SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 4 .-(Staff Correspondence.)-It took Uncle Henk Harris' Seals ten innings of the greatest baseball ever played at Recreation Park to defeat us this after-

For nine lunings and a half, William Essick, the Knox College youth that Manager McCredie secured from Salt Lake, held the Seals safe, but a lucky crive by Wheeler, who was bending them for San Francisco, managed to sneak in one of those fluke safe bin-gles that counted, and the Portlanders went back to their dinners with a tingy cout of whitewash taxed against

To go down in defeat in a game such as that put up by the Northern-ers is tough baseball luck. We out-hit the Bay City birds and outplayed them when it came to spectacular work on the diamond, and, but for some bad judgment at second, where McCredle and Householder were caught napping at critical times, we would have knocked San Francisco's 1000 per cent average into a cocked hat.

Essick Outpitches Wheeler.

Essick pitched a better game than Wheeler, but the stickers behind him could not cluster their swats when they would do the most good-that's the whole story of our defeat today. Not a Seal was able to connect with delivery until the fifth inn ing, and only two men during the game got as far as third base. It was impossible for the visitors to get but two in a row, and when this doesn't happen there is little chance of winning a ball game.

Yet there is no kick coming against losing a game like this. There was great baseball thrown into these nine and a half innings, baseball that made the fans and the scribes of this burg hardly two innings old before Henry Harris, who recently took occasion to criticise Manager McCredie for his team, began to feel sorry that he

Of the game there is little to tell. Portland really played an errorless game. The one error charged to Jakey Atz is one of those things that the scorer must do. It came in the sixth inning. Mohier had singled and there were two down. Hildebrand hit a scorcher to Atz and he juggled it long enough for Hillebrand to reach first who thought he had a chance to score, made a race for the plate, but to the plate nailed him and prevented what looked like a sure score.

STEALING NEVADA'S ATHLETES Such Is Charge Made Against the University of Oregon.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—(Special.)—A special from Reno says for several days past the student body of the University of Nevada has been greatly agitated over the loss of Frank Friessel, the "sagebrushers" star athlete, and the prospective loss of other men who have been prominent in upholding the blue and white on the gridron and cinder path. Friessel goes to the University of Oregon, and the up and take notice. SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.-(Special.)-Treasurer Barrett, of the Stanford students, is determined to give the Stanford crew plenty of opportunities for action this Spring, although the prospects of a race with the University April 29 appears poor. On April 15 Stanford will row the Washington University over the Redwood City course. The crew will then be taken north to Seattle, where

At this time the Stanford freshmen crew will be given an opportunity to meet the Washington "babies." For the first time in local bowling cir cles and the second time in the North-west the perfect score of 300 was rolled by C. H. Ball on the Portland alleys yesterday. This score is the highest that can possibly be made in tenpins, and is secured by 12 consecutive strikes. made by A. L. Jenkins in Seattle about we menths ago.

Ball, who is considered one of the leaders in city bowling, has been gradually approaching the 300 mark for the past few weeks, and last Saturday scored 298. His phenomenal score of yesterday was made while playing with C. J. McMenomy in a two-man team game. This team, not content with establishing a new record for one man, shoved up the record for a two-man team's single, making the score 517. In three games this team made an average of 232%.

Despite the newness of the alleys. good individual scores are being rolled at the Oregon bowling alleys. Arrangements are about completed for league matches to be held there. Beginning today, three alleys will be reserved for the use of ladies on Wednesday afternoon of each week, and will be given free of charge.

The rearrangement of the schedule for the Multnomah Amateur Athietic Club's baseball league, made necessary by the entry of the "Dark Horsea," has been Trophy Goes to the Boys of Salem.

PROTEST FINALLY DECIDED

Company D, of Roseburg, Loses Its Contention, and Adjutant-General Makes the Award in Favor of M.

The dispute over the winner in the state trophy match of the annual rifle, revolver, and carbine competition of the Oregon National Guard, held last October, was settled finally yesterday, when Adjutant-General W. E. Finzer awarded the trophy to Company M, of Salem.

When the competition was held last October the team representing Company D, of Roseburg, led off in the score, but a protest was entered by several of the other teams, on the ground that the men had been placed too close together on the firing line, and thus hindered were at a disadvantage in their shooting. The protest was presented to Major F. S. Baker, the officer in charge of the compe-tition, to whose discretion such details of the competition were left.

After a consideration of the facts pre-ented in the protests he decided that they were justifiable and annulled the former competition. At the second meeting Company M took first place, but when the award was made, Company D entered a protest and appealed to Adjutant-General Finzer for the recognition of the first match and the award to it of the trophy. Since that time Adjutant-General Finzer has placed the matter before several officers of the War Department and other authorities, with the result that the action of Major F. S. Baker as officer in charge has been sustained. Confirmation of the sward of the trophy to Company M will now be issued.

This trophy consists of a silver cup, and it will become the perpetual property of the organization first winning it three times. In the first annual competition, held in 1905, it was won by Troop A, of the cavalry.

The conditions for the annual competition allow each company of infantry and the troop of cavairy of the Oregon National Guard to enter a team consisting of four men and one substitute. The competition for the state trophy consists of slow fire at 200, 500 and 600 yards, allowing seven shots per man at each distance, and rapid fire at 200 and 500 yards with five shots per man at each distance. Charter by Independent Shippers May Not Prevent Portland & Asiatic From Also Putting on Extra Vessel Next Month.

The negotiations that have been under way for over a week for laying on ar extra steamer here for the Orient resulted yesterday in the chartering of the Fern lene, a British steamship of 2448 tons net register. She will take cargo to Japan independently of the regular line.

The Ferndene was chartered by Taylor, Young & Co., and will be on hand to begin loading about May I. Her cargo will be supplied in part by T. M. Stevens & Co., and other Portland exporters will In the police court, on motion of the wheat," but it is likely that nearly all of her freight will consist of flour, as it was the recent flurry in the Japanese flour demand that has necessitated the putting on of extra steamers. The advance in the Japanese tariff will take effect on July 1, and importers over there have sent in rush orders to this Coast in order to secure the stocks before the rise. last week. The new papers were served The Portland & Asiatic Steamship Company has also been figuring on an extra steamer for May sailing and may yet secure one, notwithstanding the chartering of the Ferndene. Over half the space on the Nicomedia, which sails May 15, has already been reserved, and at the rate that offerings are coming in it is probable that all her space will be taken before this month is gone. Should more heavy flour orders be received at the last moment, the shippers will not be so particular in the matter of rates, and a regular steamer will look as good to them as an outsider. The Portland & Asiatic is in a position now to put on a special boat as soon as The Ferndene's rate was not made public, but tramps are quotable at $4, and it is the general opinion that this is her rate. The regular tariff on flour to the Orient is $5. Were it not for the fact that the emergency which calls for these extra steamers is of but a limited period, the advent of the $4 vessels might be looked upon as the forerunner of tariff demoralisation. The trans-Pacific com-panies, however, do not fear any rate trouble. They argue that the Japanese war is about at an end and believe that as soon as hostilities cease the volume of traffic will be so great that shippers will be willing to stand by the regular tariff, In addition to the two Oriental steamers sailing from Portland in May, the Ferndene and the Nicomedia, two will get away in the present month, the Portland & Asiatic liner Aragonia and the Dum-barton. The Aragonia is due here on the 19th and is scheduled to sall on the 19th. She will take out a full cargo, all of her space having been reserved for some time past.
