romped for the clubhouse. Next Sunday, if the weather man is on his good be-havior, these same teams, the Schillers and the East Portlanders will, as the small baseballists say, "cross bats." When the dyed-in-the-wool fans found there was to be no game, they spent the rest of the afternoon at the Fair grounds. One of the fans said that he might as well see the grounds and what there was of the Exposition at this time, for when the ball season opened, that the nearest he would get to the grounds would be the bleachers.

Mysterious Surveying Parties.

WALLA WALLA, Wash, March 19 .dieton respectively, presumably sent out by the Northern Pacific to run lines in by the sorthern reactive to the lines in Eastern Oregon territory. No information will be given out by local officials, however, but it is rumored that the party going to Athena will run a line across the Umatilla Indian Reservation through a rich farming country, and the party at Pendleton will run a line from there into the Heppner coal fields. It is believed here that these lines will be built and ready for operation in time to handle this year's grain cree, although it is utterly impossible to induce any one connected with rallrosis to confirm or contradict this impression.
