CONFERENCE NEXT THURSDAY

sellef is Held That the Roads Will Make Some Concessions to the Business Interests of the City of Portland.

C. M. Levey, of Tacoma, assistant to President Eliott, of the Northern Pacific; J. M. Hannaford, second vicepresident of the road, and J. G. Woodworth, general traffic manager of the same line, reached the city last night from Seattle and will remain in Portland several days. The officials of the Northern Pacific forming the party are here to attend the conference to be held on April 6 and 7 between the traffic representatives of the transcon-tinental railroads and the members of the North Pacific Coast Jobbers and Manufacturers' Association. J. C. Stubbs, traffic director of the Harriman lines, will reach the city on April 6 from San Francisco, where he is now on a tour of inspection. Mr. Stubbs is recognized as the leader of the traffic men to gather in the city for the conference, and as the oldest the party will be its spokesman.

Represents Great Northern. It is announced that Ben Campbell

is sick at his home in St. Paul and will not be able to come to Portland to attend to the business of the meeting for the Great Northern. His place will be filled by J. C. Eden, of Seattle, assitant general traffic manager, who will reach Portland the day before the ing. J. M. Hannaford, of the Northern Pacific, will also represent the Great Northern in the meeting, such arrangement having been made by Mr.

The members of the Jobbers' Asso ciation are awaiting with great interest for the day of the meeting to arrive that they may learn what decision has been reached by the traffic repre-sentatives after having studied the arguments as presented at the last meetng during the latter part of January It is thought, however, that there will be concessions granted by the rall-roads and that the contentions which have disturbed the peaceful harmony of the dealings between the jobbers and the transportation men will be settled for some time to come at least. Following Out Plan.

left the city during the latter part of January after having attended a two days' conference with the Jobbers' Association in regard to the distributative rates back from the Coast. At that time it was announced by Mr. Stubbs, who was the spokesman for the ratiroad men that the party would return in about three months, and that when they did return they would have decided upon some verdict to be given which would show plainly what the jobbers could expect from the transportation companies. At the first meeting the requests of the Coast shippers were plainly and logically set out before the traffic representatives and each point was discussed thoroughly. The general contention is that the trans portation companies charge too high a local tariff on merchandise shipped from the terminal points to the interior. For varying commodities different concessions were asked, and it is thought when the second and final meting is called on April 6 or 7, that the verdict of the railroad men will be to grant a material decrease in the local charges now in effect. Cannot Ignore Spokane.

The time has passed when the Portland obber can afford to ignore the existence of Spokene as a jobbing center, and, al-though the Portland merchant still re-gards the demand of the city by the falls for terminal rates as something hardly short of preposterous, yet they are not now asking for more than a fighting chance in the territory contiguous to the inland town. The Palouse country, the Southern Idaho basin and the land between those districts and Portland are those to be effected by the change in rates, if the change is made. What will come if the requests of the shippers are not considered by the rail-roads is a question of mystery. The story of how Spokune threw all of its business to one line is still fresh in the minds of those who are interested, and as one of those who is prominent in the association puts it, "there are several clubs waiting in the corner, but we hope that none of
