Under the terms of peace it was held that Spain was entitled to all movable ordnance in Cubs and Porto Rico, and in the latter case its claim had been recog-nized and the ordnance transferred. But in the case of Cuba there appears to be some difficulty in securing the recognition by the Cuban government of the obligation entered into by the United States. Secretary Taft caused a cablegram to be sent to Minister Squiters in Havana in-structing him to notify the Cuban authorities that the ordnance in question remains property of Spain, that it was never seased by the United States and should be returned to Spain.
