WOOLEN MILLS PRACTICALLY ASSEMBLED.—It is announced that the Clark Woolen Mills Company will shortly proceed to rebuild a plant on the former site of the Portland Woolen Mills Company at Sellwood. T. W. Clark has disposed of his interests in another plant and informed D. J. Donagh, president of the Sellwood Board of Trade, that he would put in the Sellwood plant, even if all the stock asked was not placed as desired.

ATTENDANCE AT MONTAVILLA SCHOOL.—Attendance at the Montavilla school has reached the highest on record, 420 pupils. There are ten teachers, besides the principal, N. W. Bowland. Two rooms are on the school ground outside the main building. Montavilla has nearly doubled its population in four years, and the school population has more than doubled within that time.

LOOKS OVER THE GROUND.—William H. Laird, Winona, Minn., and R. L. McCormick, of Tacoma, are the winners of the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company, with Architect W. A. Wilkinson, looked over the ground at St. Johns yesterday, recently purchased for a large sawmill. Mr. Wilkinson will at once prepare the plans for the plant.

WILL BUILD FRATERNAL HALL.—Plans have been prepared for a fraternal hall at Mount Tabor by the Woodmen of the World camp at that place on West Avenue. Ground 50x100 feet has been purchased and a two-story building will be put up this spring. The investment will represent about $2000.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN.—At the meeting of the Council of Jewish Women tomorrow at 2:45 p. m. Miss Louise Forsyth, recently from New York, will give a reading from Browning's "Rabbi Ben Ezra," and Miss M. Boskowitz will give current events.

MOTOR-CAR HAS TRIAL RUN.—Will Be Placed on Service to Hillsboro Shortly.

Word has reached Portland that the first official trial of the new gasoline motor built for the Southern Pacific was made at Omaha on Friday last. Superintendent of Motive Power McKee, who is the inventor of the car in its improved state, handled his creation on the first trip which was made over a 40-mile stretch of track running out of Omaha.

It is said that the officials who took the first journey were greatly impressed with the car and predict that it will be a complete success. The main difference between the child of Mr. McKee's brain and those which have been in existence for some time is the pneumatic starting device so arranged that the car is started by the force of compressed air thus doing away with the jolts and jars usually incident to gasoline power.

The new car is capable of a very great speed and this qualification has been shown in the tests which have just been made. On the return run to the shops at Omaha a very few days from this time and that the first of the coming month will see it in service between Hillsboro and Portland.

Will Complete Public Market.—The Judiciary committee of the City Council at a meeting yesterday afternoon approved the plans of the public market and ordered the work completed.

The liquor license committee granted several applications for licenses and issued transfers. The question of granting licenses to sell liquor on the Exposition grounds was taken up but no definite decision was reached.

Physicians prescribe it because it's the best. WHITE ROCK WATER. Agreeable in flavor, contains everything good for the system; nothing hurtful.

Teddy McNamara starred at the Marquam last night supported by the Pollard Lilliputians. Ted is 12 years old and a remarkable person. As a comedian he is more expert than many of the grown up men who disport themselves in musical comedy.

Last night's performance of "A Runaway Girl" was the first ever given by the Pollards. This seems almost incredible to those who saw it, for there was not a hitch. It moved along as evenly as if it had been the customary thing with them through a whole season.

The genius of the whole thing was Alfred Goulding, who directs all the productions. He is only 21 years old and a graduate from the ranks. A few years ago he was principal comedian with the company, but he outgrew the Pollard proposition and was tried out at stage management.

Brilliant Electric Display.—Like a scene suggested in the picture made by Alladin's lamp of old Morrison street, from Second street to the Hotel Portland, will glow with light from many incandescent colored globes May 1, and will be kept in use during the progress of the Lewis and Clark Exposition. Ben Selling started the movement, and the cost of the lighting will be paid by the merchants along Morrison street. They believe such a project will help to advertise their stores and will materially beautify that portion of the city during Exposition time.

Donations for Mercy Home.—Some weeks ago it was announced in this paper that the Mercy Home, situated on Sixteenth and Couch streets, would be sold in case the Sisters of Mercy could not meet the first payment on the property. Since then the sisters have received encouraging letters advising them to have a subscription list started, and no doubt the sum would be raised in a short time.

DR. CARDWELL DIES

Succumbs to Attack of Typhoid Fever.

SERVED IN THE SPANISH WAR
Physician Who Won Distinction With the Second Oregon Regiment in Philippines Passes Away After Brief Illness.

Dr. Herbert W. Cardwell, a prominent physician of Portland, died yesterday morning at his home, 308 North Twenty-first street, from typhoid fever. The announcement of his death came as a shock to Dr. Cardwell's many friends in this city, as he had been confined to his room only about ten days. Prior to that time he had been suffering from what he thought was a severe attack of the grip, but while trying to fight it off he was forced to his bed with the developing symptoms of typhoid.

Dr. Cardwell was married 12 years ago to Miss Helen W. Winslow, of New Bedford, Mass., who with two sons, Oliver Byron and Fowler Hathaway, aged 12 and 11, survive him.

Always an enthusiast in military affairs, Dr. Cardwell was for a long time prominently identified with the Oregon National Guard and was a veteran of the Spanish war, in which he attained much honor. Prior to the call for volunteers Dr. Cardwell held the position of surgeon general on the staff of Governor Lord, with the rank of colonel. Upon the organization of the Second Oregon Regiment, U. S. V., Dr. Cardwell was appointed assistant surgeon of the regiment with the rank of captain. Soon after the arrival in Manila, the ability and worth of Captain Cardwell was recognized by the commanding general and he was promoted to the rank of major of volunteers and attached to the staff of General Anderson as chief surgeon of volunteers.

Winn Distinction in Army. The work performed by Major Cardwell in that capacity and its value is best described in the recommendation contained in the report of Major-General H. W. Lawton to the War Department, which reads: "In addition to the professional seal and executive ability always shown by Major H. W. Cardwell, chief surgeon of the division, his cheerful willingness to be of use in whatever capacity, should be recognized. This ability frequently brought him under fire, notably at the first battle of San Rafael."

Nor was this willingness to be of use noticed by higher officers alone as the testimony of the men of the Second Oregon on that trait of Major Cardwell's character is even stronger. In Manila he was every man's friend and interest in the good and health of the troops was prompted by feelings other than the mere responsibility of his position.

The funeral arrangements have not been fully made other than that the pall bearers will be taken from the Second Oregon and the honorary pall-bearers from the medical profession.

KREISLER WILL PLAY "DEVIL'S TRILL" TONIGHT. Tartini's Famous Piece Has Been Put on the Programme by Special Request.

There have been so many inquiries as to whether he would, or he wouldn't, play the wonderful show piece of Tartini, that the management wired on to Kreisler, asking that he oblige the Portland music lovers with the inclusion of it, and Kreisler has acquiesced.

Among the other notable numbers on the programme will be the Bach Sonata, the Vieuxtemps Concerto, and the Paganini 24th Caprice. The recital is at the Empire Theater, and is under the personal direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Coman.
