

THEY WILL NOT SUPPORT ALBEE

Prohibitionists Refuse to Ally Themselves With His Men.

PUT UP STRAIGHT TICKET

Declare That His Reference to "Legally Legitimate" Saloons Bars All Hopes of a Fusion With Them.

Prohibitionists announce that they will not make affinity with H. R. Albee, because he has failed to declare war on saloons and has proclaimed that "legally legitimate" saloons have "rights" and should have a "square deal," and because he is a candidate for a Republican nomination, from what Prohibitionists call a "whisky" party.

Consequently Prohibitionists will refuse to endorse Albee, though at one time they had promised to do so, and will hold a convention perhaps one week from next Saturday to nominate a man of their own breed to lead the 500 voters who, they say, belong to their faith in the City of Portland.

Said F. McKecher yesterday, one of the big men of the Prohibition party: "We don't see anything to do with nominating a complete Prohibition party ticket and hold our own show as usual."

Albee's managers, including members of the Municipal Association and the Anti-Saloon League and reformers generally, have been using persuasion on the Prohibition leaders, all to no avail, for the latter refuse to be placated by any explanation of Albee's remark on the "legally legitimate" saloon unless he shall take back the words that offend them.

Albee is very careful to have "legally" prefixed to "legitimate," meaning, thereby, that he is not opposed to the saloon that conducts itself decently in obedience to the law. But the Prohibitionists cannot see that a saloon can be "legitimate" by any manner of means and aver that "legally legitimate" is simply a vain phrase.

At a meeting of the Albee Club last night Mr. Albee prefaced "legitimate" with "legally," saying that the latter word had been omitted in the newspaper interview at which the prohibitionists have taken offense and that he had, therefore, been incorrectly quoted. In the interview, however, he was represented as saying that the liquor traffic within bounds of decency was a legitimate business. In commenting on the interview two days later he said he had been fairly and faithfully quoted.

Prohibitionists declare that Albee's coming out as a candidate for the Republican nomination removes all possibility of their allying themselves with him for they cannot support a man who is a candidate of the Republican party—an organization in the service of demon rum.

Such was the opinion from the lips yesterday of E. Lee Page and F. McKecher, foremost of the cold-water hosts. At one time bell wethers of the Prohibition flock had agreed to line up for Albee as an independent candidate. Efforts to renew the agreement have failed, though mighty Prohibitionists say they wish their political consciences would let them jog along the political road with him.

The convention of the Prohibitionists will be a mass meeting to which all the faithful will be summoned.

FLOCK TO ALBEE SUPPORT

George H. Howell Becomes Vice-President of His Club.

Albee supporters to the number of 125 collected in Alisky building last night and organized a club to work for their candidate. The meeting was full of enthusiasm and when the members adjourned they felt well satisfied with their work.

Mayor Williams' administration was roundly criticized and censured not alone for its policy as to gambling, but also for grafts by contractors and by the political machine.

The chief speakers were R. Livingston, George H. Howell, S. S. Gillespie, Dr. E. L. House, Miller Murdoch, O. P. Mackell, D. C. Currier, O. A. Tilton, J. S. Bradley, J. K. Gill, J. W. Bell, Charles E. Mack, S. T. Lockwood, C. P. Lindsey, W. D. Scott, J. R. James, W. F. Edwards, W. Y. Masters, R. J. Patterson, W. O. Haines, F. A. Frazier, D. A. Patullo.

Mr. Livingston made a stirring address in which he scored Mayor Williams for having gone into office pledged to the cause of good government and for having "compromised" with lawbreakers and brought disgrace to the city and humiliation to its best citizens. Never, said he, "could I conscientiously cast my vote for him for Mayor."

Mr. Livingston spoke of Albee as having done good work in the interest of high public morality and as a candidate who having been "faithful" in a few things should be allowed opportunity of being faithful in greater things and who should, therefore, be placed in the Mayor's seat.

George H. Howell scathingly arraigned the city administration for what he called failings of Chief Hunt and for grafts in street contracts, especially on Morrison-street bridge, and for various other faults and abuses. He said that Albee would give the city a "straight, clean business administration" and would not be a radical Puritan reformer.

Mr. Albee declared the money that could be derived from those of gamblers could be saved many times over if the several branches of the city government were economically conducted.

"The Mayor who sits in the City Hall," said Mr. Albee, "and says he doesn't know what's going on in the North End or the West End ought to learn or move out."

John Bain spoke of the necessity of informing voters of the issues involved in the campaign. "This is a fight," he remarked, "to decide whether the good people of this community shall be in control."

labor. The liquor machine, he said, would be a strong antagonist. Mr. Howell announced that in no event would he become an independent candidate.

GLAFKE CLUB IS BOOMING

Nearly Eight Hundred Names Are on Membership Roll.

When the Glafke membership roll was footed up last night it was found that 786 business men had put their shoulders to the wheels of that candidate's car. Consequently, President McGuire announced that by next Saturday night at least 2000 voters would be moving "Business Man" Glafke into the Mayor's chair, and that this number would be increased by another 200 before the end of next week.

The meeting of the Glafke Club last night was what is usually called an "overflow," since Alisky Hall was insufficient to hold all those who came to attend.

Herman Wittenberg was the principal speaker of the evening, and brought out in a sharp and discerning way the salient features of the Glafke Club's campaign for its nominee.

That "grand old man," Mayor Williams, Mr. Wittenberg thought, had achieved all the honors which it was possible to obtain in public life, and that he had reached the point where he should now retire in favor of some younger man. In addition to that, Mr. Wittenberg expressed the belief that the Mayor's candidacy for re-election was inspired solely by a certain clique, which was of the opinion that their own personal purposes might be served better on the whole by Williams than through another man. "The man we want for Mayor," continued Mr. Wittenberg, "is a business man, and I have no hesitancy in saying that the man is 'Burr' Glafke. Of course, one thing is certain, the politicians do not want him, but the citizens and business men do, and that is what is going to elect him."

"The great need of this city at present is an administration that is going to insure a good, clean, businesslike government, one that will save us from anything like a 'Burr' Glafke sewer scandal and bulging wooden block streets." These things, and more, would, as Mr. Wittenberg viewed the matter, come as a result of the election of Mr. Glafke to the Mayorship.

A committee, consisting of H. Wittenberg, James Thompson and W. H. Chapin, was appointed to confer with other Republican clubs for the purpose of securing the consent of the wholesale business houses of the city to close at 12 o'clock noon on the day of the primaries, and the retailers to allow their clerks and help sufficient time on the same day to vote.

Edward Newberg, E. H. Kilham and Walter Holt were appointed to act as a committee for the purpose of establishing "Glafke" night, to be held on every Tuesday evening, and to provide a hall for such meeting.

It was decided to hold ward meetings in each ward of the city, at which Mr. Glafke and other prominent speakers would explain the platform and the course intended to be pursued by Glafke. Practically all persons in attendance offered themselves as precinct workers, and the various precincts of each ward will unite on a common meeting place for such ward meetings. The second ward will lead off, and a committee, with A. W. Allen, O. J. Green and James Roberts as members, was appointed to secure a hall.

N. H. Bird, E. H. Kilham, James Roberts and R. C. Wright, the last claiming the distinction of being neither a candidate nor defeated nor defeated candidate, all in brief but pointed talks, urged the necessity of hard work by the club, but at the same time expressed full confidence in the success of their candidate.

AT THE THEATERS

What the Press Agents Say.

"Dora Thorne" at Columbia.

Bertha M. Clay's "Dora Thorne," at the Columbia this week, is attracting widespread interest. In the little Dora, taken from her simple life and married to a rich young nobleman, awakens to a world new and strange, filled with wonderful experience for her. The story is always fascinating, and the recent New York marriage of a poor girl to a young millionaire is being told and retold in every large newspaper in the land. The Columbia Stock Company is giving a beautiful interpretation of "Dora Thorne" this week, and large houses greet every performance. One matinee next Saturday only.

Stockwell in Comedy.

Herbert Bashford's new comedy, "The Honorable John North," will be produced Monday and Tuesday nights, April 24 and 25, at the Marquam Grand Theater, by L. R. Stockwell, the veteran comedian, and his company of artists. The plot of the play is laid in a small Washington town, and unfolds a series of amusing situations connected with the private and public life of John North. The climax of the play is reached in a red-hot political campaign in which John North is a candidate for Governor. Although bitterly assailed by his enemies he triumphs over all obstacles and is elected to the coveted position.

"Pink Dominoes" Farewell Week.

Sunday matinee the Columbia Stock Company will begin the final week of their Portland career, presenting the extremely funny farce-comedy, "Pink Dominoes." This play has not been seen in Portland for many years, and will be a comedy treat for Columbia patrons.

Lumbermen Fall to Organize.

Because of disunion among several of the Portland lumbermen, a movement to form a lumbermen's association in Oregon has proved unsuccessful, and the matter of organizing an Oregon association for some time the Oregon lumbermen have been associated with the Washington organization and have attended meetings in Seattle, but, in order to make it possible for a larger number to attend the meetings, it was thought advisable to establish an Oregon association.

Nebraskans Are in Line.

At the meeting of the Nebraska Society last night, the organization voted to join in the headquarters for state societies to be located in the Chamber of Commerce building. Major T. C. Clarkson spoke on "Contrast Between Nebraska and Oregon. Not to the Detriment of Oregon," and declared that the Exposition would be a great benefit to the state and city rather than otherwise. N. C. Phillips and George H. Wilbur also addressed the gathering. Miss Linn Woodcock and B. Alchico aided in the programme. At 10 o'clock the Nebraska Society was visited by 50 members of the Michigan Society, and the remainder of the evening was given over to whist.
