VIENNA, March 29.—The statement made by the British Foreign Secretary, Lord Lansdowne, in the House of Lords yesterday, on the subject of Macedonia, was read here with great interest...

Macdonald conditions have lately been attracting more attention here because of Great Britain's attitude, and also in view of the fact that with the Spring comes a recurrence of the rumors, mostly emanating from Turkish sources, of active preparations on the part of the Bulgarian bands for crossing into Turkey.

HAD GARRIPH THIRTY YEARS.

Congressman Gives Praise to Pe-ru-na for His Recovery.

EX-CONGRESSMAN MEEKISON, OF OHIO.

Hon. David Meekison, Napoleon, Ohio, ex-member of Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses, writes:

"I have used several bottles of Peruna, and I feel greatly benefited thereby from my catarrh of the head. I feel encouraged to believe that if I use it a short time longer I will be fully able to eradicate the disease of thirty years' standing."

Hon. David Meekison began his political career by serving four consecutive terms as Mayor of the town in which he lives.

He was elected to the Fifty-fifth Congress by a very large majority, and is the acknowledged leader of his party in his section of the state.

Only one flaw marred the otherwise complete success of this rising statesman. Catarrh, with its insidious approach and tenacious grasp, was his only unconquered foe.

For thirty years he waged unsuccessful warfare against this personal enemy. At last Peruna came to the rescue, and he dictated the above letter to Dr. Hartman as the result.

Hon. Samuel H. Mitchell, a Baldwin Place, Brighton, Mass., member of Council and House of Representatives for Ward 25, Boston, writes:

"I have never before found a medicine which would break up a cold so readily as Peruna, and it is also effective in curing catarrh."

NEGLECTED COLDS LEAD TO CATARRH.

Neglected Colds Lead to Catarrh. Neglected Catarrh Becomes Chronic.

The fact that catarrh will continue to afflict one person for thirty years shows how chronic the disease really is.

When catarrh has once fastened itself upon the human system, it shows a disposition to remain.

Catarrh is not self-curative nor self-eliminating. It ceases as long as it is allowed to remain.

Catarrh is naturally a chronic disease and continues to grow worse, not better.

For thirty years Cong. Meekison had catarrh, and yet he experienced a cure by the use of Peruna.

Surely, if Peruna will cure a case of catarrh that has run thirty years, it will cure more recent cases.

There are probably ten million of uncurable cases of catarrh in the United States alone.

What a multitude of victims this! What an ocean of discouragement and unhappiness! What a Niagara of anguish and suffering!

In all probability Peruna would quickly cure every one of these cases. Taken according to the directions, Peruna rarely fails to cure any case of chronic catarrh.

CHRONICLES OF MEN WHO WOULD BE MAYOR

A Call Upon W. B. Glafke, One of Those Who Aspire to the Republican Nomination

THERE is an apothem about many being called and few chosen. Saint Matthew is responsible, for he has brought it down to us that we might profanely use it to define a great political truth.

The calling of the Many is the political order of things particular election days. The choosing of the Few, well, that is an eventually some two months away.

Coincidentally with the appearance of other myriad Spring signs come the symptoms of office lust.

Down in the country the instinct of maternity is rife among emotional who are staking out nest-claims in a thousand barnyards, low-flying crows are scouting newly-fallen fields for unwary earthworms, and the aboriginal in the old swimming hole, it is Spring.

Here in town the show windows are full of military foolhardiness, people in the streets are asking each other "What's the score?" and in many an inner room staid citizens are gazing over pictures of Lincoln and Roosevelt and mumbling soundbite phrases of the "era of gold-oration." The office-lust is upon them.

Here also it is Spring. In the town want to be Mayor. The banker for the honor and the power of a high seat in the municipal forum. Of this number one of them will show up some fine morning with a sprig of victory-leaves about his brow and a paeon in his hand.

There are many Mayoralty candidates, and of them William B. Glafke is one. He is a common sense merchant, and he lives on the East Side, in the Tenth Ward, in fact, on Broadway, in particular. He is head of the firm of W. B. Glafke & Co. which carries on a thriving trade in a large and ill-fitting place on Front street.

To reach Mr. Glafke during working hours one must proceed through a maze of windowed passages and garmented potatoes. At the back of the big store room is a large and inviting office which the cocktail of odors does not penetrate. In a swivel chair at an orderly oak desk sits the head of the firm, and he would be head of the Hundred.

I think his friends must call him "Bill," for his an extensive personality which adjusts itself admirably to that affectionate diminutive, Mr. Murphy, of the pictures, and I almost caught myself saying "Hello, Bill," when we came upon the candidate yesterday.

W. B. GLAFKE, ONE OF THE ASPIRANTS FOR THE REPUBLICAN NOMINATION FOR MAYOR.

will set forth that "the self-made Mayor of Portland was once driver of a delivery wagon."

The prospective candidate smokes good cigars. He gave me one and said he had been correctly advised. He was in the fight for Mayor. His friends "along the street" had promised to support him, and in fact had urged him to run. He will go into the primaries and take pot luck. He's not sure he can win, but will make an awful stab. A committee of his business associates will conduct his campaign and he will stand as the business man's candidate.

Not for a Wide-Open Town. On public questions Mr. Glafke has some of his ideas very clearly defined. Not for a "wide-open town" a portland town, he says. Against gambling because it's not business, and "business" is his platform.

POLAND'S PRIDE IS INJURED

Czar's Reference to Vistula Country Offends National Sentiment.

WARSAW, March 29.—(Midnight)—There is general disappointment here at the tone of the Emperor's rescript. The feelings of the Poles have been hurt by the imperial reference to Poland as "the Vistula country," instead of the Kingdom of Poland, one of the Emperor's titles being King of Poland. It is also pointed out that the rescript leaves reforms to the bureaucracy, which is known to reform measures. Everything, it is now thought, depends on the instructions of the Emperor's interpretation of his instructions to restore order in Poland and the methods he will adopt, but it is quite evident that the rescript has served to embitter the people rather than to pacify them.

ORDERS REFORMS IN POLAND. But Czar Soolds Poles for Wanting Their Own Language.

ST. PETERSBURG, March 29.—Emperor Nicholas has instructed M. Maczmontovich, governor-general of Warsaw, to elaborate the reforms necessary for the prosperity of Poland. In a rescript to the governor-general, the Emperor said:

"Since the radical revival of civil life in the Vistula territory during the past 40 years, a series of needs has developed on which the government is now bestowing special solicitude. Enemies of the existing order are seeking to provoke disturbances, thus hindering the calm discussion of the reforms for which the country is ripe, and at the same time some sections of the Polish population are putting forth exorbitant claims concerning limits in the employment of the state language, to which there must remain assured throughout the empire the high importance due it, but without any superfluous or unjust exclusion of local languages."

The Emperor, accordingly directs the governor-general, while lawfully and firmly suppressing artificially-supported disturbances, to "proceed to the elaboration of the reforms found to be necessary for the prosperity of the territory inseparably connected with the other parts of the Russian state."

RUSSIAN OFFICIALS DEPOSED AND TROOPS MUTINYING IN CAUCASUS. ST. PETERSBURG, March 29.—Trustworthy reports from Georgia, Russian Transcaucasia, say that the insurrectionary movement is growing in the mountain districts. It is added that the authorities have been deposed, that a provisional government has been proclaimed and that the troops decline to carry out the orders given them. At Batoum, Erivan and Kars, anarchy prevails and business is at a standstill.
