It has been decided that it will be necessary under the law for the President to appoint a commission consisting of seven members. He holds that such a number would make the commission unwieldly, but, as Congress falled to provide for a smaller commission, it is held by the Attorney-General that the appointment of a commission of seven members is mandatory on the President.

WOOF WITHOUT WARP. Referendum Unaided by Initiative Lacks Dependable Qualities.

SALEM, Ot., March 24 - (To the Editor.) -Concerning the present public outery against the normal schools it may properly be said that it is but the legitimate, though perhaps belated, outgrowth of a system of public extravagance beginning a quarter of a century ago. To this should be added a growing disregard of the law, when the law appears to be in the way of any desired accomplishment, and the popu-lar acquiescence in these tendencies.

the difficulties many men have revenity found themselves in as to their relation to the homestead law. No one can doubt that the original intention of the homestead law was to secure actual, bons fide homes to sctual, bona fide settlers. Certainly nothing could have been further from the intention of the supporters of that law than that a man could go to his "claim," remain over night, cut down a shrub, turn a shovelful of dirt once every six months, and call it complying with its provisions. Hundreds of thousands of homesteads have been taken within a provision.

And the same principle, if that is the word applies to the present situation as to large appropriations in state affairs. There can be no question but that taxes are much too high in Oregon, that is, too high in the aggregate. But the appropriations for the Moumouth school are not too high to suit the people living in that vicinity. What they are proposed four this good people of Moumouth school are not too high to suit the people living in that vicinity. The good people from the number of Drain, who are making the hills and hollows of that delightful section blessom as the rose, can easily see a crying need for "cut it out."

seedly too high, as are the taxes which provide for them, but that portion which comes to our county or town is always the outgrowth of the wisest statesmanship—of a careful study of the advantages of state development.

So, the condition has been reached which might have been seen years ago. The cost of the county and state governments should not increase faster than the growth of pop-ulation and wealth. But it has, and its unfettered growth at this very time shows it to be remarkably free, even in prospect. from any sort of missimatic or microbe-bacteria assults all these appropriations are clamored for in some part of the state. and they fall' upon property that has not grown as fast as the growing demand. the referentum is called for.

But, though the normal achool system may have been somewhat overdone it is only incidentally to blame. When Jones comes to the lower bouse of the Oregon Legislature he finds that it requires 21 votes to pass his favories till, and since he discovers that he has only ten votes in its support, he seem finds Smita, who is in the same unpromising condition. promising condition. So, if we are to have these luxuries, we should expect to pay for them. Strange as it may seem, they eventually get into the appropriation bills, the tangible proof of which forms the most impressive feature of the sloquent, though silent, tax receipt.

It should be added here that at the last session there were about 180 committee cierks, most of them of comely features, who served the state must be developed.

"It gives me great pleasure to recommend Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey to all persons suffering from lung trouble. Two years ago I was confined to my bed with night fever, and my physician was not at all hopeful of my case, but said after breaking my fever that good whiskey and outdoor exercise in good weather was the best thing he knew to prescribe. A friend advised me to try Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey. I did so, and began to improve with the first bottle taken, and have been able since, as Sheriff of Monroe County, to attend to my duties. Am satisfied that the whiskey is doing the work. Before I began taking it I had no appetite, did not rest well at night, and had night sweats and weighed 109 pounds. Now I have a good appetite and feel better than I have in several years, and weigh 189 pounds. I am a strong believer in the merits of Duffy's Pure Mait Whiskey.
