POLICE WHOLE CITY

Newly Appointed Patrolmen Make It Possible. .

CHANGES IN WATCH GIVEN OUT

Not Only the Business District of Portland, but All the Suburbs to Share in Better Protection Afforded.

* POLICING GREATER PORTLAND. Twenty-eight new patrolmen will report for duty today. Three patrolmen are detailed for duty at Sunnyside and three for Brooklyn and Sellwood.

Two patrolmen are added to South Portland district and two are added to the night shifts in Albina. New bests are created on Portland Heights and Willamette Heights, and three patrolmen are detailed for each. A new beat is created in Irvington, and two patrolmen are detailed for night duty there. During the day a mounted policeman will patrol the crossings, and general police work will be given two more patrolmen on the night shifts.

There are 12 more patrolmen to be added, as the City Council made appropria-tion for 40 policemen. The remainder will be appointed in the near future. All of the new officers were named the emergency clause and have yet to undergo the Civil Service examination. Beginning tomorrow, the day patrol, under command of Captain Gritzmacher, will go on duty at 7 A. M. and report off at $135 P. M. The first relief, Captain Moore, will go on duty at 3 P. M. and report off at 11:15 P. M. The second re-Hef. Captain Bailey, will go on duty at 11 P. M. and report off at 7:15 A. M.

COMES TO DEFENSE OF INDIA Native Writer Arraigns the British Government of Dependency.

CORVALLIS. Or., April 7.—(To the Editor.)—It is with great diffidence that I write to you for I am a Hindu, and concerning Hindus there seems to be a great misunderstanding in this country. Yet finding that there appear from time to time, in The Oregonian, short editorial paragraphs regarding india. I am led to believe that you will take into consideration the following: Since I have been here, I have read The Oregonian from day to day, and I am glad to notice that I have never read it but I wanted to know, and in my estimation The Oregonian ranks as one of the best papers in this country. Its sound scholarship, rain this country. Its sound scholarship, ra-tional views and liberal thought have always attracted me, but I am sorry to see that its policy towards the Orient is not as it ought to have been. Its references towards Asia in general (excepting Japan) and towards India and China in particular, have been al-ways prejudicial and against the best inter-ests of the two countries. Let me assure you that China and India are not so bar-barous and uncivilized as some interested writers represent them to be. The informa-tion regarding India generally comes to this writers represent them to be. The information regarding India generally comes to this country either through English sources or through the missionaries, both of which are insufficient and incorrect. The Englishmen, being the rulers of India, naturally want to retain the dependency, and siways carp at the Hindus and point out their flaws with a view to prejudice other nations against India, thereby justifying their title to hold India; the missionaries bear no Ill-will to Spring session to the Fall session is but wards India, but being foreigners and not conversant with our language they depend more or less upon the rulers of the land for more or less upon the rulers of the land for their information and thus do not always get the right information. The missionaries when they observe for themselves even do great good. For example, the Canadian missionary who has recently pointed out "that the famines of India are not due to the failure of crops, but owing to overtans-tion and utter poverty of the people, on ac-count of the native commerce being ruined by the allen rulers," has done a world of good to India.

good to India.

One thing which I specially wanted to point out at present is that the notion about the Suil and the horrible practice connected with it, as known in this country, has been greatly exaggerated, and the sooner this idea dies out the better for the East and West. There can be no love and friendship between America and India so long as Americans see no good in India and only mock the Hindus by calling them snake-charmers and heathers, barbarians who burn their set Hindius by calling them anake-charmers and heathers, barbartians who burn their widows who burn their widows who were hefore the days of Oyama and Kuropathin (1) would like some light on the reliable widows was hever known in India nor does it exist anywhere now. It is only a relic of their members of the form of the strength of and heathens, barbarians who burn their Shifts are changed at headquarters, so all officers may ride to and from work.

Chief of Police Hunt yesterday completed arrangements for a new order of things in the administration of the department, and with the assigning to duty of 28 new patrolmen a general change is made. Many of the additional policemen have been detailed for suburban duty, where new beats are created, thus affording far better protection to the outlying districts. The three shifts, under Captains Gritzmacher, Moore and Balley, are switched so that all officers can ride to and from their work.

The 28 patrolmen, recently appointed by Mayor Williams under the emergency clause in the charter, will report for duty today. They have procured uniforms, and shieds and keys will be given them when they appear at beadquarters to be assigned to the various reliefs.

While the suburban districts have been well cared for under the new order of things, the central portion has not been overlooked. Downtown beats will be cut, so that two policemen will patrol the territory now traversed by one officer. In this manner better attention can be given troops and pustify his despetism on the ground that he has mercileasly pusitished a dozen of Hindus he has mercileasly pusitished and some of that the has mercileasly pusitished and provents of that the Lord Curzon is the master of that of the United States? Therefore it will not be long before India destructive variation of war.

For a long time there have been constant requests for more police protection from the suburbs. Consequently, care was taken to provide as many additional policemen as possible for these places. Instead of one officer at Sunnyside, there will be three, thus affording a patrolman for all hours of day and night, and in addition there will be a mounted policeman in the district during the day.

Three patrolmen have been assigned to Sellwood and Brooklyn. To date the territory has been unguarded during the early morning hours and up to 3 o'clock P. M., when it was patrolled by one officer.

South Portland and Albina districts will be given two more patrolmen on the night shifts.

Three of the most important things are ight shifts.

Three of the most important things are of Tommy Aikins? How many women kill Three of the most important things are the creation of new beats on Portland Heights and Willamette Heights and at Irvington. Three patrolmen have been assigned for each of these places. There has been no protection at all in either of them beretofore, although there have been repeated calls for officers from each district.

Three patrolmen have been way are aware that a large number of young girls are seduced or forced to live a wretched life to satisfy the animal nature of them beretofore, although there have been repeated calls for officers from each district. themselves to soldiers of England at India. But if no voice is raised against then because they are strong, it is not certainly chivairous to denounce poor Hindus in an out of season.

C. S. MAHESH,

CHANCES OF RATE LAW SMALL Extra Session May Be Staved Off to Avoid Legislation.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washngton, April 7.-The semi-official announcement that the proposed extra session of Congress will be called about the middle of October Instead of the first of that menth is welcomed by those who are opposing railroad rate legislation, and it is asserted to be a part of the plan to postpone until the latest any action upon such legislation. When Congress was in session last Winter and there was so much talk about rate legis-latio, some people went so far as to believe that the earnestness of the Prest dent and those who were advising him was such as to require an extra session of Congress immediately after the ad-journment of the short session if the short session failed to enset railroad legislation which the President had recom-mended. The short session did not enact it, and before its adjournment it was to notice that I have never read it but I it, and before its adjournment it was learned something about which I known there would be no extra session in the Spring; on the other hand, it was announced it would possibly be the first der one month, of October. Now two weeks have been shaved off of the October session six months before it is possible for the Octo-ber session to meet. If that happens now, in the next three or four months it is feared that the special session will be further shortened if it is shown that the Information needed to guide Congress is yet incomplete and that the a beginning which will eventually end in the abandonment of the extra session and consequently reduce the chances for railroad legislation in the coming Con-
