

CITY NEWS IN BRIEF

THE OREGONIAN'S TELEPHONE.
Counting Room Main 667
Managing Editor Main 625
Sunday Editor Main 625
City Editor Main 106
Society Editor Main 625
Composing Room Main 625
Superintendent Building Main 2526
San Side Office Main 625

AMUSEMENTS.
MARQUAM THEATRE (Morrison, between 6th and 7th)—Evening at 8:15. Pollard Lilliputian Opera Company. In "The Belle of New York."
COLUMBIA THEATRE (Main and Washington)—Evening at 8: "A Contented Woman."
LARK THEATRE (Park and Washington)—Continuous vaudeville, 2:30, 7:30 and 9:30.
GRAND THEATRE (Park and Washington)—Continuous vaudeville, 2:30 to 10:30 P. M.

MONTAVILLA WANTS DEPOT.—Montavilla wants a freight and passenger depot located at the corner of O. R. & N. main line in North Montavilla. Real-estate and business men say that it would pay the company to establish a depot on the spur, as there are now 2000 people living north and east of the Section Line road east of Mount Tabor, and an immense amount of freight of all descriptions is hauled out there from Portland every month at heavy expense. A petition recently circulated in Montavilla was well signed and has been presented to the railroad managers, but no answer has been received.

PORTLAND ROSE SOCIETY.—All members of the Portland Rose Society and others who wish to become identified with it are cordially invited to attend a meeting to be held in the Chamber of Commerce at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. At this meeting plans will be discussed for a continuous series of lectures in the Forestry Building during the Lewis and Clark Fair. This is an important meeting and a large attendance is expected.

UPPER LODGE TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY.—The Upper Lodge No. 12, A. O. E. W., will celebrate tonight the fifty-first anniversary of the lodge in the hall at Seventeenth and Marshall streets. A number of members of the Grand Lodge and charter members of the lodge will be present.

AFTER MANUFACTURING ESTABLISHMENT.—There will be a meeting of the Montavilla Board of Trade Friday evening, when a proposition will be received for establishing a manufacturing concern on the sidetrack of the O. R. & N. Company. The nature of the concern is not yet announced.

SEWERAGE ADDITION COMPLAINED.—Complaint is made by residents of Stephens Addition about the slabwork wagons. East Seventh street is strewn with slabwork, which has fallen from the wagons, and yesterday the street near the engine-house resembled a slabwork yard.

THE NEW STEEL STEAMER, Redondo will sail for San Francisco Thursday afternoon, March 30. Cabin, $12; steerage, $5; meals and berth included. E. H. Thompson, agent, 125 Third street.

IF YOU WANT TO EAT THE KIND OF BREAD your mother used to make, get your wife a sack of Pillsbury's flour from your grocer. He can get it of Wadhams & Kerr Bros., 411 Washington.

EVERYBODY admits Pillsbury's flour to be the best in the world. If you want to prove it get a sack from your grocer. Wadhams & Kerr Bros., agents for the city, 411 Washington.

THE MEMBERS of Company C, Third Infantry, U. S. A., give their next dance party Wednesday evening, March 29.

ANOTHER car of Pillsbury's flour just arrived. Get it of your grocer.

THE CALUMET Restaurant, 149 Seventh. Fine luncheon. See Glasser.

IN BEHALF OF REV. MR. TOY

Dr. Chapman Says He "Does Not Flaunt His Career."
PORTLAND, Or., March 28.—(To the Editor)—I have read with surprise your editorial this morning, headed "One's Moral Responsibilities," and in behalf of the evangelists associated with me I desire to send you this word of protest. I was surprised because I have been led to believe that the Oregonian was inclined to give us all necessary notice, and to assist us in a work which we have reason to believe may be helpful to the city without reference to class or creed.

I beg to say that we have come to Portland because we have been asked to do so by the Protestant churches of the city, and are not here pressing our individual claims or with any other thought in mind than to help men and women to live better and truer lives.

In your reference to the Rev. Daniel S. Toy, you have, I am sure unwittingly, seriously grieved a true man and one whose only aim was to help his fellow-men. Mr. Toy does not flaunt his former career before the public. He tells his story because I have urged him to do so, and because he is representing the best life of the cities we have visited have considered it helpful to those who are sorely in need of a word of cheer.

This service is mainly to be held for men who are hopeless and helpless. The evangelists have planned to give a supper to all men who may count themselves as belonging to this class, and then to invite them to attend the services which may be held in one of the city churches. Concerning this service, which was held in Denver, Dr. Robert F. Coyle, the former moderator of the general assembly, stated before the San Francisco audience the other day, "I consider it one of the greatest services we held." The pastor of the church where the service was conducted writes me that 200 men joined his church as a result of the meeting. I naturally, therefore, have a right to restate the wording of an true man as I know and the false impression you have given your readers concerning his mission.

J. WILBUR CHAPMAN.

Edward A. Hawley is dead.

Edward A. Hawley, a member of the firm of Hawley, Dodd & Co., in Portland, died March 28, at his home in New York. Mr. Hawley left Portland in 1880 and opened banks in Baton and Walla Walla. He left Oregon in 1885, going to Berkeley, Cal., where he has been connected with the manufacture of a typewriter. He was a particular friend of Charles H. Dodd, with whom he was engaged in the hardware and agricultural implement business while in Portland.

Baptist Ministers Meet.

The interest in the Chapman meetings has extended outside of the city. Preachers of the various denominations have come to Portland to enjoy the services and get inspiration for the work they are doing throughout the state. At the White Temple yesterday morning about 75 preachers of the Baptist denomination met for a conference and planned other meetings for the week. Rev. C. A. Woodson, D. D., presided. After a prayer and song service, Rev. Thomas Needham was introduced and brought greetings from Dr. Chapman to the pastors present.

He entered a protest against what he termed the "vicious editorial" in the

DR. TOY DEFENDED

Ministers' Committee Passes Resolutions.

THEIR CHURCHES INDORSE

Right of Oregonian is Denied to Express Its Opinion on a Question of Pulpit Ethics.—Dr. Randall Condemns Resolutions.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

DR. RANDALL CONDEMNS RESOLUTIONS.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

Services at Taylor-Stark Church.

The services of the evening at the Taylor-Stark Methodist Church were opened as usual by a season of singing, the pastor of which Dr. Short, the pastor of the church, acting as chairman of the first district, offered the resolutions, which were presented at the other churches of the city.

At First Congregational Church. The congregation at the First Congregational Church last night was not quite as large as other times, but the interest manifested was equal to that of any of the preceding meetings of the evangelists.

At Fourth Presbyterian Church. The People's Institute, the Forbes Presbyterian Church, Sunnyside Congregational Church, Calvary Baptist Church and Centenary Methodist Church the resolutions were read and upon motion of the chairman adopted by a rising vote.

At First Presbyterian Church. There were many people present at the Presbyterian Church last night to listen to the best sermon of J. Wilbur Chapman in that edifice. He explained that owing to the larger seating capacity of the White Temple he had decided to hold his meetings there in the future and would preach his sermon this evening from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

DR. TOY DEFENDED

Ministers' Committee Passes Resolutions.

THEIR CHURCHES INDORSE

Right of Oregonian is Denied to Express Its Opinion on a Question of Pulpit Ethics.—Dr. Randall Condemns Resolutions.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

DR. RANDALL CONDEMNS RESOLUTIONS.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

Services at Taylor-Stark Church.

The services of the evening at the Taylor-Stark Methodist Church were opened as usual by a season of singing, the pastor of which Dr. Short, the pastor of the church, acting as chairman of the first district, offered the resolutions, which were presented at the other churches of the city.

At First Congregational Church. The congregation at the First Congregational Church last night was not quite as large as other times, but the interest manifested was equal to that of any of the preceding meetings of the evangelists.

At Fourth Presbyterian Church. The People's Institute, the Forbes Presbyterian Church, Sunnyside Congregational Church, Calvary Baptist Church and Centenary Methodist Church the resolutions were read and upon motion of the chairman adopted by a rising vote.

At First Presbyterian Church. There were many people present at the Presbyterian Church last night to listen to the best sermon of J. Wilbur Chapman in that edifice. He explained that owing to the larger seating capacity of the White Temple he had decided to hold his meetings there in the future and would preach his sermon this evening from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

DR. TOY DEFENDED

Ministers' Committee Passes Resolutions.

THEIR CHURCHES INDORSE

Right of Oregonian is Denied to Express Its Opinion on a Question of Pulpit Ethics.—Dr. Randall Condemns Resolutions.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

DR. RANDALL CONDEMNS RESOLUTIONS.

At Centenary Methodist Church, the resolutions condemning the Oregonian were passed, but the ministers were not unanimous as to the propriety of the meeting passing such resolutions.

Services at Taylor-Stark Church.

The services of the evening at the Taylor-Stark Methodist Church were opened as usual by a season of singing, the pastor of which Dr. Short, the pastor of the church, acting as chairman of the first district, offered the resolutions, which were presented at the other churches of the city.

At First Congregational Church. The congregation at the First Congregational Church last night was not quite as large as other times, but the interest manifested was equal to that of any of the preceding meetings of the evangelists.

At Fourth Presbyterian Church. The People's Institute, the Forbes Presbyterian Church, Sunnyside Congregational Church, Calvary Baptist Church and Centenary Methodist Church the resolutions were read and upon motion of the chairman adopted by a rising vote.

At First Presbyterian Church. There were many people present at the Presbyterian Church last night to listen to the best sermon of J. Wilbur Chapman in that edifice. He explained that owing to the larger seating capacity of the White Temple he had decided to hold his meetings there in the future and would preach his sermon this evening from the pulpit of the First Baptist Church.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.

At the White Temple yesterday afternoon a gathering was present to listen to the Chapman revivalists sing songs and persuade sinners to become interested in religion. Rev. W. E. Biederwolf was the speaker of the day and delivered a sermon from the text, Romans ix:23, "I could wish myself accursed for my brethren," caused tears to flow from the eyes of many of his hearers.