

ORGAN RECITALS FOR THE FAIR

Are Practically Assured for the Exposition*
Period.

HARDEE GIVES ASSISTANCE

Frederick W. Goodrich Will Direct the Music, and Prominent City
Organists Will Participate
at Various Services.

There is a prospect that a $10,000 three-manual pipe organ will be placed on exhibition at the Auditorium building, Lewis and Clark Exposition, and that at least 14 organ recitals will be given at intervals from June to October by Portland organists, under the direction of Frederick W. Goodrich, the organist and choirmaster of St. David's Protestant Episcopal Church. These organ recitals will be given Saturday and Sunday evenings, during the Exposition season, be free of charge and all the organists who will participate will donate their services as a free will offering to the people. It is expected that the deal will be closed within the next three or four days.

Various musicians have worked within the past three months on a proposition to bring a large pipe organ to the Exposition in order that free organ recitals might be given, and with the view to have organ accompaniment at the series of oratorios already arranged for in connection with the different congresses and conferences, Sunday afternoon. The idea was to ask a firm of organ builders to send a pipe organ to the Exposition on exhibit there, with the belief that the organ might be eventually sold to a church corporation in the Pacific Northwest, and so save them return freight charges. But the advent here of Theodore Hardee, assistant to President Goodrich of the Lewis and Clark Exposition, Mr. Hardee at once interested himself in the pipe-organ question, and after talking with Frederick W. Goodrich and Frank S. Gilbert, the plan took definite shape. Mr. Gilbert is now in correspondence with a firm making a specialty of pipe organs, and there is every reason to believe that the deal is now in progress of consummation.

Ralph M. Hoyt, organist of the First Unitarian Church; A. T. Baldwin, organist of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception; Miss Leonora Fisher, organist of the First Congregational Church and Temple Beth Israel; Miss Grace Kemp, organist of the First Baptist Church, and Harold V. Milligan, organist of Calvary, Presbyterian Church, have signified their intention to take part in the organ recitals along with Mr. Goodrich. Other church organists in this city, who have been called on, have not yet given their promise, on the ground that their duties as church organists, or their vacation arrangements might prevent.

A music day at the Exposition is also being talked of. It will be suggested that an address by a recognized musical authority be given, also vocal and instrumental selections. The Auditorium building will accommodate 4500 persons, and if the various new plans are carried out the building will become known as a typical music hall, where various musicals—other than the realm of brass bands—will be a reality. ### NEED TWO SCHOOLHOUSES

To Relieve Northeast Section of District Is Serious Problem.

A considerable problem is presented for solution to the Board of Education to relieve the overcrowded condition of the Williams-Avenue, the Holladay and the Holladay schoolhouses. At the same time provide facilities for Holladay Addition Park and Irvington neighborhoods to the east of the Holladay School. The Williams-Avenue and Holladay buildings are overcrowded, each having about 400 pupils. At the Holladay School part of the assembly hall has been partitioned off for an extra classroom. The overflow from the Williams-Avenue and Holladay buildings will be about 100 pupils, which will be increased to 200. Here there are nearly 300 pupils, without relieving the three buildings materially. From a careful survey of that section of the district it is the opinion of the members of the new Improvement club formed in the Holladay Park Addition that it will take two new schoolhouses to relieve the Williams-Avenue, Holladay and Holladay schoolhouses. A schoolhouse erected near the racetrack, north or south, will not relieve the Holladay Park people, as it would be further off than the Holladay building, although it might help the Irvington people.

The Holladay Park people would prefer to wait a while and suffer inconveniences rather than have an attempt made to provide them with a schoolhouse near the racetrack, in the hope of getting a building in Carter's Addition. The special school committee from the Holladay Park Club will take up the matter with the Board of Education, and will co-operate with the Irvington people in securing school facilities. It will depend on circumstances whether the matter of getting a schoolhouse in Carter's Addition, or in some other point near enough, will be urged at this time.

Past Satchels Go to Corvallis.

The Past Satchels' Association gave 600 Redmen and their friends an enjoyable outing yesterday, when they held the annual excursion to Corvallis and return. A special train of nine coaches had been chartered by the association, and this train was filled to overflowing when it pulled out of the Union Depot. The trip to Corvallis was made over the East Side or main line of the Southern Pacific, while the return was made over the West Side line.

It is the custom of the Past Satchels' Association to give an excursion annually, the places chosen each time being different. Corvallis was picked out this year as being a place convenient and at the same time affording an opportunity for the trip to be made over different lines of road both going and coming.

BUILDING BOOM ON EAST SIDE

Many Business and Residence Structures in Course of Construction.

NO HOUSES THERE TO RENT

Thousands of Dollars Are Invested in New Enterprises Which Will Add Greatly to Prosperity of the Community.

There is no abatement in the building movement all over the East Side. It is now under full headway, and yet there are no vacant houses. At Sunnyside, E. C. Minor, who handles many houses, says he cannot supply the demand for houses to rent, and during the week he turned away several every day. "People are coming here to stay," says Mr. Minor, "but they want to rent a house before purchasing homes to see if they like the climate. They will be sure to like the climate and become permanent. I have no fear of a slump after the Fair. Two many people are coming to make homes for that." Sunnyside has built up to East Thirty-ninth street.

In Albina and toward Columbia Slough dwellings are going up in bunches. New foundations can be seen in every direction. Around the new car barn of the Portland Consolidated, more than 50 houses have just been built, and on down the Peninsula it looks as if a new city would be put up. Off in the direction of Woodstock and Mount Tabor may be seen handsome dwellings under construction.

Contract Let for New Hotel.

The contract for the erection of a two-story building at Union and Hawthorne avenues was let last week to J. Yanelle, the price being $11,000. The building is for P. G. and S. A. Arata. Work on Edward Sharkey's building on Union avenue, of concrete block, costing about $12,000, is progressing. It is for factory purposes. For Nummister Bros., of Two Standard Manufacturing Company, work on the two-story building 190219 is progressing on Grand avenue. With the new machinery it will represent an outlay of about $20,000. Nickum & Kelly are completing their new sand dock and bunkers at the foot of East Washington and Alder streets at a cost of $15,000. At the east end of the steel bridge there are two business buildings costing $30,000 being completed, and dwellings within a radius of half a dozen blocks costing $100,000 are under construction. As a business center this point promises to outstrip all others on the East Side.

Lacy Bros. are erecting a packinghouse on Williams avenue, near Russell street, that will cost when complete $12,000.

Woolen Mills for Sellwood.

For the establishment of a woolen mill plant at Sellwood, on the site of the Portland Woolen Mills Company, the outlook is considered promising. T. W. Clark and his associates have secured an extension of two months on their option on the site and expect at the expiration of that time to be prepared to put in the plant. It will represent $100,000 capital stock, and be first-class in every respect. If Mr. Clark does not establish the plant soon they stand ready to take up the proposition with ample means at their back. The location for securing and woolen mill plants is considered ideal on account of having running water in reasonable abundance for the entire year. Sellwood citizens feel reasonably assured that they will get a woolen mill there yet.

Negotiating for Church Property.

At Milwaukie there is still much agitation over the continued negotiations for the purchase of the Church property of twelve acres on the water front by Isaac Gratton and other Portland men. What they want this property for is what concerns the people. For manufacturing purposes it is considered excellent, as there is power to the amount of 200 horsepower available from the combined water of Johnson and Kellogg creeks, that in pioneer days turned the old-fashioned stone-burns of the old Standard Flour Mills. Recently Mr. Gratton has been seen in Milwaukie frequently in quest of this property, and speculation is rife as to what he proposes to do with it should he purchase it. Also surveys have been at work in the tract this week. Hindes Bros., who own a farm opposite Milwaukie deny that they have leased two acres to Mr. Gratton or to anybody else for a clubhouse. However, they know something about Mr. Gratton's intentions which they decline to discuss. If the Church property be purchased, the purpose of the new owners will be disclosed in time at any rate.

Work to Start on Weyerhaeuser.

Down in St. John's the extension of the O. R. & N. Co.'s spur northward to the site of the Weyerhaeuser Lumber Company's proposed sawmill plant will soon be undertaken. According to intentions of the company filed with the County Clerk the company will extend the spur about three miles, which will take it beyond the Weyerhaeuser property. Surveyors have been running lines on the Weyerhaeuser purchase recently, and it is said that work on the big plant will begin as soon as material can be got on the grounds. Wharves first will have to be constructed. The company architect is now at work on plans for the mill plant. Frederick Weyerhaeuser, head of the great timber syndicate, which bears his name, will visit Portland this week, and personally inspect the land secured for the big plant. He will be accompanied by his son, Charles Weyerhaeuser, and Peter Mueser, of Muscatine, Ia.

Will Build a Roadhouse Hotel.

Across the Willamette from St. John's a Portland syndicate will put up a fine hotel or roadhouse, which will cost about $25,000. Blumauer & Hoch, representing the syndicate, will ask the St. John's Council this evening for the privilege of making a landing at some street, so a ferry can be operated. It is not announced what kind of ferry will be built, but that will probably come out at the meeting of the Council this evening. Owners of the resort will run a launch between it and Portland.

Woodcraft Headquarters.

It is considered probable that the building for headquarters for the Women of Woodcraft will be located on the East Side. William Reid made an offer of a lot in his property in Holladay addition, on Union avenue, near Holladay avenue, which is considered central for the purpose. While discussing the possibility of some of the larger property owners, owning large tracts, giving a building site, Mr. Reid, who is an enthusiastic Woodman, declared he would give a lot from his Holladay addition property, where lots are worth above $2000.

The Mount Tabor Woodmen Hall Association

will let a contract for erection of a fraternal building on West avenue very soon. It will stand on the site of the old Oriental building, and cost about $2000.

Will Go to Adventist Conference.

Elder F. M. Burg, president of the Western Oregon Seventh-Day Adventist Conference, Dr. W. R. Simmons, superintendent of the Portland Sanitarium; Mrs. Simmons and L. S. Davis, secretary of the sanitarium, will leave tomorrow night for Washington, D. C., to attend the biennial sessions of the Seventh-Day Adventist General Conference, which will open in that city May 11 and conclude May 20. The two delegates from Western Oregon to the conference are Elder Burg and Dr. Simmons, and the number of regular delegates is estimated to be 20. Representatives from the schools, sanitariums, etc., of the denomination will increase the membership of the conference to about 50. Officers will be elected for the ensuing term, and it is expected the principal subject to be discussed will be mission work. Delegates will attend from foreign countries. The Portland delegates will go East through Canada, and at Seattle will be joined by Elder E. L. Stewart, and en route by J. L. Wilson, president of the British Columbia Conference, and J. J. Ireland, secretary and auditor of the Pacific Union Conference. The number of Seventh-Day Adventists in Portland and suburbs is about 200.

POLICE KEPT BUSY

Over Six Hundred Arrests During Month of April.

LARGE NUMBER OF SUICIDES

One Murder During the Month and Several Arrests for Forgery and Obtaining Money Under False Pretenses.

Notwithstanding that twenty-three new policemen were added to the Portland police department last month, only 628 arrests were made in April, which is slightly below the average. Fully 90 per cent of the men taken into custody were arrested on the charge of drunkenness. There were four coroner cases for the month of April. Most of them were the result of natural causes. The following are the coroner cases for the month of April:

Mrs. Lena Hemmers, an elderly woman who resided near Orient, burned herself to death by soaking her clothes with kerosene and then lighting it with a match.

An unknown man, supposed to be a logger, was found in the river with his jaw broken, which was thought to have been due from coming in contact with a boat or wharf.

Nora Stone died from the effects of a lighted lamp thrown at her by Blanche Tompkins.

Amos Kerr died suddenly in the Iowa saloon. Later discovered that his death resulted from natural causes.

Samuel W. Marks dropped dead on Third and Salmon streets from heart failure.

William Stuart was drowned by falling from the dock at the foot of Main street into the river.

Alexander Smith was found dead under the American Exchange warehouse. His death was due to heart trouble.

Mabel Bannan, 6-year-old girl, was killed by falling off the Fourth-street bridge.

Dr. Regnar F. Paulin committed suicide by drowning.

Edna Hoffman was murdered by John T. Coleman in the Palm saloon.

James H. Simonson was drowned near the foot of Nineteenth street.

Walter Turner died suddenly from heart disease.

Twins Arrived During the Month

of April at the home of Policemen Foster and Gibson. The twins were born on April 27, 1905, at the home of Policemen Foster and Gibson.

Station Officer Price created quite a stir around the police station by his determined opposition to the proposed change of the different reliefs. Nothing has been done about the proposed change.

Policeman Gibson arrested Policeman Scanlan, one of the new men on the force, on suspicion.

Joe Busby, wanted for assaulting a Chinese. Busby escaped leaving behind his hat, which was taken to the police station by Murphy. Four men also escaped from the rock pile.

FAIR GROUNDS ARE THROGGED

Thousands Pass Through the Turnstiles to View City on the Lake.

STRANGERS IN THE CROWD

Architecturally Portland's Great Exposition Is Almost Complete.
Finishing Touches Now Being Made.

It has become so common to have large crowds on Sunday afternoons at the fair grounds that the ticket sellers at the gate during the early part of yesterday afternoon felt aggrieved and hurt when empty car after empty car came down the switch and the turnstile only clicked occasionally. The people had all gone to the ball game. But after a while the gatekeepers began to do better business and before the day was done had registered several thousand people who had passed within the gate.

The fair, architecturally at least, is as good as done now, and the crowds for several weeks have been only able to see the growth of the Trail and the American Inn. Those living here know what the place looks like now and for the most part are content to stay at home until it is declared an Exposition with all the pomp and ceremony of the occasion.

Strangers Visit Grounds.

Strangers, who seem to become thicker and thicker each day in Portland, made up the bulk of the attendance yesterday. The remarks of commendation have become so common that it is rare to hear a new one. The site, the arrangement, the gardening and the use of natural resources are the ordinary points of appreciation. Yesterday being rather inclined to cloudiness added something, however, which has not been very noticeable before on Sunday afternoons, the time when most people have an opportunity to see. The covering of fresh leaves on the hillsides has now become a dark green and these appeared unusually dark yesterday, adding a somber tone common to the Oregon woodlands. This brought out oddly the contrast between the works of man in his effort to be light-hearted and gay and the works of Nature, which is not so light and frivolous. It was a thing which will not be noticed in the rush of the Exposition, except towards sunset when the crowd has had dinner, and is waiting for the lights to come on and the band concert to begin.

MAY CHANGE THE LOCATION

First United Evangelical Members
Will Build Modern Church.

An investigation is being made as to the advisability of changing the location of the United Evangelical Church, East Tenth and Sherman streets, to a more central point. Rev. A. A. Winters, the new pastor, says that the homes of all the members will be ascertained and their opinions consulted. He says that something will be done. Either a new location will be found and a building will be erected, or the present location will be retained, and a modern church building erected on the corner where the manse stands. It is felt that a new church is needed to meet progressive conditions in Portland. It is not expected that the improvements will be undertaken until in the Fall, at which time all the investigations will be completed.

Take Care

Of Your Heart.

It is the engine that forces
the blood to every part of the body; this blood conveys the nourishment that makes flesh,
bone and muscle; it also carries
off the worn-out particles.

If the heart flutters or palpitates, it is weak, and is working imperfectly, so that the body does not get this nourishment; it also fails to throw off the impurities, and they remain to poison the system.

If it is irregular, skips beats, or is painful, the heart is probably "leaky" and the circulation poor. These conditions are dangerous. You can make your heart well, and keep it so, with Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, which is a heart medicine and tonic that strengthens the heart nerves and muscles.

"I have been a sufferer for years from nervousness and weak heart, and I have tried all the doctors in the community. They all told me that I had heart trouble, and that I must take medicine. My druggist prevailed upon me to try Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and I took it for a week. The first bottle did not benefit me, but the second bottle did. I feel better now, and I am sure that I will be cured. I will return your money, every day, if I do not feel better. I feel better now, and I am sure that I will be cured. I will return your money, every day, if I do not feel better."

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.
