SPLIT ON REFORM

Russian Journalists Adopt a Moderate Platform.

SOCIALISTS URGE EXTREME

Stormy Session of Journalists' Congress Ends in Decision to Agitate-Socialists Will Demonstrate in Cities May 14.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 22.-(12:50 A. M.)-May demonstrations on a grand scale throughout the empire is the pro-gramme of the socialist wing of the reform party, as announced at the Pan-Russian Congress of Journalists which closed yesterday after a protracted and stormy session. The congress illustrated the lack of unity in reform circles, the program as finally adopted failing to ouch many burning questions of the the views of the elements.

At the conclusion neither side was sat-isfied with the program. The moderate faction, which was in the majority, eliminated a number of recommendations in deference to the wishes of the social Democrats, while the representatives of the Socialist press criticised the plat-form generally and announced that the plan of organized meetings and parades in every city and industrial center of Russia on May 14, to which they were Russia on May It, to which they were unable to gain the concurrence of other clements, will be carried out regardless of the congress. They disclaimed any intention of rioting, but declared that if the police attempted to break up the demonstrations the government would be recoverable. answerable

Will Organize for Reform.

The chief accomplishment of the cor gress was its determination to organize an association which will participate in the general work of the Reform League of all the professional classes, in which the lawyers took the first steps at their recent congress here.

Practically all the Liberal papers of Russia were represented, among the delegates being Polish, Finnish, Armenian, Georgian, Esthonian, Lettish, Lithuanian and Little Russian journalists. Among the speakers were M. Milukoff, who recently made a lecturing tour of America, and the poet Korolenko. The police did not interfere.

Nationalize Land, Free Labor.

The program adopted comprises vague resolutions in favor of the nationalization of land, some form of liberation of the laboring classes from the industrial yoke and the right of various nationalities to self-development as far as consistent with the existence of the empire. A long discussion of tactics resulted in a declaration that the present system left no room for legal methods of agitation and the delegates pledged themselves to the greatest possible agitation in favor of a legislative assembly by both legal and extra-legal publications. In view of alleged attempts of the authorities to incite the proletariat against the educated classes, the congress demanded the right of the people to arm themselves and form local militia for self-defense. Among the planks excised from the platform was a declaration for an eight-hour working day, which was carried by a majority so narrow that it was finally decided to not include it.

and the present tendencies of education, religion and politics.

Referring to the university political movement, Count Tolstol declares that parents are going to school to unruly children, and would pass on this "absurd" education to mujiks. He applies the whole vocabulary of decisive adjectives to the educated class, and advises them to learn the lesson of life anew from the lowly, and scores city life as abnormal, artificial and immoral, hopeiessly trammeled by the conventions and fashions. The time is at hand, Count Toistoi declares in conclusion, for people to know the hol-lowness, the emptiness and deceit of the present system, break to pieces their soulless, outworn idol and seek the true and living God.

SPRINGFIELD, G., April 21.—William
J. Bryan today, in an interview regarding present and prospective political conditions, said:

The victory of Mayor Dunne in Chicago has injected a new force in Democratic politics and it has given the Democratic politics and it has given the Democratic politics and it has strengthened the railical element of the party, which has already made great advances since the last Democratic politics and vances since the last Democratic National Convention. The stand that Mayor Dunne has taken in installing a municipal gas plant in Chicago to force the gas trust there to act fairly with the citizens is in good line with Democratic principles.

The next battle, I think, will be fought out on tariff reform and certain other economic questions, such as regulation of the railroade, in my judgment, the Republican leaders who control the Senate will not co-operate with the President.
